CITY AND SUBURBAN.

FROM YESTERDAY'S EVENING GAZETTE.

Destructive Fire in the Ninth Ward—Spencer & McKay's Brewery in Ruins.

Between four and five o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the extensive brewery of Spencer & McKay, situated on the corner of Smallman and Wilkins street, and extending back to Mulberry alley, in the Ninth ward. The fire was first discovered by the watchman of the building, about twenty minutes before five o'clock, in the vicinity of the oscillating engine, which was pumping cold water at the time.

The building, which is four stories in height, was well supplied with water and hose, and strong efforts were made by a number of the men who first arrived to extinguish the flames by means of this apparatus, the fire gained so rapidly that they were driven from their work. The fire-bells were rung, but many firemen suppose it was the six o'clock bells for going to work which they heard, paid but little attention to them. The great distance also prevented the engines from saving the building, for when they arrived on the ground it had been almost completely burned. The firemen, however, deserve great credit for their successful efforts in saving a block of brick tenements on Wilkins street, which, but for their timely arrival and the energy with which they labored, would have fallen a prey to the flames. Several of these houses had already caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before any serious damage was done.

The brewery of the Messrs. Spencer & McKay was doing a large and thriving business, and it was one of the most enterprising establishments in the city. The building was owned by Mr. Joseph Spencer, and was insured for $10,000. We believe the machinery was uninsured. The stock had a small insurance of $10 000. The net loss by the conflagration will probably exceed $100,000. We understand the proprietors intend rebuilding as soon as they can make the necessary arrangements.

It may be proper to state in this connection that the Niagara steamer, which is the nearest engine to the locality of the fire, has been out of service, owing to its being unfit for use. We are informed that the company are having a new steamer built, which will be finished in two or three weeks.

Lynchburg Papers.

Colonel S. B. M. Young, commanding Cavalry Brigade at Lynchburg, Va., sends us copies of the Daily Lynchburg Virginian, of May 26th and 27th. The papers are of little account for news, but are interesting as exhibiting the exhausted state of the "confederacy" in the matter of printing materials. They look as though they might have been printed about the close of the last century. The following item, however, indicates that "better times" are about to be ushered in; and, with other needed "improvements," new types and presses, ink and paper from the North—the latter improvements will soon find their way South:

The Beginning—Articles of prime necessity, as well as a variety of the luxuries of a foreign clime, are arriving here daily in limited quantities. We noticed yesterday in several well known establishments on Main street, a miscellaneous assortment of mackerel, Northern brooms, cheese, oranges, lemons, figs, raisins, coffee, &c. This is but the beginning of what will doubtless be continued on an extended scale, when money gets more plentiful. Several houses are now engaged up on Main street, preparatory to the reception.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

The June term of the Court of Quarter Sessions opened this morning, when the Grand Jury was empanelled and charged by the Honorable Judge Stowe. In addition to instructing the jury in their duties, Judge Stowe took occasion to allude in fitting terms to the close of the war, and to congratulate the country on the restoration of peace.

It is a subject of remark that the present Grand Jury is much above the average of intelligence and capacity ordinarily exhibited by these bodies, and that there is scarcely a man on the panel who would not make a competent foreman. James McAuley, Esq., the only Democrat of the Iron City Bank, was selected as Foreman, and it is needless for us to say that any duties imposed upon him are always well and faithfully attended to.

After the Grand Jury retired, the business of the Register's Court, and the returns of Constables, were attended to, when the court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

Severely Burned—Another Warning.

On Sunday morning, a little girl named Shiver, whose parents reside on Mulberry alley, Fifth ward, was burned in a shocking manner by the kindling and bursting of a can containing oil. The girl had risen in the absence of the members of the family and proceeded to kindle a fire in the cooking stove. After lighting the fire, an idea occur to make it burn more rapidly she poured some petroleum oil from the can. The fluid immediately ignited, and the flame communicating with the oil in the can, it exploded almost instantly, scattering the contents in every direction, and burning her face and arms in a shocking manner. Her cries brought other members of the family to her assistance, through whose efforts she was rescued from a horrible death, as her clothing had also caught fire.

The 155th Regiment.

The 155th Pennsylvania Regiment, under command of Brevet Brig. Gen. Alfred L. Pearson, arrived at Camp Reynolds last night about ten o'clock, and occupied the quarters which had been assigned it. A large number of the friends of the regiment congregated at the Pennsylvania depot, anticipating that it would be brought to the city, and were greatly disappointed when they ascertained that the portion of the train which it occupied had been left at the camp. The 155th was organized in this city in September, 1862, and has taken part in many of the battles of the Army of the Potomac. Its record is excellent, and we bespeak for it a cordial welcome. The regiment now numbers three hundred and fifty-two men. The business of paying off and mustering out will be commenced to-day, after which the brave boys will seek their homes and friends without delay.

The Heated Term.

The weather is now unusually hot and sultry, considering that we are still in the first week of June. The heat, for the past two or three days, has been quite as intense as is usual in midsummer, and fears of a long and dry summer are beginning to disturb the farmers. An old citizen, who keeps a daily record of the weather, assures us that the thermometer reached a higher point on Sunday than has been exhibited during the month of June for twenty years past.

Distillery Forfeited.—In the United States District Court, on Saturday, Judge M'Candless delivered a decision in the case of the distillery of Messrs. Long and Clawson, in Conemaugh township, Indiana county, seized in consequence of fraudulent revenue returns. Judge M'Candless sustained the demurrer of District Attorney Carnahan to the answer of the respondents, and issued a decree forfeiting the distillery to the United States. The writ for the sale of the establishment will be issued in a few days.

Special Notice.—At the last meeting of the Women's Loyal League, the following resolutions were adopted:

First—That as the pledge was "for the war" its obligation had ceased.

Second—That while we would not renew our pledge, owing to the difficulty we had met everywhere in distinguishing American from Foreign goods, yet we would always give the preference to articles of American manufacture.

By order of the President,

M. MAITLAND, Secretary.

Household Poems.—Messrs. Tickner & Fields, of Boston, have just issued a neat little volume entitled "Household Poems, by Henry W. Longfellow." These selections from the poems of Mr. Longfellow are made by the publishers to supply a demand for all the shorter pieces of a domestic character in a single inexpensive volume. The work can be had at the book store of H. Miller, Fifth street.

Knap's Battery.

The following dispatch has just been received, in answer to inquiries concerning the return of Knap's celebrated battery.

HARRISBURG, June 5, 1865.

S Biddle, Esq:—Knap's Battery is not here. We are not advised from Washington as to the time of the shipment of troops. Brig.-General Doubtery, of the Northern Central Railroad, will inform General Hinks, that he may advise Major Moorhead respecting the Pittsburgh regiments. A. L. RUSSELL,

Adjutant General Pa.

The Munchausen Oil Company.—The certificates of stock for the Munchausen, Philosophe's Stone and Gull Creek Grand Consolidated Oil Company are now ready for distribution at the office of Mr. A. W. Pitcock, Fifth street, opposite the Postoffice. The subscribers should call at once and get their certificates. The stock is now "worth looking after," which is more than can be said in favor of some of the "ile stocks" now on the market.

Black Silks.—This most popular article of dry-goods can now be found in perhaps the greatest variety and, all things considered, at lower prices than ever before in our city, at Barker & Co's, 59 Market street. The prices range from $1.25 to $5 per yd. If any of our readers contemplate purchasing, we advise them to see this stock before doing so.

Death of a Soldier.—We have received a brief note stating that John Mowry, of Co L, 5th Michigan Cavalry, who enlisted from Kalamazoo county, Michigan, died at Richmond, date not given. He owned forty acres of land in the town of Brady, Michigan, and his papers are said to reside in this city.

Sudden Death.—Richard Dunn, a Conductor on the Sharpsburgh branch of the Citizens Passenger Railway, died
