through mails, though it has been in operation for several months, does not seem to be yet fully understood or appreciated by the public. Whether this is owing to the supposed security of the registration system heretofore adopted, when valuable letters were placed in mails, or to the Valuable letters were placed in mails, or to the want of proper information in reference to the postal money order system is difficult to tell. It is generally known that by the registration of a valuable letter the Department, in no way, be-comes responsible for the contents, or even its detertion, yet that method is still re-sorted to, to a great extent. The only object in registering a letter is to obtain the certificate of the Fostmaster that he letter was sent, but still the sender is responsible for the safe arrival of the letter at its destination. The differences in relating to the money order system specify "that the mency order system is intended to pro-mote public convenience and to have a consist in leaving out of the order the name of the payee, or parity for whom the money is intended. In this senect a draw, is transmitted by the issuing jointmaster, the payement at the office of pisturent.
