Does it prove what Mr. Jay Goore so vig national blessing, or that it may be made so?

It certainly proves that they do not consider it a national curree. But whatever may be their views upon that subject in the abstract, they see the people of the United States are prospering while they are not prospering. They saw them pouring out their blood and treasure like water to save their country, and they did save it, and came out of the terrible ordeal as strong and as progressive as ever.
These are facts about which there can be ne dispute; although they may not be able to understand their philosophy. They may not be able to understand that it was Mr. Chase's national currency which, by falling greatly below the gold standard, afforded at once a sound and acceptable mediting of such research and control of the substrate of a suppose.

Emigrants Wanted. The Richmond Republic, quoting the accounts of emigrants arriving in New York, says: "Send them South We are hungering and thirsting after these quot, healthy emigrants. Our fields want them; our forests are sighing for them; finance wants them; the fireside wants them; politics wants them. We have broad acres and a welcome for many a day's importation a welcome for many a days's importation of them—yea, many a month's cargo, even at this high rate, and we have a genial country, a hospitable people, easy employment, indulgent taskmasters, and abounding ment, indulgent taskmasters, and abounding room for all. Let them come, with their healthy country blood and stom country limbs, their new ideas and new systems of laber, with their intelligence, cleanliness thrift, sobriety, industry, their virtuous habits, their respect for authority, their sheddened to law—and we make room for them gladly.

There is little encouragement, however. for fareigners to settle in Virginia so long anters presume to force down the wages whether of white or black labor, by combinations among them-selves. They had better get over this and the idea of being "taskmasters" hewever

The resignation of Secretary Usukmon soon after the war began, gave rise at that time to surmises injurious to the character of that gentleman. A writer to the Chicago Republican offers a new explanation of that affair, received from Mr. CAMERON himself, at an interview soon after it occurred. He says: Mr. Cameron remarked at the commence-ment, "Well 8—, I suppose you think that either I have retired in diagrace or that the either I have retired in diagrace or that the President has committed a great o trage upon me." S— replied that, to tell the truth; this was just what he thought, and that he called to see what possible explanation the Secretary could give him for his course, which would remove the bad impression it had left upon his mind. The Secretary replied with a smile, "Well S—, I see you are as hadly fooled in this matter. pression it had left upon his mind. The Becretary repiled with a smile, "Well S., I see you are as badly fooled in this matter as any of them. But I thought that you who knew me so well, would certainly conclude that I never would have left my post under the circumstances that I have, unless I was compelled to do so by some great consideration of state which involved the very existence of the country. I will, however, open your eyes to the time condition of sfairs, and which has made it absolutely imperative on me to tender my resignation to the President, and as absolutely imperative on him to accept it. You know that at the time General McCleilan was called to the command of the army, things in a military view were in a most deplorable condition. Nowhere, except in Western Virginia, had success crowned our arms and, in fact, nothing had occurred to rescue the country from the slongh of despond into which it had been cast by the Bull Run diaaster. We were compelled to call McCleilan to the head of the army at a time when he could dictate his terms, and he actually did to the sin.

THE Commissioner of Customs, Nathan Sargent, Eeq., is engaged in exposing and efeating a most extensive system of smug gling, which has been in existence for some time past, along the Canadian frontier, from New Hampshire to Lake Su perior. It has been ascertained that hundreds of men, of pretended respectability, along this wide extent of territory, are actively and secretly engaged in smuggling liquors, teas, silks, spices, laces and other valuable light goods, from Canada into the valuable light goods, from Canada into the United States to evade the payment of duties.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT. WASHINGTON, July 13, 1985. There are many who have labored in our tanks since the organization of the Republican party who, now that a great crisis has been safely passed, the war for the Union brought to a successful end, and the work of emancipation near-ly completed, think their occupation gone. They will not see that the irrepressible conflict between right and wrong must last until the millennium, and, as that happy myth is not likely to arrive in our day, that there still remains much to be done in the work of reform,so much that no one should doff the harness for though we have won a battle the enemy has great strength in reserve and will fight long and bitterly. Although the oppressor has been worsted and the manacles stricken from the bondman's limbs in our land, the demon of injustice has many other strongholds. There will always be work enough for a party of progress. While in many lands the masses work for the emolument and happiness of the few, while the obstinies of nations are directed not by the consent of the governed but by the governing classes, who claim a divine right to rule, waile-doir, or race, or ext, and not fitness, in our own country are the tests of citizenship, and while republics at our very doors are invaded and overthrown, to be apportioned to sclone of reigning European families, we can not bismelessly following the work of the present are willing to await the effect of the anspicious termination of our own condition. Moreover, there is a prevailing impression in this ecountry which has been growing for years, that the manifest destiny of the Yanker area is finally to told in the people and province of Mexico; that their fate and our fate are identical, and that the Brometinean fire of educated freedom, kindled by the Parliana, will continue to burn until it pierces the mists of ignorance which envelope our borders and draws into its glaro all adjusting humanity down even to the judgles of Darien. Having believed that Mexico would eventueally be absorbed by the United States, we have quietly observed the various revolutions and changes which have been preparing her popie for the secure haven of prosperous rest which a union with us would afford, and have pitientily waited the progress of events. Since the development of Nacolcon's scheme, disturving the operation of those pateral causes which promised to drift Mexico into our arms, we have been itselved the progression of the number of the progress of events.
