AUCTION SALES.

PUBLIC SALE OF
FIFTY LARGE AND VALUABLE TRACTS OF COAL LANDS,
On the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, in Washington and Allegheny Counties, Pa., and Brooke County, West Virginia.

On MONDAY MORNING, July 17th, 1865, at 10 o'clock, will be sold in the City of Pittsburgh, at Bell, Wainer's Auction Rooms, 109 Smithfield street, next to Fifth street, opposite the Post Office, the following valuable Coal Tracts:

10 acres and 25 perches of land in Brooke county, West Virginia, easily approached from the Ohio river at its mercantile walk, and commands to the opposite shore the same kind of coal now worked by shafts on the adjacent Steubenville coal land at an elevation of about 250 feet above the river. It has a level and landing of 12 rods on the Ohio river, insuring the only easy access to that region, and would be suitably and at proper distance from the bridge and western terminus of the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, to afford sufficient room for a branch road for coal purposes without interfering with the landing. This point is the only one on either side of the river, within available distance of the railroad crossing, fitted for the shipment of coal, and would afford a fine income as a wharf or loading place, for the shipment of coal by others besides.

113 acres and 30 perches of good farm land in Hanover, Smith and Jefferson townships, Washington county, Pa., (part), through which the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, about ten miles from Steubenville, on the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad. Several public roads cross it, and the railroad station, readering part of it valuable for town lots; and about 70 acres of good coal (the Pittsburgh vein) are in the south side of this tract, in such position for loading on the cars, commanding also, a shipping place of coal.

113 acres and 12 perches prime quality limestone land in Smith township, Washington county, Pa., near east end of the Steubenville Railroad tunnel, between Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad; the entire tract underlaid with red-ash coal, the Pittsburgh vein. In addition to its coal and superior quality of limestone, it possesses fine advantages as a point for town lots.

The undivided one-half of 98 acres and 67 perches of excellent quality of well lying land, in Robinson Township, Allegheny Co., Pa., on the Ohio River and Steubenville Railroad, a short distance west of Coraopolis. About one-half of this tract is underlaid with first-rate coal, and commands another large amount of the same kind of coal accessible in the immediate rear of it.

100 acres, part of said quality farm and in Robinson Township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, about six miles from Pittsburgh. About one-half of this tract is underlaid with first-rate coal, and commands another large amount of the same kind of coal in the rear. This tract is further valuable for its fine Timber and Limestone.

THESE COAL TRACTS ARE OF A CHARACTER, AND IN A POSITION TO AFFORD LARGER PROFIT THAN ANY OTHER COAL PROPERTY IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA.

They were carefully selected, with care and judgment, as choice points to be secured on the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, and at a speed ratio to the coal business; holding control of important positions, for the peculiar facility of supplying either or both of those Pittsburgh coal consumers. Besides the vast western consumption, destined to be the best of all markets for the coal trade, it is four-fold already impossible to supply the demand for coal to ship on the lakes, making it yield the gross advantage in position held by these tracts.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third cash; balance in one and two years, with interest, secured by bond and mortgage on the property.

For an estimate of the coal and title properties, inquire of W. P. Baun, Esq., No. 30 St. Clair street, Pittsburgh.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

FROM YESTERDAY'S EVENING GAZETTE.

The Second Pennsylvania Cavalry.

This gallant regiment, which has earned the reputation of being one of the very best cavalry organizations in the Army of the Potomac, is expected to arrive in this city to-night, at eleven o'clock. The regiment is composed almost entirely of men from this county and neighborhood, and the arduous services which they have rendered to the country has won for them a name of which they may justly feel proud.

The regiment was first commanded by Col. David Campbell, who was transferred to the Fifth Cavalry, and was succeeded by the brave and lamented Col. James H. Childs, who fell at the battle of Antietam. Lieutenant-Colonel Kerr then succeeded to the command, and upon his promotion Lieutenant-Colonel Dowdle took command, but this brave officer fell in battle at Deep Bottom, on the 25th of June, 1864. The present commander, Colonel S. B. M. Young, son of Mr. John Young, of Robinson township, took command, and under his charge the regiment always maintained its high character for dash and daring. If there was any difficult or hazardous task to perform, the Fourth Cavalry was always among those chosen to execute the work, and the confidence reposed in them was never betrayed.

The following is a list of the battles in which this regiment has been engaged: Gaines' Hill, Charles City Cross Roads, Antietam, Hedgesville, Martinsburg, Kelly's Ford, Middleburg, Upperville, Gettysburg, Shepherdstown, Culpepper, Sulphur Springs, Todd's Tavern, Tyrrellan Station, St. Mary's Church, Deep Bottom, Reams' Station, Wyatt's Farm, Boydton Road, Hicks' Store, Dinwiddie Station, Hatcher's Run, numerous brilliant engagements of Gen. Sheridan, south of Richmond.

In addition to those officers already mentioned as having fallen in the ranks of the regiment, we should add the names of Brevet Major Hamilton H. Parke, who fell mortally wounded at Reams' Station, and Captain Smith, who was killed after he had the shoulder straps in his pocket—having volunteered to go with the regiment into an engagement which was brought on just as he was preparing to leave for home.

The number of those who fell in battle, or died from disease contracted in the service, is a long and honorable one, but we can only refer to them in general terms, and express our regret that they were not permitted to return and receive the ovations of a grateful people and the warm congratulations of families and friends.

Complimentary Letter to Gen. Pearson.

The following letter to our distinguished young townsman, Gen. Pearson, who is now engaged in the practice of his profession in this city, is but one of numerous high testimonials which he has received from his superior officers, and which show the estimation in which he has been held as an officer by those most competent to judge of the character of the services which he rendered while in the service of his country:

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTEEN DIVISION,
ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE,
ALEXANDRIA, (Va.,) June 29, 1865.

My Dear General—It gives me great pleasure to add my testimony to your character as an officer to that already given you by Generals Griffin, Ayres and Chamberlain.

Your services, while under my command, was marked by the exhibition of rare soldierly qualities, and distinguished you in the field by dash and gallantry. The counter charge executed and led by you, upon my right and under my personal supervision, at the battle of Lewis' Farm, I consider one of the most gallant acts of the war, and tended to save one more battle for the Boydtown Plank Road.

Without having the time to carefully revise your several acts while under my command, I will bring to your notice only such as my memory will retain, and which won you the regard and esteem of your superior officers.

I am, General, very truly, your friend,
JOSEPH J. BARTLETT,
Brevet Maj. General, U. S. A.

A. L. PEARSON, late Brt. Maj. Gen., U. S. A.

How Can the Evil be Remedied.

The commitment of insane persons to the county jail has long been regarded as a serious evil, but one for which no practical remedy has as yet been suggested. Many persons are brought before our police magistrates, suffering from mania potu, and other forms of insanity which renders it unsafe for them to be at large, and the only course left for the magistrate is to commit them to prison until such time as they can be provided for by their friends or sent to the hospital by the court. In the meantime death often claims the unfortunate victim; but if life is spared the violence of the malady is often increased as no means or appliances of proper treatment are provided in the institution.

The jail now contains two insane persons, a male and female. One of these, a colored man, is terribly afflicted, and if not removed will probably die. He imagines that he is Abraham Lincoln, and he keeps up an incessant racket, day and night—shouting at the top of his voice, or battering violently against his prison door. The condition of the female is not so bad, as her insanity is of a milder type, but she devotes herself to the destruction of almost everything she can lay hands on—has already torn into pieces two beds—which had been placed in her cell. Neither of these persons are fit subjects for the county jail, but they have no friends who are willing to apply for their removal in their behalf, and being dangerous to others to be at large, it becomes necessary to restrain them of their liberty. We can only end this article as we began it, by asking, "How can the evil be remedied?"

Sad Death of a Steamboat Captain.

A telegraphic dispatch to Wm. Stewart, Esq., of the Cleveland Railroad, announces the death of Captain John List, who was accidentally shot at Wheeling by a member of the Provost Guard, while firing at a deserter. The accident happened last night, but we have no other particulars than those given above. Captain List was well known in the western waters, having been engaged for many years in the boating business. He was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends, to whom his melancholy death will be a source of deep regret. He was a resident of Wheeling, and was about forty or forty-five years of age.

Not Correct.—The Post takes Mayor Lowry to task for refusing $5,000 in money as bail for Captain Hazlep. The truth is, the Captain proffered the amount in money, but in steamboat stock. The law requires, "good freehold security," and although money is sometimes taken, under peculiar circumstances, both by the courts and by magistrates, they are not obliged to accept it, even if tendered. But in the case alluded to, the Post is entirely in error, as the tender was not made in money, as alleged, but the Mayor taken such proprious security as steamboat property, the Post would have been among the first to raise a hubbub about it.

Bold Robbery.—A party of thieves entered the room of Major Snyder, of the pay department, in Wapelling, on Wednesday afternoon, and carried off all the clothing in the room, besides a small dressing-case and a set of shirt studs belonging to the Major's son. The articles stolen were worth about two hundred dollars. The booty was discovered within fifteen minutes after it was committed, but the thieves succeeded in effecting their escape with their booty.

Libel Filed.—District Attorney Carnachan, on the 5th filed a libel against the distillery of John Beer, Beaver county, for failure to report to the assessor of the 24th District the proper returns. Judge McCandless to-day ordered a writ of scrutinize be issued returnable to the 28th of July next.

Pale Of.—Col. Gallery's Regiment was paid off at Camp Reynolds, this week, and mustered out. Several members of the boys, in their desire to get home, walked the entire distance—ten miles—over the railroad cross-ties, reaching here about dinner time.

Being Renovated.—The United States District Court Room, together with the office rooms of the officers of the Court, are undergoing a complete renovating, being painted, papered, and otherwise improved.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The prompt and decided action of the leading denominations to contribute liberally to the support of ministers and teachers to labor in the South, and also to meet the wants of the West, shows how fully the Churches are alive to the progressive views of these live times in which we live. It is therefore gratifying to note the action of such a body of christians, as the Congregationalists, in this direction. The recent meeting of the National Congregational Council at Boston, has been pretty generally noticed by the leading journals of the various denominations. That it was a great meeting is not questioned by any, but when the Independent and other organs of the Congregationalists represent it in such glowing and extravagant terms in comparing it with other bodies, it is open to discussion. In the absence of any written standard of doctrine or forms of polity, it is difficult for the unitiated to understand exactly the functions and powers of the recent Council. It was, we presume, simply a convention of Congregational churches in the United States to devise means to promote certain enterprises, too large for the grasp of any single church. A leading New York religious weekly affirms that the great motive, and thought, and object of the Council was the evangelization of that immense field opended by the success of our arms, and the more recently settled West. The action of the body clearly indicates this fact in recommending the churches to raise the sum of $750,000. Of this sum it is proposed that $300,000 shall go to the American Home Missionary Society, whose operations extend to all parts of the Union—New England, as well as the West; $200,000 to the American Missionary Association, whose operations lie among the freedmen, and the Indians of the Northwest; and $200,000 to the Congregational Union, for the building of new churches. This latter fund is to be applied where ever needed; but with the expectation and hope that it will be possible to expend the most of it in the South. In addition to this, it was proposed to raise a fund for the education of freedmen. Among the interesting topics discussed by the body, it was noteworthy the concession that a "second tier" of ministers—men of a lower grade of culture—was needed for the pioneer work in which they were about to engage. It was admitted owing to the pressing need of preachers, that it would be unwise to deny ordinations, except to those who had passed through college and theological seminaries. Withal the action of this body on the measures before it, is to be seen whether the work arranged can be executed in view of the assumed independency of the churches. The fact of holding the National Council is a confession of the necessity of co-operative effort.
