Work for a Heavy Majority.

We wish to impress upon our friends the very great importance, not only of electing our ticket, but of giving it a heavy majority. It will not do to suffer men who are not only doing all in their power to aid the rebels in arms against the government, but who resort to the most stupendous frauds ever heard of, to accomplish their purposes, to retain a heavy minority at their back. These frauds have revealed to us the fact that we have enemies here, in the North more subtle, more unscrupulous, more infamously vile, and more dangerous, than are the traitors who have armed the South against us. The Copperhead party must be utterly crushed out, as well as the rebellion, before the country can hope to enjoy permanent peace.

Let us give them an overwhelming defeat, and then down go Slavery, Rebellion and Copperheadism all together. The last is the sin in store of the two first; and so long as it has any chance to compete with the loyal party for the rule of the North, either by fair or foul means, so long will the two first struggle for their life.

It was a false and bogus democracy that fostered slavery, until it became the ruling power in the government; and when an aroused people at length threw off the baleful yoke, it was the same traitorous party that encouraged the slaveholders to rush into secession, rebellion and war. It was this party that gave BUCHANAN a cabinet of traitors, who disarmed the government and left it bankrupt, and as they thought, an easy prey to their treacherous plots. But, thanks be to God, who poured such a flood of patriotic fire into the hearts of our people in 1861, that the bold traitors who had taken up arms were forced to stand on the defensive, whilst the cowardly traitors, against whom we are now warring at the ballot box, were awed into silence. But now when they suppose the country to be weary of war, they crawl, like serpents, from their hiding place, and hiss and sting to the utmost of their power. Stealing the livery of heaven to serve the devil in, they carry on their war in the much abused name of democracy, and through the magic force of that favorite old party name, they get that sands of honest but deluded men to aid them in their traitorous work. That party name was a synonym of freedom and patriotism, until slavery threw its snakey folds around it and utterly debauched it. It then became the slave of slavery. All the prominent men now in rebellion were lead ng democrats, while all of the leaders of the party in the north were but the subservient tools of these same slaveholding leaders, FOR example BUCHANAN, TOUCEY and Judge BLACK. So closely has that party become identified with slavery, that the destruction of the one is the destruction of the other. But while the party bearing that name is sure to perish, the principle of democracy is just as sure to survive and be rejuvenated. That cannot perish. In fact, it is the principle of democracy that is at this moment struggling with that other hell-born thing that still flaunts its desecrated banner.

Up, then, freemen, with your votes, and rescue Union, Liberty, and true Democracy from the grip of open and covert traitors; and let your majority be so decided, so overwhelming, that the glorious work need not be done again. Never was the power of the ballot so great, so grand, so glorious as now. Only give us plenty of ballots, and it will require but a few more bullets to finish the work.

Look out for Forged Proxies.

The persistent efforts at fraud and forgery of Gov. SEYMOUR'S penitentiary birds, should put us on our guard against attempts that may be made, here, to vote forged proxies. The Copperheads are not too good to do it. Watch them. They have been mighty sly at some game, for a good while past, in this region, and we caution our friends to beware of the attempt that is sure to be made to vote forged proxies.

Under the Pennsylvania law, no soldier can vote by proxy except those who are isolated and unable to reach a poll in the field. The number of these is very small, and if any effort is made to vote any considerable number of proxies, it will be proof positive of fraud.

Keep a sharp look-out for the Copperheads. Fraud of any kind comes perfectly easy to them, now.

Vallandigham's Plank.

Vallandigham has actually published a letter in which he says, "I, Mr. VALLANDIGHAM, wrote the second, the material, resolution of the Chicago platform."

This is the resolution which demands an "immediate cessation of hostilities; and the acknowledgment that he wrote it, shows that the Peace men had their own way in making the Chicago platform.

All who vote for McCLELLAN for this demand of VALLANDIGHAM'S for "an immediate cessation of hostilities," and all who vote for PENDLETON, vote for the unconditional "recognition" of the slaveholders' "Confederacy." Men of the North! are you ready for this humiliation and dishonor?

Don't Let Them Go.

We hear of Union men who talk of leaving home on business, to be away at the Presidential election. Don't do it. Stay at home and attend to the paramount duty of voting. And if any one you know talks of leaving, don't let him go. It is a shame that any one should think of turning his back on his country when her very existence is at stake.

Send for Them.

Do you know of any absent friend, who is likely to stay away from home on the day of election? Send for him at once. Let no vote be lost through negligence or inattention to this matter. Every man's place, at this election, is at the polls. The only excuse we can see for any one who owes this country should override every other consideration.

The New York Frauds Sustained.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, PENDLETON'S organ, openly justifies the glaring frauds attempted upon the New York soldiers. It says:

It is easy to see how men embarking in such an enterprise might, without being worse casuists than party men generally, find grounds upon which to excuse themselves. They may have seen—what it is not at all difficult to see—that the ballot in the army, so far from being a free expression of the views of the soldiers is a farce: that the soldier, while he is nominally at liberty to vote as he pleases, is in fact under a durance which, if not absolute, is such as none but those gifted with an extraordinary degree of moral courage, will venture to disregard. Believing that the votes given upon one side would, under circumstances of greater freedom, have been given upon the other, they may have thought that to rectify the wrong was, to say the least, no worse an offense than to commit it. In its worst aspect, it is only balancing one fraud by another.

The pretence that the New York soldiers voted under duress is ridiculous. No one has intercfered with them in the least, except the forgers employed by Gov. SEYMOUR to defraud them. And the attempt to justify the fraud upon the ground that the forgers chose to regard the vote of the soldiers as given under duress, is as atrocious as the fraud itself.

The Democrats throughout the country have been building high hopes upon the success of this fraud. They knew of it long ago, and they built their confidence on it, and bet largely under the guilty knowledge of it. Now that it has been exposed, they very naturally pimp into justifying that of which they were all the while secretly aware, and by which they had hoped to win. They had determined to succeed by the fraud; hence why not defend it, when exposed?

Alabama Shaking.

The Governor of Alabama, in a message urged the Legislature to call out the militia of the State. This the Legislature refused to do; but busied themselves in discussing what the Mobile Advertiser calls, "Propositions for submitting to the Yankees." Mr. Parsons introduced a set of resolutions which that paper denounces as "mischievous." The Governor sent a second message, urging the call of the militia. A motion was made to return it to him in a black envelope, which would have carried, but for the want of a quorum.

Sherman having very nearly cut Alabama off from the body of the Confederacy, these legislators see plainly that its cause is hopeless, and wisely refuse to sacrifice any more lives upon the altar of slavery and Independence.

A few more blows will do the work for Alabama which, in 1861, was one of the most virulent of secession States.

A FRENCH proverb has it, "If a people make themselves sheep, they will be sure to have wolves enough to eat them." If our people choose to make sheep of themselves tomorrow week, by voting the Northern "cessation" ticket, they need not be surprised to find themselves eaten up by the Southern secession wolves.

ONLY SIX DAYS remain for work. They must be six days of hard work. Every district must look to its own canvass, and call out every man who will give a Union vote. Absent citizens should be urged to be at home on the 8th of November. Imposition must be guarded against, and nothing left undone that will help to swell the Union majority for LINCOLN and JOHNSON.

More Frauds.

The Copperheads, despairing of voting the several dry goods boxes of soldiers' ballots prepared by Seymour's gang of forgers, have resolved to Colonize New York City from abroad. The Tribune says:

We have letters from different portions of the Mining region of Pennsylvania, giving notice of an extensive and evidently preconcerted emigration of aliens to this city, to which their passages are paid by wholesale. We entreat the Unionists of this and the sister city to use every possible effort to keep the names of these invaders off the Registry lists, and their votes out of the ballot boxes.

The Northern Secession Conspiracy

The Indianapolis Sentinel announces that Mr. Bingham has been discharged from arrest, and will resume his editorial duties. Mr. Bingham has testified to the existence of a Democratic conspiracy to precipitate the State of Indiana into revolution against the Government and State authorities, and to plunge it and the adjoining States at once into a sea of bloodshed. Now he goes back to edit the journal in which he has continually denied the existence of this secret order, and has denounced all the measures of the authorities to prevent its designs as unconstitutional interference with the liberties of the people. He has testified that the arms procured for this conspiracy were for rebellion and assassination, and the day was determined upon when these atrocities were to begin. He now resumes his editorial duties in the journal in which he denounced the seizure of these arms as an outrage upon the constitutional right of the people to bear arms, and denied that they were for any illegal purpose.

Yet we suppose that among Democrats this will not be thought as at all impeaching his character as a Democratic editor, or his patriotism, or his Democratic honor. It is an illustration of the utter demoralization of the Democratic party. It destroys patriotism, honor and truth, and subordinates every crime to the cause of party. The Sentinel now sets up the pretense that Mr. Bingham's evidence has exonerated him and the leaders of the Democratic party from this plot. But Mr. Bingham, with a full knowledge of this atrocious design, denied its existence. So did the rest of the leaders of the Democratic party. Can they be so easily exonerated from a conspiracy which they tried to conceal from the Government, whose measures to protect the public peace against this bloody purpose they assailed as tyranny which justified revolution. And as to the leaders of the Democratic party, who are any more leaders than the principal officers of this secret order? The chief was the standard bearer of the Democratic party in Ohio, and in his speeches he justifies such a revolution as this order conspired. And there is no one more a leader in Indiana than Mr. Voorhees, whose connection with the order is well established.

Mr. Bingham should have buried against the appointed outbreak. But was it because they were opposed to the use of such means, or thought the time had not yet come, and feared failure? Mr. Bingham shows that he had no stomach for desperate enterprise, but we find him writing anxiously to Mr. Voorhees, inquiring whether he thought the Confederates would be able to resist the advance of our Western Army. And their ability to do this was the main condition of precipitating this conspiracy. He thought Mr. Voorhees must have means of information on this point, and he appears desirous of showing an interest in affairs which have so intimate a connection with Confederate military success.

The leaders in this atrocious plot are the leaders of the Democratic party. None of them can deny being implicated in it by the guilty knowledge of its purposes, and by trying to cover them up, and to prejudice any government measures of prevention. So in their public speeches they have tried to prepare the public mind for such a revolution by doctrines which justified it, and by instigating violence against the Government. Their implication thus established, their opposition appears to have only been on the question of time and the probability of success. The Sentinel calls it "the Catiline revolution contemplated by a few men." The order cannot be called a few in number, nor will anybody now pretend that it was organized for any peaceful purpose. It is a wide spread organization, which controls the Democratic party. In the disclosure of its designs we have a revelation of the nature and purposes of the leaders of the Democratic party. We can see through what slaughter they would wade to give success to the Democratic secession; and we can realize how vital it is to the safety of our homes, as well as to the peace and preservation of the nation, that this party should be put down by overwhelming numbers.

Questions for Loyal Democrats—By Hon. Robert J. Walker.

What are we to negotiate about? Is it as to the giving up of the Mississippi and its tributaries, together with New Orleans, Vicksburg and Tennessee. Is West Virginia, which has been admitted as a new free State, to be surrendered? Are Fortress Monroe and the Chesapeake to be abandoned? Is the rebel flag to float at Alexandria, and on the heights of Arlington; and are rebel cannon to be planted there in sight of and to command the very capital of the Union. Are we to insult loyal Kentucky, Missouri, Maryland and Delaware by negotiating about them? Are we to give back Western to Eastern Virginia? Where in the line of division to be run, and what armies would be strong enough to maintain peace upon the border? What portion of the mighty Territories uniting us with the Pacific are to be surrendered. Are we to turn over to the cruel despotism of their bloody and relentless masters, the millions of loyal people of the South, to whom we have given the most sacred pledge of the protection of the Union? And, last of all, are the two millions of slaves, as Jefferson Davis complains, who have been emancipated by the constitutional war proclamation of President Lincoln, are they to be remanded to slavery, including the thousands who have so gallantly fought in our defense.

THE REPORTED DRAFT A FICTION.—It has been widely reported that there is to be another draft immediately after the election. This story is false. It was invented, of course, for electioneering purposes by the party, which just now makes it its principal business to let the people know a great deal about the horrors of war and the beauties of peace. This party has spread the fiction industriously, in the hope to frighten a man here and there, and thus to influence a vote against Mr Lincoln, who is understood to be the father of all the drafts—though, we believe, there is no doubt that the man who first urged the enforcement of the draft was General McClellan.—N. Y. Herald, Oct. 28th.

WHAT loyal American has yet forgotten to honor the memory of the lion-hearted Phil. Kearney? Of McClellan's retreat from Malvern Hill, this is what General Kearney said: "I, Phil. Kearney, an old soldier, enter my solemn protest against this order for retreat. We ought, instead of retreating, to follow up the enemy and take Richmond. And in full view of the responsibility of such a declaration, I say to you all, such an order can only be prompted by cowardice or treason."
