Couls Robert Fulton arise from his grave, and Coula Robert Fulton arise from his grave, and witness to what perfection the conception of his brain has been brought, he would start with astonishment at the wonderful spectacle. The steam engine has been introduced into almost every mechanical department of the age. Not. only are they called into requisition in manufactories, mills, and as a propelling power by land and by water, but even the domestic arrangement of some of our principal hotels and other public buildings, is considered incomplete, unless the ald of the mighty agent steam is called into requisition. Meals are cooked by steam; laundry's worked by steam, and in fact it appears as though eventually every thing had te give place to the mighty agency of steam.

The Daquesne Works, owned by Capt. Jas. Rees, are situated on the corner of Daquesne way and Hay street. They were established by the present proprietor in the year 1854. The building at that time was small compared with the one now used. The present works cover an area, extending 120 fect on Daquesne way, by 165 feat on Hay street, the front building being four stories in helgh; and the back building three stories high. The blacksmith shop has a front of 24 fect, by 72 fect deep. This department has dwe forges, and room for three more. The foundry is 50 feet wide by one handwed feet long, having two blast cupfels of a capacity of 5 five tons cach, the blast being supplied by a Kinsey fan blower from New York, which is driven by an independent engine. The foundry is supplied by two power fal cranes, each capable of lifting twenty tons. Fire pluces with reals of hose are placed at convenient distances around the yard, so that in case of fire, they can be used at a moment's warning.

The original building had a front of but for ty eight feet, but diving the summer of 1863 the establishment was burned, and since than it has been very much improved and has been englishment, was burned, and since than it has been very much improved and has been englishment for the storing of metal, and other purp witness to what perfection the conception of his rain has been brought, he would start with asspecies of work connected with engine building.
The increasant bammering, the screech of the planers and drills, and the dull, heavy rumbling of the turning machines, was absolutely deafening, while the busy forms of the men, as they moved to and fro, guiding and regulating the planers and drills, and the dull, heavy rumbling of the turning machines, was absolutely deafening, while the busy forms of the men, as they moved to add fro, guiding and requisiting the machinerys presented a spectacle that would have to be seen to be appreciated. Ascending to the second story, we were met by Captain Rees, who upon being infermed of our business, cheerfully accorded us all the loformation that he could, upon so short rotice, we not having notified him of our intended visit. In the lower room through which we had just passed were six borling and turning lathes, used for boring out the cylinders of engines and other work, and for furning the iron pillars, columns, shafts, or other species of iron work needed in the completion of a job. Here are also to be found two planers, and two drills, for planing off the surfaces of the metal, and for drilling the bolt and any other holes that may be necessary. Two sives cutting machines are also to be seen in this department, arranged with tapes and dies nitable for cutting any size thread. In the second story, we find five more boring and turning lathes for lion work, besides two lathes in the pattern shop for turning wood; and at different places throughout the establishment, we cannot dixteen vices, each with a busy occupant.

If the pattern shop, which is in the third story, if quite a prominent feature in the business. It contains five benches, and it is here that all patterns used in the works are made. The value of the patterns at present on hand will amount to about $12,000, although at the fire wo years ago, Captain Rees sustained a loss in patterns alone, of about $11,000. The rooms for the storage of patterns are into the thind story of the mach building or new addition. In the second tory of the new addition, extensive preparations re being made for additional machinery. The shafting and bedit wheels or drives the machinery in the new addition and also in the blacksmith chop, is a very handsome burizontal engine not have so the same one that wa

At a meeting of the South Pittsburgh School Board, last evening, Mr. Henry G. Squires was unanimously elected Principal of the school of that berough, vice Mr. George N. Monroe, resigned. Mr. Squires was recently Principal of the school of the Fourth Ward of Allegheny of the school of Cross Suits.—Alderman Johns, of the Seventh Waid entertained a complaint of David Williams against Mary Howells, for disorderly conduct, and after a hearing discharged her on payment of costs. Feeling aggrieved at her persecution, and satisfied that she had been more sinced against then sinning, she made an information against Williams, for disorderly conduct, and a warrant was issued by the Alderman for his arrest. The Hazlep Rape Case.—In our notice The Hazlep Hape Case.—In our notice, resterday, of the disappearance of the prosecutor of Captain Hezlep, for attempting to out age a child, we estated that an indictment had been found by the Grand Jury. In this we erred, No bill has yet been found, and cannot be without the presence of the prosecutor. A process has been issued for his arrest, and officers have been looking for him for several days. Mrs. Grinder, the Alleged Poisoner.—
The Grand Jury, yesterday, returned an indictment for murder against Mrs. Martha Grinder, in the case of Mrs. Caruthers, whose death is attributed to poison, administered by Mrs. G. With the particulars of this case, the readers of the Gazeft must be familiar, having been given at length in our columns. It is probable that the case will be taken up next week. looking for him for several days. Put into the Costs.—Thomas Richardson was prosecuted for malicious mischief, but the Grand Jury having returned the bill ignorumus, the prosecutor, Thomas Graham, was called to Countyresterday afternoop, and being prosent, he was, as directed by the Grand Jury, required to pay the costs. to pay the costs. Taken Over.—Edward Flanigan, whose conviction and sentence for larceny is noticed class where, was taken to the Penitentiary yester day afternoon. From Yesterday's Evening Gazette. Court of Quarter Sessions. FRIDAY, Oct. 13.-Before Judges Sterrett a raigned on a charge of adultery, preferred by Robert Montgomery. The testimony went to show that the defendant, who has a wife living except so far as an exception is made as regards, entrances and windows, the building having been erected with a view to a pientiful supply of light and ventilation. The entrance to the yard is between the office and the foundry. The office is a very neat sflatt, looking something like a small banking honse, and over it, rooms are fitted up for draughtamen.

We entered the building from Hay street, and found ourselves in an extensive machine shop, filled with workmen engaged on almost every species of work connected with engine building. The lacessant hammering, the screech of the planers and drills and the fall. Never working public. The grading and emoansment has been completed, and the water pipe laid. Workmen are busily engaged upon the building, and the latter will be ready for occupancy within thirty days. This fine Park is located on Tremont street, Second ward, about forty yards from the track of the Allegheny and Manchester street resilway, on Western avenue. The grounds comprise at and three quarter acres, enclosed by a tight fance eight feet high. The buildings comprise an entrance hall, ladies' saloon and dressing room, gentlemen's saloon, rafreshment saloon, skate room and ticket office. The managers intend to render the Park just such a place as the gentlemen and ladies would with it to be; where they can enjoy the fascinating and invigorating exercise of skating, free from any of those physical or moral difficulties which are incurred on the river, at a moderate expense, within the reach of every family. The dayth of water will be such as to render danger from that source impossible; and the surface of the Park, during the season, will be kept amooth as gless by artificial means—such as flooding over night, and by the use of the lee plane and brooms. We hall the dawning era of skating parks as a step in the right direction.

We are rejoiced to observe that this Associa tion is actively at work, through its standing committees, and promises to furnish the young men of Allegheny a comfortable, commodious and well-furnished hall, where they will find ample intellectual entertainments, during the ample intellectual entertainments, during the approaching winter.

The line Central Hall so liberally dedicated by Councils, to the use of the Library Association, is now being fitted up for the use of the membership. Case and shelves to receive the two or three thousand volumed of bound books which compose the nucleus of the interty, are now now being but up. The Hall has been neally carpeted and furnished with deske, tables and chairs. The committee have made arrangement, to place on their tables and flies, all the leading newspapers, the monthles and quarterities, and to furnish members with all new publications, as they are issued from the press. The Lecture committee are also in correspondence with some of the ablest public lecturers in the country, and expect to furnish the Alleghenv public with a course of entertaining and hastractive lectures, will encourage this effort to promote the moral, intellectual and social condition of the public.

an instance where a party building a steamboat in Cincinnati, came to this city, and offered him a bonus of one thousand dollars, over what he could have procured the same engines for in that city, to build a pair of engines for his boat. This may appear improbable, but it is nevertheless true. Captain Rece had Riced out a steamboat for the party referred to once before, and he was so well pleased, that notwithstand, the hull and cable of his boat were being built at such a distance, he came all the way here to be supplied with his machinery. He has also built five boats for the United States Government, of the class known as tin clads. He takes contracts for building steamboats conplete, from the hull up, or will furnish the machinery seperate, of any size or style. He has constantly employed—independent of their assistant—three wood-worksen, to put up machinery on board of steamboats. His bar, rod, strap, and other iron is always bought in large quantities, so, that it is procured at the lowest prices.

Trior to the war, Capt. Rece was pretty extensively engaged in the manufacture of sugar mills nor the plantations of Loulsians, and he is now repaired to receive any and ail orders for the same branch off manufacture. PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET Fu:DAT, Oct. 13, 1868.
CRUDE—The market for Grude was painfully qui-CRU DE—The market for 'Grude was painfully quiet to-day, the reported sales amounting in the aggregate to only one hundred and trabarrels, the lightest day's operations we have had for some months. There is no sbatement in the demand but buyers are holding off, hoping that by so doing, they will be enabled to break the market, as well as prices. This seems to be the policy in the East, both in regard to Crude and Refined, as we are assured that orders are in the hands of exporters, and they are not filling them for the reasons already mentioned. We have but two sales reported to-day, two lots of fitty harrels, each at 35 cents, biblis included. Quotations may be fairly given at 3053, biblis returned, and 354, 56, biblis included. A private telegram from (iii City to-day reports Crude firm at $0.50310 at the wells, and $0.503 at the mouth. The Supply of Hogs in the West.

There is a very buoyant feeling in all articles of provisions, and there seems to be a disposition to increprices up to the highest figures of last year, on the ground that stocks are less now than they were last feetoner, and the nog crop, it is argued, will be less than in 1804. Whether this theory about the supply of hogs is correct or not, it is certain that prices are iooming up, and, with the feeling that now prevails, they would supply the packing season were opened, at 160 letter now and the middle of opened, and packers who are smarting under not prevail and the properties of last season, and revoil at the theory of the prevails of the supply of hogs, we should think it infation may culminate in time to give them the advantage when the packing season opens. In regard to the supply of hogs, we should think it hardly asfe to calculate very extensively on any great failing off in the cruply productive animals, especially for a stimulated by high prices and a large order of orn. But however this may turn out.
