aged it considerably." No one was is inceed. This full announcement, in another column, of the situation and prospects of the Naw York Petroleum Company, of which the Hon. Daniel S. Dickinsen is President, sufficiently shows how firmly it has already established its prosperity. There is something peculiarly business liks and anti-factory in its plan of making its whole cap-tial working-capital. This feature provides am-ple means for vigorous operations and provents ine danger of keeping too much of subscriptions dead in the hands of a few parties. The advan-ange offered by this company are at least un-surpressed by any of those now in the field of in-vestment.
