Kit i Linkhorn and John Wilson were arraigned on a charge of robbery, preferred by John Rose. The defendants are charges with burgiariously entering plaintiff's house on the evening of the 25th of June, and stealing a silver watch and a quantity of bread and butter.

The evidence is purely circumstancial. None of the family were in the house at the time of the robber, which was first discovered by Mrs. How on the robber, which was first discovered by Mrs. How on our circuming home from a visit to a neighbor. The defendants had been seen waking along the road aquarter of an hour previous to the robbery, and were met afterwards on the road by some parties and accused of it. One of them had been observed to atop down, as though dropping something, and the watch was afterwards found in the same place. Another circumstance tending to establish their guils was the fact that one of them, safer their arrest, was seen to straithly drop a chisel while in a store to which they not been taken. Jury ont. The man was standing on the rear platform of the last car, and the train was going at the rate of about twenty miles an hour. It is supposed that he got on the train for the purpose of going to Wood's run station, ruder the impression that the train stopped there, and finding that it did not stop he jumped off. He fell sgainst a large stone, and bounding over doubled up sgainst a tree. He was frightfully injured, his clost being crushed in. The first Accommodation train from New Brighton was just on the way up, and Dr. Dickton, (who happened to be on the train) got off and examined the man, but he was then in a dying condition. Coroner Clawson has been notified of the occurrence, and will hold an injugist.

Spectators in the Criminal Court. The room of the Court of Quarter Sessions The room of the Court of Quarter Sessions has been densely crowded ever since the opening, both inside and outside the bar, and the great mass of those in attendance are present merely as speciators. They watch the proceedings with as much interest as though they were witnessing some exciting drams. The anticipation that is one one of the many horrible marders on the docket may soon be taken up, doubtless attracts numerous visitors, but it is nevertheless apparent that, notwithstanding the alleged scarcity of laborers, there are many lidle persons in the city. If the present rush to the Court room continues, it will be next to impossible for partices having business there to get around, especially when the homicide cases come on for trial.
