This fact is taken advantage of by par-tors of a disorderly tendency crossing the river late at night, or by persons wishing to escape arrest. It is not long since a German who was stationed on the beat now occupied by Watch-man M'Auliff, was selzed by a gaug of ruffana, stripped, and thrown into the river. Ho was suc-cereded by another on the same beat, who fared but little better, having been set upon and.hadiy beaten. We do not say that such disorderly characters all belong to the neighborhood, but they selected this place as their stamping ground where, owing to an inefficiency of police force, ther might "make night hideons" with indeco-rous conduct, without fear of being brought to longment.
