THE MATERIAL WANTS OF THE SOUTH. While New York, Philadelphis and Baltimore are each endeavoring to revive their old commer-cial relations with the South, and to obtain the largest possible share of its trade, there is a strange spathy opparent among the business men and sepecially the manufacturers of Pittsburgh on this subject. They have an opportu-Burgi on the surgers. A ney any on Surgers ally now to extend the market for their produc-tions, such as will never again be offered. The almost total absence of manufacturing industry at the South, made it impossible during the war to replace articles worn out or destroyed, and now there is an imperative demand for agricultural implements, machinery, mechanics' tools, iron, nalls, glass, and other things indispensably neeand, gain, and coart mines indispensably nec-essary, which must be met, if by the samidae of half their estates. Just such things as Plus-burgh makes are those most needed. The single item of plotghts which will be needed before next spring will amount to several millions. There is a chance here for enterprising young

There is a chance here for enterprising young men who are disposed to emigrate southward, for benefit at onzo themselves and this city. It might seem out of place for us to urge any men of that class to terre Fitzburght, but we are sat-isfied that their settling in the Scolb, with the purpose of there estiling in the Scolb, with the purpose of the form a world here for at and has purpose of introducing the various productions of this city into use, would be of great and last ing benefit. Would it not be well for some of our leading manufacturers and capitalists to take concerted action in this matter ?
