THE EVIDENCE.

Dr. George McCook, sworn—Made a mai morium examination of the body of James Weiss, on the 33d/br March last, on Boyd's Hill, Eighth ward. I found no external lolury. Upro opening the abdomen found the bidder bursted; and the infestines; from other evidences of violence, is a state of decomposition; all this must necessarily have been examed by some violence. A stream with the stomach would very large till, but not necessarily chief the plantile a rup-time of the bidder; a very violent left in the region of that organ would rupture it. Death would result from such indigry in from wound or injury while if could'say was the result of violence, but the stomach or bladder more produced from the country as the result of violence, but the stomach or bladder can be produced from attended on think can that it resulted from distension. Mrs. Mary Weish, (widow of deceased.) tastified that her husband died on the day before the Cornear's inquist. I was present when my husband was dying; about a quarter of an hour before he died he sold he sold. A woman, Mrs. Parker, who lived next door, had given him edrick of water, and taked him where I was. He said I was not there. I then went right before him, and said who san I. He and 'You are my wife, and my near it a simost broke to part with you and my children." I taked him if he water the right he did, 'just now."

The witness had been cantioned hot to state anything but what tended to show the decease?'s knowledge of the fact that he was going to die, and at this point the District Attorney officed to prove the "dring declaration." Jir. Swarter weider objected, on the ground that it did not appear sufficiently clear that the deceased was fully sware of his appressing discolution. The Court overfulet the objection. Court took a recess of an hour.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Court re-assembled as the usual hour, when Mrs. Welch continued her testimony as to the state of the stat demiroes. He hald no more, but told me lo write heme to his fatter and mother that he was killed.

Mayor Lowry was next colled and testified to admissions made to him by the prisoner. He said Morrow stated to him that Welab, the deceased, was at Love's, very drunk, playing a game for the drinks, and some one had stolen his (Welab's) or Battle's pipe; that Battles was drunk and said he could whip the one who had stolen the pipe, and attempted to assault a friend of hierow's; that Welab jumped up and got into an alteration with McLaughlie; that he (Horrow) interfered to separate them, and did separate them; that they immediately came together again, and that Welah acaused him conditions again, and that Welah acaused him together again, and that Welah acaused him together again, and that Welah acaused him together again, and the he had that he thought but ones, that a stand had been uped and was partially between them; asked him where he keleded him, asked he could not sell where, might have been on the leg and might have been on the saide. This was about the amount wilnerstand that the prisoner had told him. When arrested he did not strain amount a legal to the law agame he did give.

Cutting Affray Among Soldiers. On Monday night a rather serious affray e-curred amongst the soldiers, or Provost Guard-stationed at the Girard House. It appears that some four or five of them were in a saloon, on Third street, enjoying their " beer." when two nhers, one of them the second sergeant, came in and picked a quarrel, the result of which was the very serious wounding of one with a knife, receiving a severe cut on the neck, near the "jugular;" and another in the face. The Lieutiant in command was promptly on hand and without the aid of the police quelled the disturbance and took into enstody the belligerents. ance and took into enstody the belligerents. They were taken to "quarters" in the Girard, and an investigation was at once entered into by the Lieutenant. Those who were instrumental in causing the quarrel, were closely confined, and will be sent to Philadelphila, with "charges" for trial by Court-martial. The soldiers of Many in this city, are of the 6th Regiment of Hancock's Istroorpe, and although they have been here for several months, this is the first time we have found occasion to note any breach of discipline and good order. The prompt action of the Lieutenant is desawing of commendation, and might serve as on example to some of cut police on occasions of breaches of the peace.

A Mysterious Case. Night before last the residents of O'Hara striet, between Liberty and Penn, were roused from their beds at a quarter past ten o'clock by be cases of marder. On looking from their windows they saw two men attacking a third, grhom they knocked down and robbed, and as the Mayor's office, but no one knew anything saboul it.

One policenan told us, in very emphstic language, that it was all a danned lie. But we had the testimony of nearly half a dozen witnesses who saw the entrage. Now, who was the man that was hurt, who were the policenen who took him sway? Where was be taken men who took him sway? Where was be taken too? Who were the near who attacked him! And why cannot some of the police answer to a civil manner, when they are asked a civil question? Villany stalks rampan, when him to work in formation from some of the officers, they either assume a wise look, as though to say, "we are working the case up, and do not want the facts published," or the they are downright uncivil. This is not the case with all, but only with a few, and when these few make anything by their release, may we be there to see.

The Alleged Infanticide Case. OPTERA HOU.E.—The Sylph like M'lle Zoe, where brauty and grace are the thome of every tongue, appeared again last night in the "Angel of Midnight," a piece in which she sastained four characters, viz: Angel of Midnight, Love, Revenge and Death. There is a peculiar grace in Mile Zoe's movements which renders her fascinating, and there is just enough foreign accent in the musical voice to complete the charm. To-night, she appears in the "Braken Sword; or, the Boy Avenger," and the "Mountain Derth." If you wish to see the -personification of grace, go to the Opera House, and see Zoe.
