Resolved, That it is neither good policy nor compatible with the dignity of our government to request a constation of nestitities, nor to affer terms of settlement, until the rebels shall have terms of settlement, until the rebels shall have corpressed adesire, (which they have hitherto invariably and in the most insulting isageage disclaimed) to return to the Union; but if such a desire beproperly expressed, with guarantees of good latth, that the greatest liberality, but to wards their persons and property should be extended to them, allowance being made for delugious and deceptions that have been practiced upon them. sions and decoptions that have been practiced upon them.

Resolved, That while we admit occasional acts of weakness in the Administration, we accept the consequent duty of supporting and average of the fact without regard to the party affoilies of the lucement, and utterly repudia the consequent duty of supporting and susengtioning it, without regard to the party afficialists of the lucument, and utterly repudit trug the doctrine of secssion, we favor the employment of the Union, with its obligations unstread and its integrity unimpaired.

Recolved, That bolisving war in defence of our laws and liberties to be eminently just, we have no reason for suppending it, till its object shall have been accomplished, knowing that more delay strengthens the rabels, by enabling them to enforce their conscription, to complete their fortifications, and replenish their armories, and we consider that all legitimate means of honorable warfars may be employed in its aid.

Recolved, That as no nation has ever been able to endere war, approaching its magnitude the conflict that desolates our country, without function of the conflict that desolates our country, without functional precaure, we recognise and submit to necessity, being convinced that the boundless resources of a rectored Union, will be amply sufficient to meet our liabilities, and that the salvation of our country is well worth its cast. We therefore argo our fellow democrats to surtain the governments at the site is and to support in the occuming election, the candidates that express their views.
