On what grounds their expectation of my carpetiency. Voting is a high and sacred the sair of omission, but is responsible for whatever evils may flow from his neglect. If the Democratic State ticket is elected, the fault will lie at the door of those who stay at home on election day, and then will justly fall the blame of whatever; bad results may flow. Let syery Union voter see to it that this duty which he owes to his country is consciention.

Plain way:

On what grounds their expectation of my darked at home during the last four years of the election, fighting the Government by word and ballot, plotting the death of friends and the overthrow of liberty; if my name was Vallandigham, Booth or Wirz they might have had a pretense; but I don't link the seen Belle Ise and Libby Prison, and as they (the Democracy) did not yield their support in my time of need, I refect their love now."

SOLDIERS AS DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES. -If the Democratic party was sincere in its hostility to the war during its progress, then the effect of their nominating Union soldiers for office, now that it is toyer, PERIOGEALIC SEWELS We string together, below, a few demcratic gems, which shine brilliantly without regard to the order of their setting. They show what the Democrats thought of the war while it was in progress :

"From the commencement of this conflict; nave entirely eschewed the word loyal, as naving no place in the vocabulary of a republican people. "Judge Davis, delegate at large rom Illinois, to the Chicago Convention." ABANDON CORRCION.

"If you would have peace, abandon the idea of coercion. From military appliances, lef us look to the arts of statesmanship."—C. L. Val-" RIBELING HESSIANE," "When the King of England was compelled to hire Hessians to come here and fight us, we whipped them. You cannot win victories with your thieling soldiers."—Senator Richardson, of IL.

DISURIOR PREFERED. "If I were called upon to elect between the freedom of the nigger and disunion and separation. I should choose the latter.— W. Stanbaugh, delegate from Ohio to Chicago Concention THE INVINCIBLE SOUTH. "He he ever uttered a prayer, it was, that not one of the States of time. Union should be conquered and subjugated. We were told that we would conquer the rebellious States. They could not be conquered, and the prayed flood that they never might be."—C. Observing Burk. BEFORE AND AFTER. The following & e.a. few fof the choice phrases applied to our soldiers before the rebellion was put down, and since: "Look of Despotism, " "Butchers."

"Kinions of an Abolition Dictator," "Lincoln Pups "..." Lincoln hirelings." "The hrave soldiers of the Republic"

In view of this difference in expression how neatly comes in the quotation: "Methinks thy voice is altered; and thou speak's in better phrase and matter than thou didst." We notice that several Democratic papers are making war upon this law, and declare that election officers cannot, under our State iswes, refuse the votes of these men thus rendered in famous. This shows that the deserters and sheddlers will all vote the Democratic ticket if they get a chance; and we have thus an additional and very strong reason why no honest man should be found in company with them. A ticket which they can vote cannot be worthy of any loyal man's vote.

The election laws of Pennsylvania were made for "Citizens" of the United States, and none but "citizens" have the right to vote. These deterries and skulkers voluntarily deprived.
