THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1865.

THE 22d OF FEBRUARY.

Yesterday was not generally observed as a holiday in this city, there having been no general agreement so to observe it. But we know of no previous anniversary of WASHINGTON's Birthday in which the people felt in such a holiday spirit; and if the movement for the suspension of business had been begun early enough, there would have been sufficient hilarity and uproariousness to make it equal to the Fourth of July.

There never was a time since the war commenced in which the people felt so joyous as they do now. The manifold successes of SHERMAN, the capture of Charleston; the utter humiliation of South Carolina, the old flag flying from Fort Sumter, and the capture of Wilmington, together with the manifest approach of the end of the war, all combined to render yesterday a true holiday, and to inspire every one with the wish for a chance to throw up his hat and huzza.

THE STORAGE OF PETROLEUM.

Philadelphia, under the terror inspired by the recent dreadful calamity in that city, has asked for the passage of a law confining the storage and refining of Petroleum to a small portion of that city, the reserved portion being on the Schuylkill river, but little improved and sparsely occupied.

A similar bill, it is understood, will be introduced, or asked for, relative to this city. As there are but few unoccupied spots within the bounds of the city proper, such a bill would practically exclude Petroleum from the city. Are the people prepared for this? We think not.

But if not, our representatives should be at once apprised of their wishes. We are not sufficiently acquainted with the public sentiment on this question, to give expression to it, and therefore merely indicate the fact that if those interested wish for some legislation or wish to prevent it, they should take an early opportunity, either individually or collectively, to make our representatives acquainted with their views.

THE RIVER BED BILL.

The votes of three of our representatives in favor of discharging the Committee of Ways and Means from the further consideration of the bill to (practically) give away the bed of the Allegheny river to some oil speculators, was so generally regarded, at the time, as a vote in aid of the bill, although not directly in its favor, that we felt it our duty to warn those gentlemen against any vote capable of being construed in that way. We had not the least idea that they had any bad motive in voting as they did; but we felt that they were placing themselves in a false position, and that they could not too soon retire from it.

It is a remarkable fact that when this swindle was first broached the entire press of the State laughed at it as ridiculous; but now that it has grown into a serious fact, scarcely one of the papers that ridiculed it has a word to say against it. True, but few of them out of Philadelphia have the hardihood to approve it; but silence, while such gigantic swindling is going on, is regarded by its friends as equivalent to approval.

We did not need the assurances that we have since received, that each of our members thought he was serving the State in giving that vote. Their impression was that the Committee to, which it had been referred would report it in the shape desired by its friends, and that if the bill could be brought promptly before the House it could be so amended as in some measure to protect the interests of the State. Notwithstanding this view, they refused to discharge the Committee from its further consideration. We think they were mistaken in this view; but that does not change the fact that their purpose in so voting was a good one. On all test questions the vote of the Allegheny delegation has been cast solid against the bill; and our members are entitled to the fullest credit for thus faithfully representing the will of their constituents.

THE RESOLUTIONS OF MR. WILLIAMS.

We looked anxiously, at the time, for a full copy of the resolutions introduced by Mr. WILLIAMS into Congress, of which the telegraph gave us so unsatisfactory a synopsis, but the Washington City papers contained only the merest outline of them, and we have not been able, until now, to lay hands upon the resolutions in full. We give them, below, and ask for them a careful perusal. The House tabled them at the time; but many members were absent, and we are confident, that on a full vote, they would now pass:

Resolved, 1. That there is no power under the Constitution in any branch of the Government to treat with the States confederated in rebellion against it, either for the severance of the Union, or for the abrogation of any article of its fundamental law.

Resolved, 2. That inasmuch as the said Confederated States have taken up arms against the Government of the United States, without any just provocation, and for the avowed purpose of asserting and establishing their independence thereof, and still persist in maintaining that position by armed resistance to its authority; and inasmuch also, as the public authorities of this nation have not only declared, as was their duty, that they can accept no terms, and entertain no propositions for anything short of an absolute and unconditional submission to its laws, and with a clemency and magnanimity almost without example in history, have proclaimed a general amnesty, without limits as to time, to such of the malefactors as shall return to their duty, with the exception of the chief conspirators——

It is hereby declared to be the sense of this House, that this Government has already exhausted all the resources of a just and wise statesmanship—except so far as regards the further earnest and vigorous prosecution of the war for the enforcement of the laws—in the effort to restore peace to this nation, and has, to this end, done all that a proper regard for its own interests can allow, and all that a decent respect for the opinions of the world could demand of it; and that therefore any further overtures embassies public or private, official or unofficial, looking to treaty or compromise with the usurpers at Richmond, would be not only unprofitable, as they would be inconsistent with the rights and dignity of this nation, but are to be deprecated as absolutely mischievous, in giving encouragement to the insurgents, and protracting their resistance by exposing us to misconstruction and giving color to the delusion that we mistrust our ability to subdue them to obedience, and are ready to accept something short of the restoration of the Union, and the unconditional submission of those who have rebelled against it.

The Enlistment Frauds in New York.

The prisoners arrested by Col. Baker, in New York, on charges of being concerned in the presentation of forged enlistments to the army and naval rendezvous, are to be immediately tried by a commission of which the Hon. L. E. Chittenden, late of the Treasury Department, has been appointed Judge Advocate. The principal case brought before Col. Baker and Mr. Chittenden, on Saturday, was of a remarkable character, and exhibits the irrepressibility of swindlers in that city. Two men were arrested charged with representing themselves as United States detectives, and defrauding a stage driver of one hundred dollars. These bogus officers entered Harris' stage and having arrested him on an assumed charge of desertion, which has proved to be false, proceeded with him to his house, where they agreed to let him off for one hundred dollars. Harris, who made the arrangement with them to give the sum at a house in Center street, at once informed Col. Baker of the facts, and two of the Colonel's officers concealed themselves in the house, and having seen the swindlers receive the amount arrested them. They were sent to Fort Lafayette in irons.

The Allegheny Valley Railroad.

To the Editor of the Daily Pittsburg Gazette:

A desire to stimulate public inquiry and attention to the extraordinary and anomalous position assumed by the Board of Directors of the Allegheny Valley R. R. Co. in the proceedings which transpired on a called and adjourned meeting of the stockholders of said company a few weeks since will, I trust, prove a sufficient warrant for this intrusion upon your columns—inasmuch as only a two line item in the smallest type of the money column was all the notice given to a transaction which quietly disposed of a property which has cost this community some two millions of money, and which now, in the shape of taxation, comes home to every hearth-stone in the country.

The gentlemen who compose this board of management are numbered among our most enterprising, philanthropic and public-spirited fellow citizens, and, as such, should not occupy the equivocal position educed by such action as will at least leave them open to the grave charge of a perversion of the trust reposed in them, and for which they will hereafter be held answerable by this community. It will, perhaps, be attempted to palliate this responsibility, upon the plea of the sanction of the majority of votes, &c. We assume, however, that this board is not of, and does not represent, the stockholders (or those whose money built the road) but on the contrary only a ring (in common parlance) or clique of speculators, who have purchased a controling amount of the stock at Marshall's and other execution sales, and as merely nominal prices, sufficient, however, to vote in or to dictate to the board of management, and is largely owned by a single manufacturing concern in this city, and who has, we are assured, furnished the stock necessary to constitute the eligibility of at least three of the board of management—one, a member of the House itself also furnishing in the person of one of its employees the material for one of the parties of the second part, with other gentlemen who now do or have occupied positions in both the Allegheny valley and French creek boards, the latter company with a paid in capital of eight hundred dollars ($800) to be the lessee of a road which cost, some two millions; thus seeking to dispose of forever the rights and interest of a full paid minority to a concern which has everything to make and nothing to lose in the premises, under the subterfuge of a nine hundred and ninety-nine year lease—the quid pro quo being ostensibly thirty-five per cent. of the earnings of the road. We need not go far to point to the practical operation of a similar scheme, where lessees are now trying the force and effect of a foreclosure to get rid of annoying per cents, primarily necessary to obtain possession of a coveted price. Now we ask, should this principle obtain, that, no stockholder is safe in his property where a majority may effectually dispose for ever the rights and privileges of ever so small a minority in any corporation. Is railroad stock not subject to the same laws as other property (for are railroad companies and railmen without the pale of legal restraint?

The fear of trespassing too much upon your space, prevents, at this time, a fuller exposition of the business and proceedings of the road which, with your assent, we may refer to hereafter.

A PROTESTANT.

San Domingo.

The people of San Domingo, according to our last advices, had not learned that the Spanish Government admit their inability to continue the war, and that they have, therefore, concluded to withdraw their troops from the island. But the fortune of war was more and more turning in favor of the Dominicans. The Spaniards were completely defeated by them on the 4th of December. Spanish soldiers dying of hunger and thirst make their appearance daily in the Dominican army. Several towns were abandoned by the Spaniards, and immediately occupied by the National forces.

The President of Hayti having offered himself as mediator between the contending parties, the Dominicans decided upon only two articles, a general exchange of prisoners of war and State, and the sending of a commission to Madrid to ask the peace, liberty and independence of the Republic.

Nothing could prove more conclusively the unshaken confidence of the Dominicans in the triumph of their cause, than these peace propositions. They refuse to listen to anything short of the recognition of their independence, and undoubtedly prepare themselves to continue single-handed the struggle against one of the great nations of Europe.

We deeply sympathize with the wrongs which have been inflicted by European monarchs upon the republics of Mexico and Peru. But we cannot but think that if they had exhibited an equal devotion to republican institutions and their independence as San Domingo, they would not have been so profoundly humiliated as they have been. And it is well to remember that these gallant defenders of American institutions against European encroachments are negroes.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE LATEST FROM SHERMAN.—His way at Winnsboro, thirty miles north of the Capital of South Carolina, is marked in history as the point from which the Earl Cornwallis started January 1, 1781, on his campaign through North Carolina and into Virginia. It is on the high and dry land of South Carolina, and in the midst of that part of the State which is most productive of food, and owing to the course of the rivers, communications are easily maintained between that town and Charleston. At least that was the experience of Cornwallis. —Cincinnati Commercial.

TWO REGIMENTS A WEEK.—Gen. Blunt, supervisor and chairman, paymaster of monthly to new recruits, is turning out from the headquarters of the committee about two regiments every week. This is good work, and if the same rate is continued, five or six weeks more will finish our quota. There certainly is magic in greenbacks yet. Paul Cornell Blunt appears to know exactly how to make them tell best in volunteering. Keep up the supply; bring in the men; fill the quota and be done with Fry's calculations.—N. Y. Herald.

THE DRAFT.—It is stated that Secretary Stanton has officially notified the members of Congress from Illinois who called upon him in reference to the draft, that the call was for three hundred thousand new men, and not years of service, and hence that no present credit would be allowed for three years' recruits over one year's recruits. Claims for credits for the longer term would, he said, be allowed next year, in case of another draft.

REBEL DESERTERS.—A squad of 146 rebel deserters arrived here yesterday from City Point, including one officer—Lieut. W. H. Niles, of the 7th Georgia regiment. Owing to the large number of deserters now coming into our lines, the Provost Marshal at City Point is unable to administer the oath to them, and consequently the only mode is for performed by Captain Russell, at Col. Ingraham's office, in this city.—Wash. Star.

A COUNTRY newspaper says that the King of Denmark has been making a tour of his dominions, and was "feted" wherever he went. The question naturally arises if this is what Shakspeare meant when he said there was something rotten in the state of Denmark."

LONDON was visited three weeks ago with one of the densest fogs ever known. At seven o'clock in the evening, it was impossible to see the street lights, and the roads were so slippery that locomotion almost ceased.

THE news of the success of the one-legged dancer, Donato, has reached the Invalides, and the poor maimed French soldiers dream day and night of discovering by what amount of practice they can gain 100,000 francs a year.

A RICHMOND editor demands that the line be drawn. The time may come when he won't want it drawn.

7-30 LOAN.

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three tenths per cent. interest, per annum, known as the

SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date of August 15th, 1864, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six Per Cent GOLD BEARING BONDS,

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent., including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan, at current rates, including interest, about ten per cent. per annum, besides its exemption from State and municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. more, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

Less than $200,000,000 remain unsold, which will probably be disposed of within the next 60 or 90 days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that the citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

PROSPECTUS OF THE

Pacific Refining Company,

OF PITTSBURGH, PA.

Capital Stock, - - $100,000.

22,000 SHARES, $5 EACH.

Subscribers Not Personally Liable.

It is proposed by the subscribers to this to form a Company under the Mining and Manufacturing Laws of Pennsylvania, with a Capital of $110,000, for the purpose of buying Crude Petroleum at the wells, or at Pittsburgh, Refining and Selling same.

For this purpose, the property proposed to be bought is the Refinery called the Pacific Oil Works, in Pitt Township, Pa., which has been run successfully for the past two years by Messrs. Brewer, Burke & Co., of this city.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY:

The Pacific Oil Works is situated on the Allegheny River and Allegheny Valley Railroad, in Pitt Township. The buildings are built entirely of brick and constructed in a thorough and workmanlike manner. They have been rebuilt within the past twelve months, and everything is in perfect repair. A substantial brick warehouse is connected with the Refinery, with a deep cellar capable of storing over 2,000 barrels of Refined Oil. Wooden Tanks under ground, holding nearly 9,000 barrels:

SEVEN STILLS,

Capacity: 600 Barrels Refined Oil Per Week,

(IN ROUND NUMBERS.)

A Worthington Steam Pump in the Refinery; also for pumping Crude Oil in bulk; ample Agitators and Settling Pans. To guard against fire, blank brick walls separate the different departments.

All the machinery is new, and with the storage capacity both for Crude and Refined Oil, the favorable locality—having the river and railroad at command—this may be ranked as one of the most perfect Oil Refineries in the world.

The present owners will convey this property, including the Refinery, with land in fee simple, (230 feet on Butler street, by 120 to Pine Alley, to the Company for the sum of $40,000.

A correct plan of the property accompanies each book of subscription.

The success which has attended the prosecution of this branch of the Oil Trade has not escaped the notice of all observing minds, and it is deemed superfluous to urge any argument that would go to prove how a company by laying in a large stock of Crude Oil when it is low, refining it and holding the Refined until the price is profitably remunerative, can pay a dividend annually of 40 to 50 per cent. It should be observed that the company, after paying for their property, will have a cash working fund of $60,000. This can easily be turned over three times each year, and it is believed that with good management the Company will be able to declare annually a dividend of 10 per cent., and that there is no better or safer investment for capital than in the stock of this Company. Oil profits, Bank, Insurance, Railroad, and even Gold Mining Stocks, are left far behind, and the risk is no greater.

Mr. Richard Sill, a gentleman of long experience, both as a refiner and dealer in Oil, will superintend and superintend the business of the Company personally.

Attached is a certificate from Mr. A. T. Schmidt, showing the value of the Refinery as near as it can be estimated by one of the most experienced and successful of Refiners:

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8th, 1865.

By request, I have inspected the Refinery of the PACIFIC OIL WORKS. I consider it worth at least ($50,000) Fifty Thousand Dollars. With the present high price of materials, it would probably cost a much larger sum to construct a Refinery in all respects as perfect as this one. AUGUSTUS T. SCHMIDT,
Superintendent of the Ardesco Oil Works.

The above Certificate is given to satisfy persons who may invest in the stock of this Company, that all who subscribe are on an equal footing, and also to prove that the value is really in the property.
