ESTABLISHED IN 1753

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

Reading Matter from the Evening Gazette.

The present condition of the country is a sad one, and it is a pity that the people are so ignorant of their own history and the principles of government. The people should be better informed of the principles of government and the rights of the citizen. The people should be better informed of the principles of government and the rights of the citizen. The people should be better informed of the principles of government and the rights of the citizen.
