LETTER FROM ITALY.

ce of the Pittsburgh Gazette. FLORENCE, October 15th, 1865. We are now within a week of the period fixed for the general elections, and within a mouth of the meeting of the new Legislature—the latter being the latest moment to which I propose prolonging my stay here, in order to give you aders some account of the installs physicenomy of the second Italian Parliament. much respecting the probable result of the elec-tions, because the time was evidently not yet on which to found them. Naw, however, the rase is different, and the electoral movement he assumed a form and vivacity which enables even a stranger, who is looking on, to appreciate it with more confidence. Still, however, I must in a great measure confine myself to general conclusions. To do otherwise, indeed conclusions. To do otherwise, indeed, or enter into minute details, would be to carry little information to American or even European readers. There are, as yet, but very few Italian statistics an elegislators, or politicians whose names are of world-wide repute, and it would serve little purpose for me to mention those of a hundred candidates, whose designation would constitute of the contraction of the cont little purpose for me to mention those of a hundred candidates, whose designation would convey no meaning save to a local ear.

I ahall begin, then, by simply saying, first, that the universal impression now is, that the opinions and chances of the moderate liberal party in Italy, and their candidates, are completely in the ascendant. The septitur to this statement of course, is that the ultra-liberals radicals or "party of action gaits one court, and at all ly in Italy, and their candidates, are compissed in the ascendant. The sepulitry to this statement of course, is that the ultra-liberals, radicals or "party of action coute que coute, and at all risks, as well as the reactionary and clerical party, or peri (blacks) as they are called, are in a decided minority. But of these two, the last meculened is supposed to have the better chance to be likely to succeed in placing several representatives among the Electoral College of the South of Italy and Sicily. In Piedmont and Lombardy, they will be allocether repudiated, and to I think they will attempt to ran a candidate even in Tuscany, though that is less certain. The result seems to be that this party cannot hope to form more than a small section of the new Chamber.

The expectations of the ultra-liberals are based chiefly upon the revival of the Provincial jealousles which existed to a certain degree after the death of Cayour, and the partial disorganization of the great moderate party of which he was the founder and the soul, and also upon the stilmulus given to those same[seilings by the subsequent change of capitol. This and other circumstances will give the "rods," as they are called in con-tradistinction to the "blacks," as better chance in the old Northern Provinces, and especially in Naples, where jealousy bursa with Southern fire. The most notable example, however, of the success of this party may possibly be at Turin, where M. Bottero, dilur of the Rosa, of pretty nearly the same color, and, assome any, with Garribald himself, though it is not thought the old here will accept the nomination. Clostini, editor of the Piritot, the organ of the Ultras here in Florence, is also spoken of for Turin. The celebrated "red" crater Bruffario is rery certain of re-election at Drone of.

The most important step of the Moderates in that which they have taken this very day, in Florence. The committee of shelr chief representative body, the "Liberal Association of Florence," has just published its list of candidates for the new capitol, accompanied by an address of most excellent tone. But the choice of men and the language used, are I think all that can be desired. The committee "recognizes with the research of the committee to the content of the committee the content of the content of the committee the content of the conten address of most excellent tone. Both the choice of men and the language used, are, I think, all that can be desired. The committee "recognizes with the greatest satisfaction, the development of political life throughout the country, and the action and serious laterest takes by the people in the coming election." All it pretends so do is tostudy the wishes and action of the Moderate party in Florence, and seek to secure its success; and on these grounds it proposes as its first two candidates, Baron Riessoli and Commander Perruris. The first named is one of Italy's world-wide celebrities, and therefore needs no comment of mine. The second is known bestas shaving signed the Convention of September, with France, an act which sufficiently devotes his policy. But it is the third nomination and its motives which rides the highest credit upon the Florentine Committee. Their eyes, they say, had naturally been turned for representatives upon men of their own State and city, But "s device had been employed by many of, the electors that Florence, in the eruing election, should pay a testimony of fratiruly and sympathy to Fulmont by the choice one of the illustrious political men of that Province to represent her in Parila ment." Not only did the Committee Itself at once raily to this truly and suppath to Fulmont by the choice of the Committee their and the substitute who with the will be and particule desire, but, to his great honor, the Marquis Garzoni, who was to have had the third nominashon, at once slaw withdrew his claims and gave to his adhesion to the proposal. In consequence of this wise and politic determination of the Moderate party, the well-known Piedmontese commander, Bucompagoe, the extraordinary commissioner sent

A man in Reading, a member of several lodges, is in the habit of serving late at night on committees. On Thursday night of issisted, week, his labors had a containing effect on his mental operations. At a very early hour in the morning he put a six shooter under his pillow and illumined his bed chamber dinnly with gas, as a precaution against burglars. During the preceding day his wife hung up on a nail, directly opposite the foot of the bed in the sleeping apartment, a pair of pants. a coat and rectly opposite the foot of the bed in the sleep-ing apartment, a pair of pants, a coat and a hat. His slumbers were disturbed. He heard something and was sure he saw a burglar at the foot of the bed. He called three times, to know his business there, and then fired two short at tire burgler, when his wife commenced scream-ing "murder," All the rest of the Immates of the house rushed into the room, and he pre-sently realized that he had fired a builet each through the tail of his coat and seat of his breeches hangley on s peg against the wall as

ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE. NATIONAL BANK STATEMENT MR. McPHERSON'S POSITION. Waval Court Martial

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 .- The leading journal have recently published a statement of the law verning the Clerk of the House of Representives in making up the roll for the organization of the next House, who construes that inso as to preclude him from placing on the rolls, any names of Representative elect from the ately rebellions States.

This statement they have incorrectly attribu ted to the Clerk himself. It was written by Mr Whitelow, Librarian of the House, for a west-ern journal with which, he is connected, but bere are sufficient reasons for believing that he faithfully and exactly states the vi-w of the aw on which the Clerk will act. law or which the Cierk will act.

It may therefore be considered as settled that in the organization of the House no members elect from the lately insurrectionary States will participate after the organization. Their cases will come up on the presentation of their credentials, and will doubtless be referred in due course to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. McPherson, himself, however, has published nothing on the subject and is not likely course to the Committee on Elections. Mr. McFherson, himself, however, has published nothing on the subject and is not likely to volunteer a printed explanation of his intended course, in advance. Treaties with Indian Tribes PRESTURNE INSTRUMENTS PARTICY

The Difficulty with England H. W. BEECHER AND THE PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 .- The Post's Washington special says: The quarterly report of Freeman Clark shows loans and discounts of the nationa backs to be four hundred and eighty-five mil dred and seventy-one millions. Individual deposits, four hundred and ninety-four millions Circulation of State banks about sixty millions The Herald's special says : A letter has been received at the indian Bureau from Fort Selly, dated October 10th. It states that while most favorable treaties have been consummated with soveral of the prominent tribes of that section, the council of all the Indians of Dacotah will soveral of the prominent tribes of that section, the council of all the Indians of Dacotah will necessarily have to be delayed until May or June next, oring to the lateness of the season, which is devoted to a grand hunt. All the tribes are represented as being anxious to treat with the Government Commissioners.

The Tribune's Washington special says: A number of colored men of Norfolk, Va., have combined and purchased a farm of one thousand acres for $10,000 on Currituck Sound, twenty miles from Norfolk. They expect to cut tup into forty farms of twenty-five acres each, The National Freedmen's Savings Bank already has deposits exceeding to a quarter of a million of dollars, and as the Government pays off the colored troops; the smount grows rapidly.

The Times' special says: Judge Fatterson, of Tennessee, United States Senator elect from that States, such his wife, daughter of fresident Johnson, the lady who does the honors at the White House, and their son, with Frankin Johnson, anout fourteen years of age, the youngest-son of the President, left on Monday night for Vermout, where it is intended to piace the boys in a University. night for Vermont, where it is intended to place the boys in a University. The distinguished party were in a special government car attached to the regular through train from Washington to New York.

A special Cablnet meeting was held at noon to-day. All of the members were present, There is little or no doubt that the Adams-Ruscil correspondence of the Alabama piracies were under consideration, and that the reply of Mr. Seward to Earl Russell was read at the meeting and was duly considered, though in some quarters it is declared that the dispatch to Minister Adams went out in to-day's steamer, The Par's Washington special cays: Rev. Henry Ward Beecher had an interview yesterday with the President. Mr. Johnson was very frank in his statement of his purposes and convictions. He declared that no State lately in rebellion ought to be permitted to reserve its status and position in the Union till they shall adopted the constitutional amendment, and provided to extend sisvery to the freedmen.

A special to the Wardlays; Orders were issued from the War Department under date of Oct. Eith to ramit the junreported portion of sentences of a number of enlisted men and others tried by Court Harlai upon various charges, to be imprisoned for a term of years.
