MISSION OF ABBAHAM LINCOLN.

The awful tragedy of Friday night, which cast so deeper gloom over this nation than any event in its history, naturally causes our thoughts to run back over the period, brief but wonderfully eventful, since he where tragic death we so deely deplore was first called from his quiet home to guide the destinies of his country.

Little did we imagine, when we cast our votes for him in 1860, to what awful duties and responsibilities, and to what agonizing anxietics we were calling him. But before the day for accuming those duties and trials arrived, the dreadful storm through which he has so well guided the ship of State was rising cark and fierce all along the Southe on. State after State darted from its orbit, and assumed a hostile attitude, and the Union seemed to be dissolving into its original elements. Treason, ready armed, bitter sod deflant, unfurled its banner and datid bim in the conflict.

But calmly, quietly, humhiy, in the strength of the Lord his God, he went ferward on the great mission to which Ic was called. Feeling that the work beabove all, in hanging. fore him was layond all unaided huma wis fom and strength; in a few simple words but surpassingly cloquent because so simple he legged the prayers of his humble neighbors who had accompanied him to the train. Tio c words that led millions of hearts, and evoked more camest, believing prayer than ever went up to the Eternal Throze for one man. Men felt assured that this was Goo's MAN, and that success was certain, as Mr. LINCOLN said it would be with God's blessing.
