Gold opened at 143⅝ in New York to-day, but fell off a fraction later in the day, being quoted in the afternoon at 143. Governments a shade higher and more active.

There was no movement in any of our local stocks to-day that we could hear of, and, consequently, we have no operations to report, with the exception of a small sale of coupons at 141. There is some inquiry for Bank shares, but buyers and sellers are considerably apart in their views. Insurance and Railroad stocks are apparently neglected.

Petroleum stocks painfully quiet. Columbia is about the only stock of this character that is in quired for, but the extreme views of holders has a tendency to retard operations. It was offered at board at 97, while on the street it was held at from 97½ to 40. We hear it stated that the last report from the Company's wells gives the daily average production as 515 barrels per day, which is considerably larger than the one previous.

There was some inquiry for Central Basin and Cherry Run & Pit-hole, but the figures offered were considerably below the views of holders, and, so far as we could learn, there were no sales. Cherry Run Central is offering at very low figures with out finding buyers.

—The New York World of Tuesday says there is an effort making in that city to run down the price of both United States and Pit-hole Creek Petroleum stocks, but it is done merely to unable certain parties to buy at low figures.

—Altered notes, $50's from $5's, on the National Bank of Iowa City have been extensively circulated in Philadelphia. As these same altered notes will doubtless find their way west, our people should be on the lookout for them.

—The bank committee of thirteen, which some weeks since met to adopt a plan for the re-demption of country national bank notes in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, but adjourned without coming to any agreement, have, it is reported, at length arrived at an understanding upon the subject. The banks of the cities mentioned will, it is said, make their daily settlements as hitherto through their respective clearing-houses, paying the balances against them in legal tender notes, but they will insist in their sight returns the notes of the country banks. These last will be redeemable at each of the three financial centres, according to the section of the country to which they belong. Thus, the notes of the country banks of New England will be redeemable at Boston, those of the Western and Central States at New York, and those of Pensylvania and the South at Philadelphia, according to the specified arrangement. But the consent of all the country banks has not yet been obtained, and some of these will doubtless refuse their assent to it, for it involves the necessity of each of the country banks enjoying the privilege of a central place of redemption, having a balance to its credit at that point against which their bills will be charged after the manner of ordinary checks. Not a few of the small banks will probably think it preferable to allow their notes to be at a discount at the financial centres so being required to keep a balance to their credit at New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, which would be all but useless to them in general business.

Wool Items.

[From the St. Louis Democrat.]

Yesterday, Messrs. Kerr, White & Co, commission merchants, sold 7,000 lbs of wool, the fleece of one flock, at 56c per lb. Messrs. Throp & Co., were the purchasers. Last year the fleece of the same flock was sold at 91c per lb. The difference in price, however, in the two crops is probably about equal to the decline in the price of wool during the last year's wool sale. This wool was raised on the farm of the late Richard Gentry, Esq, by his sons, who have charge of the very large and extensive farm of their late father.

The Mt. Gilead (Morrow county) Sentinel says:

The price offered for wool in this market varies from 50 to 55c per pound. Not much is coming in at this rate. The opinions of wool growers and wool buyers do not seem to agree in this State. We notice that a lot of wool buyers for eastern firms last from the other county in great indignation because they could not buy wool on their own terms.

The Buckeye State, New Lisbon, says:

Notwithstanding the lateness of the season, the market for wool, in this place, has not yet opened. The views of the wool raisers and wool dealers are wide apart, the former asking seventy-five cents per pound for their clips, and the latter offering from fifty-five to sixty cents. Under these circumstances there is but little chance of the wool changing hands, and the farmers are rich enough to hold it over for a better market. Whether or no this would be good policy on their part is doubtful, though a number of agricultural papers express the opinion that the market ought to afford seventy-five cents per pound for good wool. If this be the case the wool of this county will probably average as good as that of any other county in the State, ought to command that price.

[From the Detroit Tribune.]

We learn that at all the points on the Central road the price has ranged fully 3c within the past day or two, 55c being now readily paid for good lots. The market has become, somewhat excited, the manufacturers having become jealous of each other, owing probably to some of them having violated the terms of the compact with regard to prices. There is a good disposition on the part of farmers to sell, but the pressure of farm work checks operations, although the market is increasing at point of activity. At the various points on the Milwaukee road, no change has taken place, 55c being still recognized as the outside figure.

Philadelphia Cattle Market, July 24.

The movement at the Cattle yards during the past week has been of an extremely limited character, but prices have been steady, and supplies are coming forward slowly. Buyers are holding off in the hope of supplying themselves at lower figures. About 1400 head arrived, and partly sold at 10@11c for common, 12@13c for extra, and 15@ 16½c for prime. The Cattle offered for sale represented Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

Cows and calves are unchanged. Receipts reach 200 head, and are selling within the range of previous quotations.

Sheep are active at another advance. Receipts reached 6000 head, with sales at 6@6½c per pound, gross, as in condition.

Hogs—At Henry Glass' Hog Yard the offerings were large, and purchases were freely made at 9½ @10 per 100 lbs nett. There was some movement at the Avenue Yard; about 600 head sold at the same figures.

RIVER INTELLIGENCE.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, and last evening the pier marks indicated six feet nine inches. The weather yesterday was cloudy and unsettled, with strong indications of a late rain in the day.

The Centralia, and J. R. Gilmore, from Cincinnati, and both with very good trips, constitute the arrivals since our last report. There were no departures since from the regular packets.

The Minerva, from Cincinnati, is the first boat due here from that point. The Alex Speer, and Phœnix were both announced to leave there for Pittsburgh on Tuesday.

The Urida arrived from Oil City, with a fair trip, having, among other items, 475 bbls of crude petroleum on board. The Lecluse, at the same point, were due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning. The Allegheny falling rapidly, and navigation between here and Oil City, for steamboats, at least, may be considered suspended.

Capt. John Gordon has named his new steamer the "Forest Rose," a very pretty name, and she is, indeed so, when finished, a very pretty boat. It is thought she will be ready for business in a few days, and Capt. Gordon, we understand, intends re-entering the Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Parkersburg trade.

The Onward left St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Monday last.

We regret to learn (says the St. Louis Democrat,) that Capt. Hugh Campbell, who met with a very severe accident while in command of the steamer Peyton, is recovering surely. He is in Jewe t Wilcox's hotel in Cairo, the St. Charles, and will, we learn, shortly be taken to St. Louis, he is pronounced out of danger.

The Clinton, Capt. Tomlinson, will positively leave for St. Louis to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The Amelia Poe, Capt. Thos. Poe, is filling up for a trip for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will probably be ready to leave to-day.

The Hard Times, Capt Brown, A. J. Haslett, clerk, is announced for St. Louis and all intermediate points forthwith.
