36 HILL STREET, KNIGHTSHRIDGE, LONDON, July, 8th, 1865. My DEAR ----- ; I must choose some one in Pittsburgh to write to, that I may regard for the time being, as a kind of representative of every one else, and so far as this letter is concerned, I chocse you. Perhaps you may have though. mosomewhat dilatory in writing after landing n England, but unless I had contended myself with a very brief letter, which I could hardly do when it has to go so far, I could not well shut myself up to write such a letter as I desired to either in Liverpool, Nottingham or Birmingham -and hardly in London even until now. Indeed, I will not say that even now before the closing of the mail this evening, I may not be pted, so that my present attempt to write cannot in the end amount to more than a good intention unfalkilled. I shall begin where my last broke off, namely in New York. Perhap

After schort syzgement, the others surrendered, and the bu'k of the pro-ple on board, including their leader, Urbina, making their escape into the woods. The pri-ioners were brought to Guayaquil and two of them instantly shot. Ater this Moreno started for Tumbes, where he expected to capture more, and if so they will chare a similar faise. After his return to Gaaya-ugil the Fresident returned the steamer to the Capital, who receive her under protest, and pot at the same time $30,000 for the services of the wiret. The seizene is still an open ques-tion, and a hearing has been referred to the masager of the company at Callao. The Presi-dert holds that under some old law spoken of by Vaitel, he had a right to take the vessel, and the Bitted Consul speared to agree with Jim. The Uited State double ended gruboas Sn-wanne arrived at Pasama with news from Cal-ios to the 6,000 government troops, in which the latter were sincessful in taking as prisouers one threand men and twenty for officers, be-aldes the stilled. A for days prisouel as a taking as prisouers From the time we left New York, day after day, we had obcession to mark with satisfaction and gratitude that a more estimable and arcm-plary set of men and genulement than the officers of the ship, its erew, and the stewards and others and gratitude that a more estimable and arem-plary zet of men and zenulemen than the officers of the ship, its crew, and the stewards and others engaged in attending our company of passen-cers, the oldest travelor amongst us had naver met with. Mears. Bolton and Gesson, two gen-tlemen who were able to be about a good deal during the stormy day and night we had about midway and several others who had also good opportunities of observing, spoke with warmest admiration of the conduct of Gaptain Prowss-and his able essistant Mr. Shehan, and several other cilicers, whose names I cannot recall. Hence I was prepared for a proposition which was al-most simultaneously made by several parties on Thureday to hold a meeting that night, as about one-third of our company expected to isnd at Queenstown next day. (Friday,) that before separating we might express our suitsfaction, both with the ship and her officers. Accordingly, soon after tea, we had a succession of speeches, nend of them very long but all of them very heary, in praise the good ship Helvesia, the ex-cellences of ther accomminations for passengers, and the ability and courtesy of her Capuah and cficers. It was stated, and Theliew with function truth, that no one had heard a single oath from any one belonging to the ship, either seaman or officer, put on that hour. Resoutions embodying the semitments of the passengers were prepared by Dr. Rogers, and when riad were unani-mously and cordially adopted, and scopy ordered to be presented to Capt. Prowses and another to be to twarded to the Directors of the National Steam Navigation Company at Liverpool. Dra-tation, for. The mutineers gained possession the belly, un-der direction of the officer of the direck, and the Ad-miral General Panisee, was shi thin the orbin and afterward hanged from the yardsrm. The mu-tineers afterwards decoyed the Captain of the America on board and captured his vessel. This is the ship recently sent out from England. They also captured the Tumbes, leaving the Government with only two vessels of real service. Onli is still the trobuls with Spain. Businees at Valparado was nubsually quiet. From Contral America we has rot the capture of the ama recently in a small vessel expecting to find a pai to of these successful who revolted in his fave in Balvador. On reaching Fonzers, how-ever, he found his party beaten and dispared at Lanoneem, and endeavord to return, but a stroke of lightning happened to shiver the masts of his vessel, and how as confucated, and all on board made prisoners. The drilvery was made, when it was found that only the staffs and rubber-covers had been delivered. It was then determined to disarm the whole refiment. Queen has arrived from Aspinwell, and brings important news. At Guayaquil, Equador, the resident, Gorcia Moreno, seized an English steamer of the Pacific Navigation Company, loading at the male, drove the officers and crew ashore, at the point of the bayonet, placed troops, canbons and munitions of war aboard and steam ed for the mouth of the river, where the revolu-tionists were lying at anchor in the vessels seized

Should such regulations be tolerated the value of a plantation would depend very much upon the sumber of negroes who, under pain of being arrested as vagrants, would be obliged to live on . Such are the ill-concealed schemes for introducing a system which shall approach as nearly as practicable to that of slavery.

The country about it is the very productive, and ence the war it has been the grannyr and garden of the South West. In Central and Southern Alabama there are still enall lots of cotton in the hands of planters. A good deal of it is now being brought to mar-let, acd it brings from twenty-five to twenty eight cents per pound. It is popularly supposed at the North, that all restrictions upon trade have been removed by the preclamation of the President. To that effect in theory, so they are, but not in practice. The milliary anthorities are so surions to pro-tect the Government cotton, that they contrive with infinite difficulty and intricacy, to place one obstruction siter another in the way of its sale. The result of these versitous proceedings is, that some conidential agent gets cotton at a great sacrifice and shares with the military or Treasury officers the proceeds of their nelations transaction.
