A .Great Change.

Having found it necessary to advance my plices during the bigh rate of gold, I take this opportunity to say that I have reduced them so as to make all kinds of operations within the reach of every person. And these wishing tooth artracted without pain, can have it done at my restant of every person.; And these wishing teeth extracted without person.; And these wishing teeth office under the most pleasant process that has ever been introduced, without the least danger to the health. The time occupied is entracting a tooth, compared with the old process, has a great advantage, is there need be no lose of time, either them of from sickness afterwards. I do not recommend this article with a view that at teeth must be extincted because there is no pain ordanger attending the operation, for I take pleas are in trying to save the natural teeth, if they fean be made useful; for many years, as I believe them to be of infinitely more value than any arti-ficial organ. In comparison, allow me to refer to the fost or hand. Could any one imagine a person to wilk as well with an artifical foot as with a good natural one? Or, who could cut off a hand because, from accident, it is alightly do-formed I What hope could helbave in a substi-tute in point of mechanics I. Let every person of a tooth can be retained in a healthy, condition it is often of more use than half a dozen artifica-iteetic. FORTRESS MONROR, June 14.—LEMENDIALLY after the departure of the infanity portion of the Soft corps for the point of readerrows at Mobile Bay, about a dozen large steamers arrived here for the purpose of transporting the cavalry brigade of the 35th corps, under command of Brigader General Cale, to the same destination. The steamers have been simpled with twelve days coal and water, and most of the cavalry has already embarked. The following named steamars have their full complement of troops, and are now ready to sail, viz: H. B. Hagar, Dudley, Buck, New Jer-er, M'Clellan, Weyboasti, and Demollar. The remaining steamers will all be ready in a few days, although the oppressive hot weather pre-vint dispatch in loading.

General Officers Out of Service. Naw Yonx, Juno 15.—The World's Washing-ton special says: The final dissolution of the 20th army corps took place to-day. The com-pletchildury of its organization was filed in the War Department. Twenty-two regiments were mastered out from this corps in one day. The 15th is the last day in which all Major Generals and Brigadier Generals who ate without a command or are not on detached service, can remain with that rank in the army. Builter and Banks go out of the service under this order. The Canada Delegation in England. The story is contradicted by the news from Europe to day that the Canadian delegates had come to an agroment with the Colonial Office on the subject of forlifestions. The confer-ence, it seems, are still in process; and we hear, privately, that the prime difficulty is, in getting an imperial endorsement for the notes on which the colony must raise the money ne-cessary to do its part in the forlying scheme. If the colonists had to borrow the required amount without such endorsation, the delegated reason fably, it would overturn that credit allo-gether. Reasonable as this claim is, we donly whether it is all likely to be granted.
