I did not hear my one say that Frecke had made a confession. Seth Wilmot, police officer, was recalled, and testified to Freeke, claiming after his arrest one of the mindred man's trunks. A photograph taken of the murdered mun, taken whilst exposed for identification at the Mayor's office, was exhibited. Marchall was realled, and the picture being showing him, he ald "that's the pary man!" Marchall was then remanded to prison. Marchail was then remanded to prison.

EVIDENCE OF MARCHAIL'S INDOTHER.

Alichard, Marchail, worn—I reside in New York, and am a brother of B. B. Marchail. My brother and Freeke were in New York in August last for six or seven days. When they were inarting. I wont down to the boat. They left about seven a videok in the evening. Hon. Henry A. Weaver, sworn.—Was present at the Major collect on Sunday, Soptember 24th, when Marchilland Frecke were there. (Watch of the murdered man shown). This watch was exhibited to Frecke by the Mayor; Frecke recognized it quickly, and said it belonged to the stranger who had come with them in the cars, from Fhiladerbia, His recognition was adjulct that it was surgested that the watch be placed in his hands; he then examined it, and said he identified it by a pivot. THE RING OF DECEMBER.

Lewis Stoker was called, and the District Attorney effered to corroborate by him Marchall's estatement about the lass of a ring at Distler's saloon.

Mr. Miller, for the defense, objected. No evidence has as yet been introduced that the ring belonged to the murdered man, and therefore that now offered is not relevant: fore that now offered is not relevant.

The District Attorney said he offered it simply as a corroboration of a statement by Mr. Mar-Exhaustrict Attorney said he offered it simply as a corroboration of a statement by Mr. Marchall.

The Court's aid evidence as to any other outside circumstance might be offered.

District Attorney-On this ring there are infinial, the same as contained in a book offered the evidence yesterday, and identified as being found among the murdered man's effects. We will withdraw the offer for the present.

Ex-Mayor Weaver recalled.—I saw this ring before. At the Mayor's office it was shown to Freeke, and the onestion asked him whether it Mr. Miller—Do you speak German? Wilness—No sir.

MraMiller—Then I object to witness testifying, the prisoner having spoken in German.

Objection sustained.

John P. Moesner, sworn—I am one of the police, I speak German, I was present when this ring was shown thin. He said he thought is belonged to the markered man.

Cross-examination—I believe this is the ring; d. not look spaticularly and the letters on it. To Mayor asked Frecke the question, and Mr. Bonnherstrapated it. In German. Freeke aid he believed the ring was the murden deans. and he believed the ring was too murden a ranks.

The Commonwealth here rested their case.

THE DEPRISE ALIBI.

Mr. Siebeneck opened the case for the defense. It never had been this tot before to be engaged in the trial of a man for so horrible to the crime as that tharged, and sever was he more upprepared. The circumstances surrounding the defense rendered it impossible for the pristing the defense rendered it impossible for the pristing and doing the largest share of the deed, by a man who had been his friend. His decident that he had received an education, from the fact that he crass education from the fact that he crass education from the fact that he crass education, from the fact that he crass education from the fact that he crass ed from which a secret grunge arons. The subject of taking the trunks of goods to New York was subsequently introduced, and Marchall offered Freeke. If he would accompany him, one-half of what was derived from the sale of the plunder. They went to New York, the goods were sold, and Marchall put the maney in his pocket. The result of this was a quarted in Philadelphia, which was witnessed by the mandered etranger. Upon striving at Pittsburgh Precks went inmediately to Militr's house and slept in the same room with Mr. and Mrs. Miller: At five o'clock in the morning Marchall "came in, his shirt drenched with blood. He asked for a shirt. Freeke, thereupon, told Mrs. Miller that if anything had happened to the stranger, who came with them from New York, Marchall had done it. Marchall subsequently gave 'Erecke forty dollars, said said if he 'blowed' on him ha would have him hanged. The trunk was a present from Marchall, who had told him all about the murder, whee, where and how I w as committed. It took place, not between tern and cleven o'clock, but in the morning between three and four o'clock. The defense was diffe, which counsel had been advised could be catablished by counsel had been advised could be catablish Miller and his wife.

counsel had been advised could be established by Millier and his wife.

Extractis Miller, (brought in from prison) sworn—Frenches lived with me four months, Heard in the moraing from Frecks of the murder. An Irishwoman also told me of it. Frecks came to pay house on the night before about tea minutes after ten; heard the bell ring at the depot. It was about eleven o'clock by my clock, but my clock was half an hour or three quarters of an hour too fast. He came to the door and I struck a light. Saw no blood about his clothes. He slept in a room near me. Saw Frecke about ats o'clock next morning; at the same time saw Marchail blacking his shoes in the door, Saw no blod on him. I heard no talking between them. Marchail blacked his shoes with my blacking; Idd not like that. About ten o'clock Frecke came and told me of the man being killed in the brick, yard. He wanted me togo up and see him, and said if the man was a stranger Marchail hat killed him, and took his gold watch. He came back again and said it was another man, a men out of town, who had been killed.

Cross examined—I am in juli; have been out or town, who had been kined.

Cross examined—I am in jail; have been there about three weeks. It was after ten o'clock when Frecke came to my house. Mycleck was one-half hour too fast anyhow. I told the Mayor that when Frecke came to my told the Mayor that when Freeke came to my house it was about eleven o'clock; did not say it was after eleven o'clock. Freeke did not offer me any money to get him out of, this job.
There is a one armed soldier in the call with me named Howeli.

Mr. Kirkpatrick—Did Freeke not offer you money to pay off the least on your house if you would come in and swear that he (Freeke) was in your house at ten o'clock on the night of the marder, or words to that effect?

Mr. Miller—We object. It is not cross-examination.

objection overruled.
The District Attorney repeated the question more explicitly.
The witness replied that Freeke did not offer him money for the purpose stated.
By the court—Where were you when Freeke came to your house? By the court—Where were you when Frecke came to your house?

Witness—I was in bed, and the lights were all out. Did not hear the clock strike after going to bed. Went to bed about half past eight o'clock, but dould not alsep. Did not hook at the clock before Freeke came in. Was atting in the window when the bell at the depot rang, and about in minutes after my dog made a fuss, and Freeke came to the door. I made a light Can't tell what the time was by my clock.

Mrs. Miller, aworn—Was at home in bed when Freeke came to our house. I had been sleeping Did not look at the clock.

REDUTTING TESTIMONY: Mayor Lowly re-called—Miller made a statement to me, shout Freeke coming to his house. He said it was fifteen or twenty minutes after eleven o'clock:

William Herries, sworn—Heard Miller make several statements about the time Freeke came to his house. Once he said it was in the neighborhood of eleven o'clock, and at another that he did not know anything about it.

William Howell, sworn—Occupy a cell in the prison with Miller. Heard conversations with Fricke and Miller, in German. I do not understand German, but got the run of the story.

Mr. Miller objected to witness detailing the conversation, as he was not familiar with the german language. Objection sustained.

German language. Objection sustained.

GLOSE OF THE CASH.

Mr. Miller said that in the proper discharge of his duty, he did not think it necessary to make an arcument to the jury. He asked the court, however, to charge the jury, asked the court, however, to there it is not he matter of the corroboration of Marchall as an accomplice.

District Attorney Khikpatrick: replied briefly ching different authorities on the question refer to to by Mir. Miller, to show that the jury could accuping the evidence of an accomplice if uncomposited. The District Attorney repeated vendoric of the junt—Exciting scrue.

The jury retired at fifteen minutes before three o'clock, and returned after an absence of forty minutes. Having called their names, the Clerk said:

Prisoner, stand up. (Turning to the Jury.)
Haveyou agreed opon a verdict? Who shall say for you?

Seve rai Jurors—Our Foreman.
Clerk—Gentlemen of the Jury, look upon the prisoner. In this issue joined between the Commonwealth and Angust Frecky, the prisoner at the bar, how say you, the guilty of the felony for which he stands indicted, or not guilty?

Foreman—Guilty.
Judge Sterrett—Gentlemen, it is necessary for you to name the degree.
Foreman—Guilty in the First Degree.
The prisoner, who remained standing, turned to one of his counsel, Mr. Siebeneck, who said to him: Die Geschwevenen haben Sie Shulding befunden. The Jury have found you guilty.
Frecke received this announcement with ascendshment, and was with difficulty restrained by his counsel.
Clerk—Gentlemen of the Jury, hearken to your verdet as the Court have recorded it. In Clerk—Gentlemen of the Jury, hearken to pur verdict as the Court have recorded it. In this issue joined between the Commonwealth and Auguste Freeke, the prisoner at the bar, you say that he is guilty of murder in the first degree, and so say you all.

The prisoner now gave vent to his feelings, and said in a loud tone. Schuldig! (Guilty) Ich bin so unschaldig wie unser Herr Jesus Christus an Kreutze: teh muss unschuldig jeden. I am as innocent as was our Livid Jesus Christ. on the cross. I have to suffer innocently.

He then threw himself upon his seat in the box, and furying his face in his handkorchied, wept most bikterly. Blood was observed issuing from his nostrils.

The Court said—Let the prisoner be remanded. The box was opened, when Frocke was assisted out. As he passed serosy the court-room towards the door, he gesticulated volcanity, and placing his hand to his breast, said:

"Gott is mein Zeige, job bin unschuldig. God is my witsess, I am an imnocent man."

Exciting Affair at Titusville.

On Sunday evening of last week, two men entered the grocery store of Mr. Schlewa, at Titusville, and called for cider. Upon being supplied with the beverage, one of them pretended to have a fit, and George Aaron, the clerk in attendance, immediately proceeded to re-Aron's pecket of $300 in each. The recompress the made a hasty exit from the store, running towards the railroad depot. About lifteen minutes afterwards, Mr. Aaron discovered that the had been robbed and immediately proceeded to the depot, where he met two officers, who reported that two mere answering the description of the robbers had just passed them and gone up the track. The tro immediately started in pursuit, and while passing a freignt ear, they heard a smother al cough. Examination disclosed a man crouching in the corner of the car. Examination disclosed a man crouching in the corner of the car. Upon being summoned to surrender, the man raised his arm, and instantly a sound followed that resembled the cilck of a pistol. The man turned, leaped from the car, and started on a ran. He was immediately shot in the stde by one of his pursuers, but proved to be the wrong man. The cuspitlous circumstances however; under which he was found and his inability to give a satisfactory account of himself, determined the authorities to hold him for anther developments. The man was but slightly wounded, the ball having grazed his side and produced only a fiesh wound. Mr. Aaron, accompanied by two police officers, started again rext morning on the carly train for Corry, and while stopping at Spartansburg depot, discovered the bullet of their search in the persons of the five rothers, who, were immediately taken into custody, and $180 of the money recovered.

Trunk Found.—A small trunk, containing a quantity of clothing, consisting of a few articles of laddes' wear, together with a pair of pants and other clothing, was found yesterday in a cornided in Pitt township, then Penn street. The trunk also contained two papers—one of which was a receipt to Win. King for rent, £4 2s. and the other is receipt from the Wigan Gas Company. A German testament was also found near where the trunk was discovered. Wigan, is a city is England, and the trunk was doubtless the property of an Englishman. How the trunk came to be deposited in this out-of-the-way place, is a mystery upon which it is to be hoped-some light may be thrown. The papers and testament have been left at the Mayor's citics for the purpose of identification.
