ALLEGHENY CITY, June 27, 1865.
CATTLE—Notwithstanding the supply of Cattle on sait this week was considerably below that of last week, being variously estimated at from nine hundred to one thousand head, the demand was limited and the markst ruled dull and depressed, and, as compared with last week, prices have still further declined. The retail trade took hold sparingly even at the decline, and the number bugst fog shipment was unusuity small. The Eastern markets have been so unsettled and completely demoralized for some weeks back, that shippers are compelled to operate with great estudion, and the demand for meat having fallen of considerably fareed, with others are not buying as freely as usual. The early best grades sold this week at 7671%, fair the complete of the common at 553%. Several usual of the common at 553%.
