The lease of this establishman's Hall." The lease of this establishment expired on the let of April, and the large room over the hashing house had been rented by Mr. J. McMillin, job printer, Mr. McMillin, Lowever, did not commence to move in util to-day, while Mackey had delivered over the keys on Saturday. The room was entirely empty. The vault in the banking house was constructed in the usual manner. A nine-inch brick arch had been turned over the top, and the space above, between the arch and the light, filled in with brick—the depth being about two feet. There was no iron to prevent the safe from being entered, by burglars, the only apported the complete of the light o

Corporal Edgar, being mounted on a good horse, excaped. Young Atwell (sonor John Atwell, Esq., of this city.) either dismounted and secreted himself, he was wounded in the retreat, as his mule was seen without a tider, by Mr. Cowkry, after the attack. The remaining six members of the party were made priseners. Their pockets were immediately searched, and their tolding taken by their captors. They were then handed over to General Hampton, who transferred them to the Provost Marchol, and they were started for filebrond. Arriving at the latter city, they were made amused by the spectacles of "home guards" doing patrol and garrison duty in and around Richmond: Cithkene with grey Rafe, black citigens clothing, gold spectacles and high hats and gives, with muskets are "Methodder." Teacher of Music. the Fall of Elchmond-How the News The reception of the news of the capture of the city, and filled every heart with gladness. The news spread through the city like wild fire, and filinds and acquaintances who had been speakable astisfaction, and congraintated one another by shaking of hands, throwing up of hats, and other demonstrations of joy. Fifth sirret, the headquarters for news, was soon througed with thousands of our citizens, flags were displayed all over the city, and hundreds of his sent front their merry peaks.

An impromptumenting was organized on Fifth street, at which the indefailtgable Sensior Bigham acted as master of ceremonics, and opened the ball by delivering a pairfoite speech. He was followed by J. W. F. White, Fey., Dr. McCook, Mayor Lowry, Cof. J. M. Cooper, Rev. Megaw, Thos. M. Marchall, James I. Kunn, John M. Kirkpatrick, Col. Gelbuer, and others. The street was entirely "blockaded" for over an hour, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed, during Soldiers' Funerals. On Sunday afternoon the funeral of Lient Michael Mullen, of the 137th Pennsylvania regiment, who was killed at Fort Steadman, on he 27th ult., took place from his mother's res dence, on Lacock street, Allegheny. The mil itary ercort was composed of a detachment of the prevest guard, under command of Lieutenaas Graham. Large delegation from the various fire companies of the two clites also turned out, the deveased baving treen a member of the Columbia Hose Company of Allegheny. An excellent brass tand braided the procession, and played solumn funeral marches as the cortege proceeded to St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mt. hae'l R. Smith. formerly a member of the 14th Pennsylvania Cavairy, who died on Friday right at the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Husshbaugh, on Ohio atreet, Allaghony, was also burried on Sunday afternoon. The deveased was taken misoner some months since and incarcerated in a Southern pri-on, where through starration and exposure, he contracted the disease which resulted in his death. He was exclanged a few weeks ago, and alnoe his arrival at home every effort had been made to previve his life, but without success, and his name is now added to the long, list of Unionartyre, whose lives were sacrificed by a cruel and reluntless foc.

Curious Case of Drowning. tary escort was composed of a detachment of th tint or limit.

While the Court of Quarter Sessions was quietly engaged in the trial of a case, Dr. McCook rubed in, and in his impattons magner atopped upon the beach and uncertaintoniously amounted. subset in, and in his impatious magner steeped upon the beach and uncertainthously announced the capture of Richmond! Thereupon the court immediately rose, and ordered the clerk to make a minute upon the record to the effect that, upon the receipt of the intelligence of the fall of Richmond, the court had adjourned.

The District Court also adjourned, and a joilification meeting at once convened—the Honorable Judges presiding. Spirited addresses were delivered by John M. Kirkpatrick, A. M. Rrown, Dr. McCook, Senator Graham, B. G. Childs, Jacob Whitesell, B. F. Lucas, and others. The Court room was soon crowded, the greatest enhantsiasm was manifested, the meeting continued for over an hour, and adjourned with three rousing cheers for our gallant generals and their braye soldiers.

Bu Incas was entirely neglected throughout the city, and all joined heartily in the general publice. A me sing has been called for the afternoon, at the Mayor's offlee, to make arrangements for a more formal celebration of the glorlous event.

Curious Case of Drowning. citizen of West Bethlehem township, Washing on county, was drowned in the following pecton county, was drowned in the following peculiar manner. The family were engaged in boiling sugar water, and the foll gouleman was tent to a bogsheal, at some distages from the forc, to obtain a bucket of water. Not return lug as soon as he was expected, his son went to ascertain the cause of delay, and on approaching the hogshead, found his father's body partially. In the ressel, his head being completely submerged. He was not quite dead when removed, but all efforts failed to resuscitate him. If. Reèse had begin subject to fits, and it is presumed that while in the act of dipping the water he was seized with a convalsion, which rendered him powerless. He was aged about sixty years, and was one of the most estimable citizens of that county. and on climbing over the iron fence discovered a capacions leather ratchel from which the cries seemed to proceed. He opened it, and discovicel a male child only eight or ten, days old. A $\times 20$ greenak is was planed on its breast, and a change of clothing was also found in the satchel. If appeared to be comfortably clad, but the garments were of a poor quality. He delivered the child and the satchel over to the captain of the police, who brought is to the Mayor's allies; but as the child needed care and nourishment, he called up Mr. John Brown, who keeps a drinking some on Diamond alley, and coulded the baby to the care of Mrs. Brown, until some one should take charge of it. This lady took the child on the cruditions, and retains the satchel and the money for a remneration. No clue of its unatural mother has been found. The satchel was cutirely new, and it is probable was purchesed for the purpore ore which it was used. It was clored when found, but utlocked, and had no key. The child is healthy, has an abundance of black hair, iblue eyes, and passably pretty.
