Eulogy Upon the Late President.

We give up all our available space, to-day, to the Eulogy upon President Lincoln delivered on Thursday night by HON. THOMAS WILLIAMS. It is a very able and eloquent address, and will amply repay perusal.

Sherman's Itch for Negotiation.

In Gen. SHERMAN'S dispatch, lately published, he admits having conducted "a frequent correspondence with the late President of the United States, with the Secretary of War, with Gen. HALLECK and with Gen. GRANT, on the subject of terminating the war "with a single stroke of the pen." It is evident, therefore, upon his own admission, that he was strongly affected with an itch for negotiation; that he had unbounded confidence in his own ability to put an end to the war "by a single stroke of the pen;" and that he rushed into the treaty with JOE JOHNSTON under the conviction that the time had come for which he so ardently sighed, and that if he would make himself famous, that was his opportunity. He tries to make us believe that he was misled by Gen. WEITZEL'S issue of a safe conduct to the rebel Legislature of Virginia, to come to Richmond and recall the Virginia troops; but it is more probable that he was misled by his own eagerness to astonish the world by his skill as a negotiator.

Gen. WEITZEL'S permission to the Rebel legislature of Virginia to re-assemble was for a specific purpose—to secure the re-call of the Virginia troops from the other parts of the Confederacy. It did not recognize the Confederacy nor acknowledge the legitimacy of the Rebel State Governments, and all this SHERMAN'S treaty did. That treaty mightily tickled JEFF. DAVIS, it seems, and he was of opinion that under it the Federal government could be made to pay the Rebel debt. The General's skill as a negotiator evidently astonished JEFF. DAVIS as well as the Secretary of War; but the astonishment ripened into admiration only with the ultra Rebels whom it so greatly favored.

The indignation of the country, of which Mr. STANTON was merely the exponent, at the criminal blunder committed by SHERMAN, has so disenchanted him that he naturally vents his spleen at his failure upon the Secretary of War. To be so throughly confident that "by a single stroke of the pen" he could end the war and bring about peace, and then to be utterly extinguished himself by a single stroke of the Secretary's pen, would very naturally make him feel bad; and he shows it so plainly that it is easy to see where and how he was hurt.

Did the wily BRECKINRIDGE, in that conference, whisper in his ear, that the way to the next Presidency lay through such a treaty as that, and that the union of the rebels with the northern democrats would secure his election? It is not at all unlike that arch demagogue, and the like temptation has proven too strong for many other great men besides SHERMAN.

What Will be Done with Leading Rebels.

It is believed that the further intention of the Government on the amnesty question, as far as it has taken form, is to indict for treason all or most of the persons excepted from the proclamation, and when they are arrested to try them for treason, and on conviction to sentence them severally to be hanged by the neck until dead. It is also proposed to keep a vigilant eye on those embraced in the amnesty who shall make themselves exceptions to it by refusing to take the oath which it prescribes, and when such persons shall become obnoxious and mischievous by their pro-Slaverylism and disloyalty, they will be arrested and tried for treason in a manner similar to the above mentioned class, and, like them, sentenced to death. It is believed that when such persistent rebels shall have been indicted, arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to die a felon's death for treason, they will be deprived of all power to make themselves dangerous, even if the President should see fit to pardon the most of them, or remit the penalties against them. A convicted traitor who is at large by favor of Executive clemency, will be a very harmless creature, it is argued, whereas many of the returning rebels are now more pompous and self-complacent than before the war, refusing to speak to old friends who had been Unionists, and organizing into political factions to resume control of all the Southern States in the name of State Sovereignty and Slavery. These heroics are not yet given up, but they form the nucleus of partizan leagues through the Border States, which are full of danger. They not only vote against the policy of the Administration, but, as in Virginia, combine through three-quarters of the State to ignore the Government, and defy and violate the law. The trials and convictions spoken of as included in the prospective policy of the Administration, will take place in the District Courts of the border and Southern States as fast as they are organized. This will probably be their first work, and it will be prosecuted with no feeling of malice or revenge, but solely to vindicate law and restore order in the land. Some of these trials will soon take place in Virginia, where there are much needed, and where the outrageous conduct of the traitors has already convinced most of the clearest-headed men that the return to civil government has been premature.

THE Washington Chronicle publishes, from a private letter of General Wilson, a more accurate account of the capture of Jeff Davis: Colonel Harnding of the 1st Wisconsin, had only sixty men; Colonel Pritchard one hundred and thirty. The story of Davis' ignoble attempt at flight is ever more ignoble than I told it. Mrs. Davis and her sister, Miss Howell, after having clothed him in the dress of the former and put on his head a woman's head dress, started out, one holding each arm, and brought Colonel Pritchard's men, in most piteous terms, to see them take their "poor old mother out of the way of the firing." Mrs. Davis said: "Oh, do let us pass with our poor old mother, who is so frightened, and fears to be killed." One of Pritchard's men, catching sight of the "President's" boots below the skirts of the dress, suspected at once who the "poor old mother" was, and replied: "Oh, no; you don't play that game on us; them boots don't look very much like they belonged to a woman. Come down, old fellow!"

DAVIS OR JOHNSTON'S SURRENDER.—The Washington Republican says: "We have reason to believe that the Government is in possession of a letter written by Jeff. Davis the day after the Sherman Johnston armistice was signed, in which the arch-traitor declared that while it did not grant all that he could have liked, yet that it was conceding more than he had any reason to expect. That, in his judgment, it acknowledged that the Rebel Government gave them authority to continue that government in the late rebellious States, to which the rebel soldiers were severally allowed to return and deposit their arms. And out of this recognition he expressed the opinion that the United States could be made pay the rebel debt. This letter, we believe, will soon be made public."

TROOPS TO BE MUSTERED OUT.—The whole number of troops in the Army of the Potomac and in General Sherman's army whose terms expire prior to the 1st of October, and now under orders for muster out, is estimated at 122,310. Of these there are:

120 three-year regiments of 1861	97,000
Three-year recruits of 1864	12,000
20 one-year regiments of 1864, and one bat.	14,000
Two-year regiments of 1864	11,710
Total	134,710

THE New Orleans Free Press says the Mobile and Cairo can be connected by rail within a few weeks. It is said that only the bridges need repairing.

Shiftings of Population.

There will be considerable emigration and shiftings of population throughout the country this year. Great numbers of Northern men have, within the last two years gone, and still greater numbers will now go to the South. Large numbers of Southern people have come North since 1861, and we learn from the South that great numbers more are now anxious and preparing to come. They have become unsettled in their family and industrial relations during the war, the condition of things in their own localities has been greatly changed, and they are eager to try their fortunes elsewhere. A very few of the aristocratic rebels will find their way to Europe; a considerable number of men who have served in the rebel army may emigrate to Mexico; but the emigration northward will doubtless greatly exceed that in other directions. Nearly all rebellious and social or political upheavals are followed by such emigrations.

From the south, the emigration to the great cities of the south, since they were recovered, has been enormous. New Orleans and Memphis are half filled with northern men—we do not refer to Union soldiers—but northern traders and mechanics, and great numbers have also gone to Savannah, Wilmington, Norfolk, and still others are now going to try their fortunes in Richmond, Raleigh and Mobile. From these cities they will penetrate inland to all parts of the Southern States, to all their towns and villages, carrying with them activity, industry, intelligence, and all the advantages of free labor, and aiding in the development of the great resources of the south.—N. Y. Times.

A WASHINGTON letter gives the following description of Jefferson Davis' prison life:

It is understood that Mr. Davis has been sent for by competent authority, and will be brought here to-morrow or next day. On his arrival, he will be confined at the arsenal. Nothing has transpired in regard to any special preparations, and we can only judge of them from the arrangements which were made at Fortress Monroe. At the fort, an casemate, comprising two rooms, was set apart for his use. In front of it a line of sentinels, making three sides of a square, of which the front of the casemate is the fourth, prevents all approach to the locality. Within this line is an officer on duty, who, for the time being is not allowed to leave the established inclosure, and who holds one of the keys to the door of the casement. In the interior, two sentinels are on duty with their backs to the door, under orders not to speak during their tour of duty, but continually to observe the prisoner. Between them sits an officer, who is also not allowed to speak, and who holds the key of the second or interior lock of the door, which cannot be opened, except by the concurrence of the two officers named. At the door between the rooms is another sentinel, and in the inner room are two others who are all enjoined to the same strict silence. Mr. Davis cannot thus be lost sight of for a moment, day nor night. The window of the inner room is, of course, the embrasure of the casemate, looking out on the broad moat of the fort, and beyond it a line of sentinels observe the casemate. The prisoner is provided with food from that prepared for the guard furnishing the above details. He has as much in quantity as he pleases, but no other rations than those of the soldiers. He is in continual, uninterrupted silence. If he makes a request it is written down and forwarded to the military commandant, who returns a brief answer in writing, granting or denying the favor. He is furnished with a Bible, and that only.

☞ ETNA, ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PENNA., June 2d, 1865.—Messrs. Editors: Permit me to say to the Union voters of Allegheny county, and especially to those who will be delegates to the approaching County Convention, that it is not a want of interest or concern that has kept me from visiting the different wards, boroughs and townships for support. No, I frankly confess, I am willing to go to the Legislature one term, but I am not so anxious as that I will do myself that which I condemn in others. I believe the manner of obtaining the nomination for offices, as practiced at the present time, to be entirely wrong, although I am aware that a great many good men have submitted to the custom of going around to solicit support; but the day for it was not from choice, but what they consented to be a necessity. If therefore, success depends upon personal application for support—a course which I condemn—for one, I will willingly accept defeat for the office for which the particularity of friends has named me. I am, respectfully,

JOHN A. DANKS.

☞ NOTICE TO ALL DELINQUENT CORPORATIONS ORGANIZED UNDER ANY LAW OF THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Notice is hereby given to all companies incorporated by or under any law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and organized at any time prior to the first Monday of November, 1864, that have failed to make report to the Auditor General, under the Act approved April 20, 1864, that they are required to report to the Auditor General forthwith, as follows, viz:

In case a dividend has been declared the Treasurer will report, under oath, the amount of capital paid in, the date, amount and rate per cent. of each dividend during the year, ending the first Monday of November, 1864, and any previous year or years in which the Company may have had an existence; and in case no dividend has been declared as aforesaid, then an appraisement of the cash value of the capital stock, as it existed between the first and fifteenth days of November, must be made by the President or Treasurer, and a majority of the Directors, under oath. When an appraisement is made, the report should state at what time the Company was organized.

In addition to the above report, under the act of April 29, 1865, companies not paying a tax on tonnage are required to make a separate report, under oath of the Treasurer, of the amount of net earnings or income received during the period from April 29 to February 1, 1865, in accordance with the second section of the act, approved April 29 1865.

COMPANIES INCORPORATED BY OTHER STATES and doing business in this Commonwealth, are severally liable to pay the same tax on net earnings or income received between the 1st section of the act of April 29, 1864, and are required to report to the Auditor General the amount of such net earnings or income received between the 30th of April and the 1st of November, 1864.

All delinquent Companies incorporated by or under any law of the State of Pennsylvania will be afforded a reasonable time in which to make the several reports required by law and above mentioned; but continued neglect or refusal will subject them to forfeiture of charter, under the 5th proviso of the 2d section of April 29, 1864, which is the following words:

Provided further, That any corporation which has failed to make returns to the Commonwealth, as required by the act of April 29, A. D. 1858, entitled "An act for the better securing to the Commonwealth the payment of taxes due by incorporated companies," may make such return within sixty days after the passage of this act, any law to the contrary notwithstanding; and all delinquent companies failing or refusing to make full returns and payment to the State, as required by the several laws of this Commonwealth in relation thereto, shall have all their rights or privileges declared forfeited by proclamation from the Governor.

NOTICE.
SALE OF ARMY MULES.
QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29, 1865.
MANY THOUSANDS OF MULES are being discharged at public sale, at Washington.
The sales will continue until the number of animals is reduced in proportion to the reduction of the armies, now going on rapidly.
There are in the armies of the Potomac, of the Tennessee, and of Georgia probably FOUR THOUSAND OF THE FINEST SIX-MULE TEAMS IN THE WORLD.
Many of them were bought in the beginning of the war, as young mules, accompanied the armies in all their campaigns since, and are therefore highly broken, hardened by exposure, gentle and familiar, from being so long surrounded by the soldiers.
The whole South is stripped of farming stock, and the North also has suffered from the draft of animals, taken to supply the armies.
These mules will be sold at public auction, THEY WILL NOT BRING ANYTHING LIKE THEIR TRUE VALUE, and such opportunities for farmers to get work mules, for stock their farms, and for drovers and dealers in stock to make good speculations, by purchasing them and disposing of them in the South, will never occur again.

NOTICE.
SALE OF ARMY MULES.
QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29, 1865.
MANY THOUSANDS OF MULES are being discharged at public sale, at Washington.
The sales will continue until the number of animals is reduced in proportion to the reduction of the armies, now going on rapidly.
There are in the armies of the Potomac, of the Tennessee, and of Georgia probably FOUR THOUSAND OF THE FINEST SIX-MULE TEAMS IN THE WORLD.
Many of them were bought in the beginning of the war, as young mules, accompanied the armies in all their campaigns since, and are therefore highly broken, hardened by exposure, gentle and familiar, from being so long surrounded by the soldiers.
The whole South is stripped of farming stock, and the North also has suffered from the draft of animals, taken to supply the armies.
These mules will be sold at public auction, THEY WILL NOT BRING ANYTHING LIKE THEIR TRUE VALUE, and such opportunities for farmers to get work mules, for stock their farms, and for drovers and dealers in stock to make good speculations, by purchasing them and disposing of them in the South, will never occur again.
M. C. MEIGS,
Quartermaster General,
Brevet Major General.

UNITED STATES
7-30 LOAN.
THIRD SERIES
$200,000,000.
Authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned, the General Subscription Agent for the sale of Unified States Securities, offers to the public the third series of the Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the 7-30 LOAN.
These notes are issued under date of July 15, 1865, and are payable three years from that date in currency or are convertible at the option of the holder into
U. S. 5-20 Six Per Cent
GOLD BEARING BONDS,
These Bonds are now worth a handsome premium and are exempt, as are all the Government Bonds, from State, County and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. per annum to their value, according to the rate levied upon other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.
The interest at 7 30 per cent. amount to

One cent per day on a	$50 note.
Two cents " " "	$100	"
Ten " " "	$500	"
20 " " "	$1000	"
$1 " " "	$5000	"

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions.
The Notes of the Third Series are precisely similar in form and privileges to the Seven-Thirties already sold, except that the Government reserves to itself the option of paying interest in gold coin at 6 per cent., instead of 7 3 10ths in currency. Subscribers will collect the interest in currency up to July 15th, at the time when they subscribe.
The delivery of the notes of this third series of the Seven-Thirties will commence on the 1st of June, and will be made promptly and continuously after that date.
The slight change made in the conditions of this THIRD SERIES affects only the matter of interest. The payment in gold if made, will be equivalent to the currency interest of the higher rate. The return to subscribers in payments, in the event of which only will the option to pay interest in Gold be availed of, would so reduce and equalize prices that purchases made with six per cent. in gold would be fully equal to those made with seven and three-tenths per cent in currency. This is THE ONLY LOAN IN THE MARKET,
now offered by the Government, and its superior advantages make it
The Great Popular Loan of the People.
Less than $230,000,000 of the Loan authorized by the last Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within two months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.
It is urged that the citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, Savings Banks and Private Bankers throughout the country generally agree to receive subscriptions as par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes to which they receive orders.
JAY COOKE,
Subscription Agent, Philadelphia.
Subscriptions will be received by the
