There was but odd transaction at the stock board this morning, a small lot of Five Twenties at 103¾, and more would have been sold at the same figure. Stocks inactive and dull, but holders are determined not to sacrifice, preferring rather to wait, and run the risk of future developments.

Gold is stronger and higher, opening at 135¼, and closing at noon in New York at 135. There is no special cause assigned for the advance, but the general impression seems to be that it will go still higher. Governments remain steady at about previous quotations.

The dispatches from New York to the board report as follows: Five Twenties, 1862, 103¾@103¾; 1864, 1865, 101¾@101¾; Certificates, 99¾@99¾. Pittsburgh buying rates for Gold; 135@136.

There is no movement in oil stocks, and the long looked for improvement has not yet arrived. As a general thing, holders are anxious to realize, but buyers are very scarce, and refuse to operate unless they can buy at ridiculously low figures.

There was not a single transaction at the stock board this evening, and as usual, the attendance was very slim. Federal was offered at 90@99 bid; Central Basin, 80—85 bid; Oil Creek & Cherry Run, 2.35—1.50 bid; National Refining & Storing, 7—8.50 bid; Hitchite, 65—65 bid; Rose, 70—80 bid; Tack, 85—80 bid. Before calling the list, in view of the dullness and stagnation which has characterized the stock market for some time past, slim, aimless, and oppressively hot weather, it was resolved to adjourn over until the 1st of July.

—There is considerable excitement among certain parties in Boston over a "five hundred barrel strike" just made on Pit-hole creek near the famous United States well. Parties here who owned a thousand dollar share are said have refused thirty thousand for their interest. The "strike" has also made happy a quiet Boston institution called the "Webster Petroleum Company of Boston," who find some of the best of their land within a dozen rods of this prolific fountain. There it a great deal of money yet to be made out of oil wells, but it will be done with less noise and excitement.—Boston Bulletin.

—The Wilmington, N. C., Herald of the 3d inst. says: "It is surprising to those who have been in the city since its occupation by the Union army, and who formed a very unfavorable estimate of the activity of trade here, to witness the sales and dray loads of cotton, rosin, &c., now being stored in the warehouses for saipment to the northern market. Where it comes from no one knows. Ten days ago all kinds of vehicles for hauling could be found in idleness on the streets; but since the removal of the restrictions on trade not one is to be seen—all busy hauling."

—The new national banks have nearly all been supplied with circulation to the amount of which they are entitled, and circulation will not be issued to converted banks far-far in the State circulation is retired, so that the bank note circulation of the country has reached its maximum or highest possible point.

—It is the cast of a Boston distiller, who removed liquor from his distillery, without paying excise duty, Government has found the amount of loss to be $17,000, and has imposed an additional penalty of $32,000, making $50,000 in all. In a Dubuque case the amount of fraud has been fixed at $503,000, and a penalty of another $500,000 has been imposed, making for the payment of $1,000,000. In the Peoria case, the frauds will be some hundred of thousands, and an equal penalty affixed.

—JOHN DE MERCER COUNTY.—The Whig says—A New York company, operating for oil in the eastern part of this county, struck a good show of oil at the 1,200 ft. of depth, on Richard Hoagland's farm, two miles above Sharon, on Hoagland's run. We have been shown a specimen of the oil which was struck between the slate and the sand rock. It is the intention of the company to ream out the hole and commence pumping at once. It is estimated that it will yield at least ten barrels per day.

A summary of the Wisconsin bank Comptroller's monthly statement show that only about $30,000 Wisconsin currency remains, out of nearly $1,000,000 that was in the hands of the people March 1. The amount of currency withdrawn during the past three months is about three-fifths of all that was in circulation. The bills of the banks winding up are worth from fifty-five cents to thirty cents on the dollar. A small amount is redeemable in gold, but by far the larger proportion is treasury notes.

—The New York Herald editing the movements of the gold market, says: There is an interesting opposition as to under what present conditions of our foreign trade; but the absence of fluctuations in the rates makes the volume of speculative transactions very light. It is not, however, impossible that before long gold will be quoted at 140—a price at which a foreign market would begin to open for our bonds and produce. The rise of the premium would certainly be only palliative but whatever checks the fall of gold upon during the next two or three years will, while a fresh cotton and tobacco crop, and larger accumulations of breadstuffs and provisions in the western country, will confer temporary benefit. American produce is higher as high in the seaboard market that, with a few exceptions, it is unprofitable to export it, and hence we have nothing except gold with which to pay large balances against us in our exchanges. The preponderance of our imports over our exports would not be an unfavorable feature if we were on a specie basis or if ours was a supply of gold which would not leave the country. We have, however, a paper currency, commencement of the date war we have been slowly losing our specie till now we have but forty-six millions in the Northern, Western and Middle States, California excluded, outside of private hoards; and at the present rate of specie shipments how long can we stand the drain without seeing the eve of a return to specie payments become more and more distant. We received less than thirteen millions of gold from California in 1864, and less than twelve millions in 1863. Our exports of coin, on the other hand, are between two an d three millions a week, and our markets throughout the country never so bare of merchandize during the last twenty-five years in proportion to the population and interest.

Philadelphia Wool Market, June 10.

The inactive condition of the market recorded for some time past still exists, and prices have declined fully 1 to 2 per lb. The manufacturers purchase with extreme caution, and throughout the growing districts there is a perfect lull. In view of the large falling off in the demand for account of army work, the conservatives will have to submit to a heavier proportionate decline than the better qualities, and the latter will probably assume the place they held prior to the opening of the war. Among the sales were:

20,000 lbs medium and light fleece at	70@75c
4,000 lbs fine	70c
20,000 lbs mixed fleece	65@65c
12,000 lbs	80@75c
5,000 lbs "	70@73c
3,000 lbs washed Jersey	75@78c
3,000 lbs pulled	70c
5,000 lbs fine do	50@52c
25,000 lbs unwash. do	40@50c

Philadelphia Produce Market—June 10.

Flour—Are declining. There have been very few receipts coming forward, but the market is dull, and only a small demand, to store lots at $12@8 for Penn No. 1, $8@9 for fair do, $7.50 for choice No. 2, $7@7.50 for fair do, $6.50 for low do, and $5.50 for common do. Extra family and fancy brands are dull and drooping. Sales of 500 bbls at $13@14 for extra family, and $15@16 for fancy. Rye flour is selling at $6.50@7 per bbl. Corn meal is dull at $4.50 for Penn, and $4.25 for Brandywine.

Grain—Wheat is very dull, and prices have declined 10@15c per bush. Sales of 2,000 bush at $2.50@2.60 for red, and $2.70@2.80 for white. Rye is dull at $1.40@1.45. Corn is dull and lower. Sales of 5,000 bush at $1.10@1.12 for yellow, and $1.08@1.10 for mixed. Oats are dull at 70@72c for Penn and Delaware.

Provisions—Are dull and unchanged. Sales of 100 bbls mess pork at $28.50@29, and 100 bbls prime at $24@24.50. Bacon is dull at 18@19c for hams, and 12@13c for shoulders. Lard is dull at 22@23c for kettle rendered. Butter is dull at 30@35c for Penn. Cheese is dull at 16@17c for Penn.

Whiskey—Is dull and declining, with sales of 200 bbls at 2.10@2.11 per gallon.

Boston Wool Market, June 10.

The stock of fine wool is reduced to a small compass, and even a large portion of the heavy, undesirable grades of western has lately been worked off, though at low prices. Bulked wool is still neglected for the present, but the supply will be at once wanted as soon as the stocks of flannels now in the hands of manufacturers and jobbers, begin to move off to the distributing markets. The foreign wool is in fair request, but the pressure of gold rather checks the disposition to operate.

Opinions in regard to the new clip continue widely at variance, and at this early stage of the season the best framed theories may prove equally at fault. The only thing certain in regard to the matter is, that neither consumers nor growers are in a hurry to come to terms, and that, contrary to last year's precedent, the bulk of the crop will not be taken from first hands till winter, for consumption. The result will doubtless be a compromise of extreme views between buyer and seller. The domestic yield this season is unusually a very large one; but it will all, and more than all, be wanted to meet the requirements of the goods market; and there is no fear or doubt in the minds of that western farmers will almost give their clip away this season, in order to get rid of it, will in the end be disappointed. Very few agents are as yet gone out on prospecting expeditions; but merchants in the commodities are generally the probable opening rates, from 50 to 65c for X wools, from Michigan and Ohio, and 70c and upwards for the best quality of fleeces, including Washington county.

Sales of domestic for the week foot up some 400,000 lbs, at a range of 62@70c for X, and 70@75c for choice Illinois at 80@90c; Wisconsin, Michigan, New York and Vermont at 65@70c; sales 30 to 50 bales of pulled fleeces at 70c. Pulled has been selling in moderate quantities, at 60@70c for extra, with a variety of all sales. In foreign the transactions have been quite limited, and favorable terms. Odes and Warehouse, 119 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh.

RIVER INTELLIGENCE.

The weather continues clear and pleasant, and very favorable for out-door business, while the river has undergone but little change. The recent rains were of great value to the growing crops, but we fear that there was not enough to have any material influence on our rivers.

There has not been a single arrival from below places since last report, although the Alex Speer and Pilgrim from Parkersburg are both afloat due. The Emma Graham, also, ought to have arrived here on Sunday night, but from her non-arrival, it may be inferred that she has gone into summer quarters at Zanesville.

The Petrolia and J. G. Hall, both had steam on yesterday afternoon, and would doubtless get off to Parkersburg during the evening.

Business continues very dull at the wharf, both receipts and shipments being very light, and with but little cover for the latter in the channel, no immediate improvement need be expected. There is usually a rise in June, however, and we see no reason why the month should be an exception to the general rule.

The Ida Vinas, Captain Perry Brown, is announced to leave for Cincinnati and Louisville this evening. She has excellent accommodations for passengers, and being of light draft, will go through with dispatch.

We learn that the Iron City arrived at St. Louis on Friday last from Parkersburg with over five hundred soldiers, she would load there for Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

The Silver Spray is somewhere between here and Cincinnati, en route for this city.
