The concurrent testimony of all deserters and refugees to day from Ord's right, north of the James, to Meade's extreme left beyond fistcher's. Ean, south of Petersburg, is that he surprised sand exocuntered the rebell troops under Early and Waynesboro, nekrly midway between Stammon and Charlotteville, utterly routing and capturing the estire force, and securing among the prisoners the doughty General communding.

It is admitted by the stebels, secording to the sitories of deserters, to have been the most overwhelming affair of the war, in proportion to the numbers engaged. Very few details have been obtained bearing a stamp of reliability, but the whole region is represented, as being unprepared for his wadden advent; and as faeden in govery directions. The accounts agree so well is pared for his sudden advent; and as deeling in every direction. The accounts agree so well in every patients; and are in such perfect assected and known, that we are confidently believe that Early and his army are indeed captured.

Secouls report Sheridan is Staunton on Thursday. The capture of Early occurred the next day. By Saturday Gen. Sheridan would be in conflicted to push forward to Lynchurg.

The Tribune's Warhington special says it is reported from Hancock's Headquarters at Winchester, that Sheridan has Early's command but that Early is not captured.

Social Equality,

Mr. Tilton, in his splendid speech on Sunday evening in the Monee of Representatives, made some admirable criticians upon the confusion of ideas which prevails in regard to political and social equality. He showed that the two things are wholly different in nature and character; that political equality is a matter of taste and affinity. Fifth areans and the Frye Points are politically equal, but in a social point of view they are as far removed from each other as the Poles, One is at the top, the other at the bottom of the scale. Political equality simply, implies that all men are equal before the law and are subject to the same-standard of eternal equity and justice. It implies that act man, each being, is entitled to the fruits of the or her later, whother these fruits be great or small; and that above can rightfully be arcluded from privileges which the law accords to others. Governments are ordained for the general good, and the law sannot confer peculiar privileges upon our lan classes without installed to the charm members of sucjety.

Terrible Snow Storms in Scotland. ing from Bauffshire save : frost. Trade of all kinds is suffering a depression more or less, and the prosecution of outdoor works is entirely out of the question. Door and all sorts of game continue to suffer, after all the extreme care and asterfainess by which they are tended by the gamekeepers of the respective forests. The deer, especially after receiving even more care and attention than a provident farmer bestows upon: his stock, are daily getting more and more reduced and emaclated, although large quantities of hay and other provender are laid out at every place in the fortest for their maintenance. A powerful stay, the other day, took possession of a bundle of hay, none of his weaker and starving brethren daring to approach him while the food lasted. Haros, rabbits, crows, and other vermin are everywhere actually starving, and the result of a few weeks' continuance of this dreadful weather would be awful to contemplate."
