RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE. The recent appropriations to Roman Catholic Institutions by the Common Council of New York, has raised the indignation of the press, secular and religious, of that ept those in the interest of that The Times thus sums up the recent ations to Romanish Institutions for the College of St. Francis $20,000 to the St. Joseph's Asy-$15,000 to the Society for Destitute he Children; $2,000 to the Industria ol of a 'Sister Theresa'; and $3,000 or ssing a copy of their own resolutions

m the death of Archbishop Hughes. content with spending the sum named. en this prelate died, they have since apropriated several thousands of dollars to chase the portrait of the late John Hughes, who styled himself the Archbishop of the Province of New York. A leading New York religious journal, referring to this matter, in an editorial on "Romanism and Rebellion," asks: "Did they vote resolutions of respect and con dolence when Bishop Wainright died, as they did when John Hughes left the world? d they lower the fing to half-must on the City Hall when Dr. Bethune, or Dr. Potts, or Dr. Bangs went to his grave? Do they vote money by tens of thousands for any institution of learning or charity, unless it We ask the people of New York one plain question: Is Romanism the established relivion of this commercial metropolis of the country ?" The article closes with the hope that Romanism will soon so intovicute itself with the power which it has gained in New York, as to forget all prudence and fully reyeal itself to the American eyes. And then comes its doom. As the friend and greatest supporter of slavery, and abettor of rebellion. and the tyrant of men's minds, it will be indignantly hurled headlong from political power. The latest demonstration of the unspeakable effrontery of Romanism is still to be mentioned: "A petition is presented to Congress by the Nuns of the Roman Catholic Church asking that the duty may be remitted for the goods imported to make their dresses, on the ground that they devote their time to religious purposes only. The petition was referred by the Senate to ttee on Finance. A correspondent, referring to the petition, makes the following fling: "Now the 'Sisters of Charity' are the best thing in all the Romish system in America; but it is just as the bait is the best thing about a hook and line to catch gudgeons." The dear people of Gotham are getting thoroughly roused, and we look for good results from the ventilation of this ter. The action of the Common Coun cil is wrong in itself, whether Catholics o Protestants are benefitted, and we shall no be surprised if the power is not taken out o. their hands before long, as it should be. The Rev. Dr. Shephard, of Bristol. R. L, sends his 99th annual letter, in printed form to his flock. After referring to various matters, he says during a period of one hundred and eighty-one years, this Ecclesiastical Society has enjoyed the privilege of assembling weekly, for the worship of God, in its own sanctuary. The first, erected in 1084, was occupied one hundred years. The second erected in 1784 continued in use seventy-two years. The third, dedicated November, 1856, has been occupied a little more than eight years.

The case of Michael Jacob, ludieted for the The case of Michael Jacob, ludicted for the larceny of a trunk from the dwelling of Michael Hill, in Reserve township, and also with setting fire to the house, was called up. I The defendant had been in the habit of visiting; a girl at the house of Mr. Hill, but had been forbidden to come about the premises. One evening, while Mr. Hill and his wife were about in the city, the house was robbed of a trunk, and when they returned they found that an attempt had been made to burn their dwelling by setting fire to abed. Jacobs was subsequently arrested, and when being charged with the offense stated to the officer that "the trunk could be found if search was made for it, but that there was nothing in it." The trunk, however, was not found. The evidence was mainly circumstantial, the principal point being the discovery of some matches, then up in a peculiar wap. Jacobe having been seen with matches similarly tied up. It was also proved that the defendant had been seen hear the house of the prosecutor, on the evening of the occurrence, and had made threats to damage his property. The case it still out trial.

In every business or procession, indeed in everdepartment of science or skill, there is always some seknowledged head-some one who stands out in bold relief among his fellows, as a sort of leader.
In the study and treatment of Designess and Catarrh, as special diseases, Dr. E. B. IAGHTHILL, of this city, occupies just the position shove deteribed. He has devoted years of labor to this spociality, and is now reapling the reward of his industry. The cultorial columns of the Tribute, of a recent date, bear witness to the Boctor's success in
