THE PRENCH GOVERNMENT.

If any one wishes to see and study the feeting of the French government—we do not mean the people—towards the United States, let him read the debate, it is may be as called in the French Legislativ Chambers on an amendment to the address to the throne expressive of sympathy for the cause of the Union. The amendmen was lost by a vote of 195 to 24. We think that was a bad day's work for MAXIMIL-MAN and his masters,

A WORD TO SHALLOW TRIVERS A strange discussion is going on in some of the Providence of God in the calamity which this country has austained in the death of the President. Some of them take exception to the position that the hand of God is to be recognized in it at all, and try to argue that if the Almighty willed hat ABRAHAM LINCOLN should die by the hand of an assausin, then that assausin wa guiltless, because he was only an instrument to carry out an irresistible divine b test. The absurdity of such reasoning is so obvious that it is hardly worthy of notice; and indeed it was with some surprise that we read what some men, who ought to know better, have written on the subject Unicks we admit that Mr. Lincoln died in accordance with the will of HIM will rules over all, and without whom a sparrow cannot fall, we must come to the mon-strous conclusion that either he was indifferent whether that man lived or died, or that he was unable to preserve him from the stroke of the assassin. It were blasphemy to entertain either of these posi-

All we know of Gon and his governmen of the world is what he has told us. Emlow cannot fail to the ground without him. He does not say without his notice, as some erroneously quote it, but without his will. his decree, his purpose. The great truth here taught is, that nothing, however minute, transpires fortuitously, or by chance. Now let us turn to some examples and some declarations. Joseph's brothren actuated by as mean and wicked a passion as can find a lodgment in the human breast old him into slavery. Afterwards, under the pressure of adversity, the bitter con-fession, and as true as bitter, was wrung from them. "We are verily guilty con ing our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul when he besough us, and we would not hear." It was their own cruel att, and they were gully. Their judgment upon themselves was correct, for they were free agents, and they knew it. Now let us hear what Jossi'll says about it. Now let us hear what Jossi'll says about it. Now let us hear what Jossi'll says about it. "God sent me before you to preserve you a posterity in the earth. * * * If they had sent you that sent me hither, but God." Did thus remove or even mitigate the guilt of these men! Cartainly not. They had one purpose, God had another: They acted freely, as their envious and ma-Rooy again hearts prompted; and if the result was happy instead of unhappy, no thanks to them for it. Take another example : "The Son of Man goeth as it is written of him; but we unto that man by whom the Son of Mansis betrayed | It had been good for that man if he had not been born.". This meets the case under discussion exactly. Again: On the day of Pentecost PRTRI said to the people of Jerusalem, "HIM being delivered by the determinate counsel and

Exciting Scene in the French Legisla-Paris Correspondence of London News, April 17, It is a curious coincidence, that on this 15th of April, when the news of the fall of Richmond arrived in Paris, the Corps Legislatif should be discussing an amendmen of the opposition deputies thus worded:
"We have from the beginning declared our sympathies for North America. Thanks to herole efforts, slavery is abolished. We shall be happy to see restored in its former power the republic of the United States, which is the instruct all of Prahos, and we shall hall with love a triumble which will half hall with joy a triumph which will have cost liberty nothing." Of course M. Rouher, will oppose this amendment, but it is likely that the great news of the day will have curtailed, if not altered his speech. During the debate the amendment was have curtailed, if not altered his speech.

During the debate the amendment was supported shortly by M. E. Pelleton, in a few choquent words which will be remarked on the other side of the Atlantic, as well as the coarse and insulting interruptions of the majority. It subjoin a translation of the Monistric report:

M. Eugens Polician—In the present stage of the debate I should be very crust to the amendally, and still more crust to myself, if I were to misks a speech is extreme on the debate left (as I fear It, will be) of our last amendment: [Langhter.] I had buy last word to easy to repair an omission. The last amendment: (Langhter.) I had but a word to say to repair an omission. The speech from the throne passed over America Insulence; your draft address maintains the saind reserve; the yellow hook laself contains in this subject nothing but a purn white page. Now it seemed so us that the American question was one of sufficient importance to be treated of otherwise than by relicance. However, there is now no occasion for discussion, because while I am speaking to you the news arrives that the victorious awords of Grant and Sherman have settled the question. Richmond is taken. Several volces—Make an end of it.

Mr. Pelletan—For the last four years North America has borne the burden of the most ferrible civil: war that eyer ravaged a nation, and during the whole course of this cruel trial she never for a single instant entertained the idea of suspending liberty. [Ah, ah.] She never dreamed of invoking the principle of public safety or opening that doy; through which all political crimes make their way. But more, it has renewed is executive power under—we may almost ry—the very fire of the enemy, and that without violence and without disturbance—[interruption]—and it has done this so orderly and calmly that this page of A nerorderly and calmly that this page of A nor-ican history is the page of honor of the nineteenth century. The Explosion of the Seliens on the

From the Memphis Bulletin. The steamer Sultana, Captain Mason, arrived from New Orleans last night, the 26th, with about two thousand two hundred and sixty-one of whom were exchanged Federal prisoners from Vicksburg, the balance being refugees and regular passengers from various points along the river, proceeding toward St. Louis. She lot the coal bill of the Coal St. Louis. ceeding toward St. Louis. She loft the coal plie about 1 o'clock this morning, and had made some eight or ten miles, when an explosion of one of her boilers occurred. The beat with its mass of living freight, took fire in the vicinity of the engines, and in a short time sho was burned to the water, and now lies on a sandbank near Foglemen's Landing, nothing visible but her charred remains and jackstaff standing erect. The scene following the explosion was heartrending and terrible in the extreme. Hundreds of people were blown into the air, and descending into the water, some dead, some with broken limbs, isome scalided, were borne under by the resistless current of the great river, never to rise again. The survigreat river, never to rise again. The survi vors represent the screams as agonizing he-yond precedent. Some clung to frail pieces of the wreck as drowning men cling to strawa, and sustained themselves for a few mo-

and sustained themselves for a few moments, bet finally became exhausted and sunk. Only the best swimmers, added by fragments-of the wreck, were enabled to reach the woods, and there take refuge until rescued by boats sent from the landing here to their assistance. There were about fifteen women and children aboard, and as near as can be ascertained, not more than two or three had been found at the hour when this account was written. Some of the wretched people were borne by the current as far down as the levee at this city, and this was the first intimation the officers and this was the first intimation the officers of the boats in port received of the terrible of the boats in port received of the terrible disaster. A yawl was immediately sent out from the Marble City, and in a few minutes several persons were picked out of the water and brought ashore. Two were afterward found chinging to the wheel, and they were also saved. Upon being brought to a realization of the calmity, the officers of the boats in port, under notification of Captain Senior, of the River Guard, steamed up, and in a short time were at the burning steamer, where hundreds of people were ed up, and in a secret time ware as the ourn-ing steamer, where hundreds of people were picked up and brought to this landing, ar-riving about daylight. They were met by a number of citizens and ladies, who sup-plied them with abundance of dry clothing lower deck in flames, and knows no more. He can give no lides of the cause of the accident, and says the boat was going at ordinary speed, and all seemed well up to the moment the explosion took place, that the second engineer, a sober, reliable man named Clemens, was at the engines, and that nothing more than common was inprogrees. Captain Cayton was also lurled into the wreck smong the broken bollers, and rubblab, sustaining alight injuries. He immediately jumped overboard with a door, by which he was enabled to reach the 'Arkansas shore, three miles below where, striking a sapling, he seized and can go it until saved. Clemens, the engineer, was badly buried and scalded, and can hardly recover.

Mate Paberru says the afcam was not near as high on the Sultana as it was usually carried. He thinks a terpedo shaped like a lump of coal must have caused the explosion. Both engineers were saved, but the second engineer, Clemons, will probably die. The guns of Fort Pickering are reported to have fired on the boats of the tions, however they may be overruled for eported to unversion on the survivors.

Pirates.

Whatever status may have been claimed, seretofore, for the rebol cruisers that have sommitted such depredations on commerce, here can be no difference of opinion now. If they were ever to be treated as belligerents that time is passed. If they, ever, had a country to represent, that country is now under the rule of Federal authority. If they ever had a flag, that flag has been lowered before the starry banner of the Union. If they ever had a master to serve, that master to day is as completely a fugfilive as ever Booth was, running for his life, with the aggregate spoons of all Richmond in his pockel. If they ever had a government, that government is scattered all over the South, without a local habitation or a name. Now then, if never before, these rovers become simply phrates, in the plain ordinary acceptation of the term, and should be so dealt with. Their numbers are so reduced that they are be longer of very much consequence, but a stroke of the Executive pen will now sink every pirate shoat. An official declaration of their true status will now be recognized and respected by every power in the world and sanctuary will no longer be given to traiters. It becomes as much his duty of an English or French ship to Alak a pirate flying the Confederate rag, such considerations in the world sealed to the rebellion, and it would be well if ahe could bear too the wholl it and the collapse of the rebellion, so the world such will hear of the collapse of the rebellion, so the world fix a becomes as much but one punishment in store for pirates, and that—death without mercy. f they were ever to be treated as belliger nts that time is passed. If they ever had

THUS SPEAKS OF THE Wheeler & Wilson

Sewing Machine,

BEST FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

We are having a great many inquiries for Sew-ing Machines from various parts of the country, and as we can not conveniently reply to them all by mail, we have thought it preper to state our opinmail, we have thought it preper to state our opinion in ragard to them in this public manner. We have used Wilson's patent, manufactured by the Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Company, and we can say in regard to it, that it is withen fival. It is eimple, not early put out of order, and in peint of effectiveness and finish, no other machine stands ahead of it. We state this much in regard to the excellent machine upon our own

This Company have made and, os, during the last three months, 10,678 machines, and are now producing, and selling 150 per day. They vary in price from 400 to 150, the medium priced ones sall best. In their business there is over 1,000,000 invested, and they have 1,000 managularly employed manufacturing machines. The system pursued is manufacturing machines. The system pursued is the same as that adopted in the manufacture of arms; every place is made to a grange, and sense-questly, the parts of any machine may be trans-posed with those of another machine of the same size; or should an academ towur, the broken part ear immediately be replaced on application.
