GROSS INJUSTICE.

In one of the meetings lately held in this city in aid of the freedmen, it was urged that contributions were needed because the confiscated or abandoned estates on which the freedmen have been living have been restored to their original owners, thus leaving the freedmen without present means of support.

The Southern ex-rebel insists that the negro shall work, but will not pay him for his labor; the legislatures of the Southern States insist that he shall not become a pauper, but refuse him the right to hold real estate; our own Government, whilst impressing upon him the importance of labor and the crime of idleness, takes away from him the farm on which he is making an honest living to give it to a white pauper who draws his rations regularly from the Government commissary; and he is finally told that he must be a good citizen, a model man, and obedient to the laws, whilst every potent influence in the South combines to deprive him of all possible means of becoming intelligent.

This is making bricks without straw. Why should so much be expected of the freedman, when so little is given him? He must work; only white men are allowed to become paupers, and the government reserves its rations of food only for those with fair skins. He must be industrious; only the white man is permitted to be idle. He must be chaste, sober, and a dweller at home; the whites have the monopoly of lasciviousness, intemperance and vagrancy. He must be obedient to the laws; the privilege of stealing and doing whatever you like belongs exclusively to the other race. And finally he must be prosperous and save up enough money to pay his fare to Africa as soon as possible, the boon of living in his native country belonging, of right, only to the Anglo-Saxon.

But this is not all. He must work without being paid for it; he must earn a living without being allowed to own real estate; he must possess all the virtues without being permitted to enjoy any political privileges; he must do as intelligent people do, but must not be allowed to acquire intelligence. In a few words, he must be a miracle of propriety, decency and industry, with none of the privileges or the rights of a man.

Now, we are not of those who look for effects without causes. If the negro is expected to behave as a man, he must have the rights of a man. If he is to earn his living, he must have a fair chance. Give him that, and he will take care of himself; but until that is done it is idle to expect impossibilities of him. He will do as well as other people under similar circumstances—no better and no worse.

The principal waiters at the public crib for rations of food, at this time, in the South, are whites. They constitute the bulk of the number of southern paupers. Yet all the advantages are on their side. They have the mass of the real estate of that region, and what little the negroes have will soon be taken from them, and given to the whites. They have the political power and the wealth of the South, and the control of its resources. He to whom much is given of him much will be required, is the scriptural and just rule; but the idea of a large class, just now, is to reverse this rule, and require much of him to whom nothing is given, and nothing from those who possess all.

VERY CLEVER.

The London Post says that England could not, while our war was pending, amend her neutrality laws without giving offense to one or other of the belligerents; but now, that the war is over she will unite with us in mutual legislation which shall, in the future, prevent the fitting out of privateers or armed vessels in the ports of either, during any time in which either may be engaged in war.

This sounds very plausible, but is too cunning, by half. England has had a whack at us, and is now afraid that we will pay her back when the chance offers. She is naturally anxious, therefore, to save herself from the retaliation she has provoked and deserves. Having enjoyed to the full the advantages to be gained by her glaringly defective neutrality laws, she wants to shut us out from the privileges of the lex talionis, and bind us to future good behavior as well as herself. It is with her "Heads I win, tails you lose."

We fancy that she will be sorely disappointed in this. When she makes reparation for the wrongs she has done our commerce, she can ask us to join in the enactment of a mutual neutrality law, and not before. Indemnity for the past must come before protection for the future. If she will not agree to this, then she must abide by her own example, and expect others to do to her as she has done to others. In domestic culinary science the same sauce serves for the goose as for the gander, and in national affairs the nation that gives blows has also a right to take them.

SOUTHERN EDUCATION.

The Vicksburg Herald, a fair specimen of the style of Southern newspapers, now prevalent, says:

"If any radical was ever black enough in his views, to suppose the people of Mississippi would endow negro schools, for their ilk to teach the rising chivalrous hatred of his former master, but best friend; then such chaps had better take to marching on with John Brown's soul—they will hardly reach the object of their desires short of the locality where John is kicking and waiting. The state has not opened them, nor has she the slightest idea of doing anything of the kind."

No man of sound judgement was ever foolish enough to suppose that the Bourbons of the South would educate either the poor whites or the blacks, or do anything except to grumble at and resist every progressive movement; and as this fact grows daily more clear, it becomes certain that Congress should refuse all political rights to such reactionists, and leave them as powerless to do evil as they are unwilling to do good.

NEW JERSEY.

The victory in New Jersey is complete. Governor and Legislature are both Republican, and these hold the political patronage of the State. The victory, however, is of greater value than this, for it includes the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment by the only Northern State that held out against it, and the redemption of a State in favor of the emancipation of the blacks, through the self-emancipation and disenfranchisement of the whites of that State. It is a moral triumph, therefore, as well as a political one, and we trust that the next States—Delaware and Kentucky—which followed New Jersey in her abasement, will follow her now into the light which has regenerated her.

SNYDERS AND TAMMANY.

Every body loves a good joke after election, and we have seen nothing better than the following, which we gather from a speech at Tammany Hall, New York, by Capt. Snyders, on the night of the election:

"It's one year since last I was in Tammany Hall; it's four years since I was ruled out. When Tammany Hall kept to pure Democratic principles, I kept with her; but when she went over to the Republicans, to defeat good Democrats, I quit the ranch. These men turned out the spoils to the Republicans, and it was no wonder that honest men quit them. Let Tammany Hall only get rid of the terrible load of corruption she carries, and be as good and pure as she was in the past, and all will be well. If she only does that, I am back again."

Well, Tammany must be very corrupt when even Snyders cannot put up with her. We hope the managers of that once famous society will reform sufficiently to bring them up, at least, to Snyders' standard.

Massachusetts Election.—The Boston Advertiser of Wednesday morning opens an editorial article of the election in Massachusetts as follows: "Probably nobody needs to look at the newspapers this morning to know that Hon. Alexander H. Bullock is elected Governor of Massachusetts, and that the Council and the rest of the executive department are all Republican; nevertheless we have deemed it our duty to put the vote of the State on record, as has been the custom from time immemorial."

The Boston Post on the morning after the election observes in this manner on the election in Massachusetts: "From returns up to a late hour last night, it appeared probable that Colonel Bullock had been chosen Governor, and a majority of Republicans to the Legislature—indeed, we should not be surprised if nearly all, possibly all, the Republican candidates on their State ticket have been elected."

One Other Result.—The election of Tuesday will be followed by many good results, but among them will be one not usually enumerated—it rids us of the Blair family. Frank Blair in Missouri, and Montgomery Blair in Maryland, have both been laid on the shelf. We shall doubtless hear of them often enough hereafter; but they can never more give us uneasiness unless they should return—which God forbid!—to a party that loathes them.

STATE NEWS.

Rev. Jonathan C. Gibbs, a full-blooded African, took part in the proceedings of the Presbyterian Synod, assembled in Lewisburg, last week. The Chronicle says he officiated in one of the churches, during the Synod, and preached a better sermon than can be preached by any man who has stigmatized the colored race as a connection between man and brute.

The Lancaster Express says: The furnace belonging to Christopher Geiger, near Graeff's Landing, in this city, has been sold to H. B. Thomas, of Philadelphia, for $225,000. Preparations are in progress to start up the furnace immediately. It is also in contemplation, we learn, to introduce another branch of the iron business in the city.

Two "social evils" were arrested in Titusville the other night for walking the streets at unseasonable hours, thereby annoying respectable citizens. They claimed that they came to the oil country to get married, which was evidently too true. They were locked up for the night, and given twenty-four hours to leave town.

There is a movement in the north-western part of Chester county and in some parts of Lancaster county, to have a survey made for a railroad to connect the Waynesburg Railroad with the Columbia and Reading Railroad. It is thought that there will be little difficulty in raising the amount to build the road.

Matthew Dill, Esq., teller of the First National (late Farmers' and Drovers') Bank of Waynesburg, Pa., died on Friday last, from a violent attack, which much resembled cholera. Mr. D. was an affable and christian gentleman, and had many friends in that section of the State.

The Mineral Journal, of Pottsville, is encouraging the Union men of Schuylkill county, to participate in the Congressional election next year. It says, we need redeem this district. Every Union man in it must feel that we are shamefully misrepresented.

The shock of an earthquake was distinctly felt in different parts of the county of Lancaster last Friday night. As far as reported, it was felt most severely at Marietta and Mount Joy. In "pollatoria" were shatter in those united in that county on the 17th of last September.

The Indiana Register says: Last week Mr. Charles Cougers, living adjacent to this place, sold seven head of horses—two 4-years old, one 3-years old and four 2-years old—for the sum of $1,310.

A new Union School House was dedicated in Sharon, Mercer county, last Tuesday. Prof. J. A. Cooper, Principal of the State Normal School, delivered an address on the occasion.

Mr. John McWilliams has purchased a half interest in the Indiana True American. That paper will hereafter be conducted by Messrs. Hall & McWilliams.

A sanguine correspondent of the Oil News puts down the prospective population of Oil City in 1870 at 30,000, with an annual business of $40,000,000.

The Presbyterian congregation of Clearfield will commence the erection of a new church edifice in that town early next spring.

Rev. Mr. McKeehan, of Washington county, has been holding quite a successful series of revivals meetings at Washburg.

We hear that hard coal is selling at Pittsole at $21 per ton.

It is estimated that 600,000 barrels of oil will be shipped from Oil City this season.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

A paper published in Texas, under the the title of the San Antonio Express, after declaring its principles and purposes, concludes as follows: "We can almost read our duty in three lines—First, Educate the people; second, Give dignity to labor; third, Plant upon immovable foundations the liberty of speech and of the press. Do these, and all things shall be added unto us."

This bill of fare at a Paris restaurant announces for the benefit of English patrons, that there can be obtained there: "Mutton, with sauce of sharpness, according to bigness."—"Ham, lean with sorrel"—"Beefsteak with tumbled potatoes"—"Lamb's epigrams, with small peace."

Mr. Aaron Kelley has brought suit against the election board of his ward, in Wheeling, because they would not permit him to vote without taking the test oath. He lays his damages at $10,000.

The Ohio State Journal has again changed hands, having been sold by Wm. T. Coggeshall & Co. to James M. Comly, G. W. Bobey, and S. M. Smith, of Columbus.

The sheep fever in Vermont continues. A ram lamb was lately sold for $1,000, two yearlings for $2,500 each, and another for $2,000.

It is proposed to erect factories and make a village on the site of Camp Dennison, near Cincinnati.

The students of Yale have organized a temperance society. The society numbers 150.

The cotton mills of Newburyport, Mass., have increased the wages of operatives ten per cent.

San Francisco has 59 policemen, and pays them $125 apiece a month.

Six hundred and thirty-six buildings have been put up in Cleveland within the past year.

The Negro Insurrection in Jamaica.—The State Department has received a dispatch from the United States Consul at Kingston, Jamaica, under date of October 16th, in which he alludes to the serious insurrection of the negro population of that island. There are on the island about 400,000 inhabitants, of whom only 10,000 are whites, about 75,000 mulattoes, and 315,000 blacks. The consul expresses the belief that the present outbreak has been long contemplated, and is intended to be a war of extermination against the whites, and the great disparity of numbers gives the former a great advantage. They have, too, chosen a time when there are but few English troops on the island—about six hundred, and these happen also to be first class English war steamer there. The consul suggests that an American war steamer be dispatched to that port.—Washington Star.

Going in Washington County.—A correspondent from Clarksville, Green county, informs us that in sinking the well of the Tenmile Oil Company, at that place, a quartz rock, similar to the one on Dunkard, was struck at 900 feet, and proved to be the first oil rock. One scientific friend, Dr. A. Patton, President of the company, at this time pronounced it "gold and put some of the specimens to the test of acids of the greatest power, which destroyed the quartz, but had no effect upon the metal."

This fixes the fact that Washington county is not behind our neighboring county in the precious metal. We hope our Ten Mile friends will not be slow in developing the real value of their "quarts."—Washington Review.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7, 1865.

PROCLAMATION.—THE ASIATIC CHOLERA has at length visited our Atlantic shores, and although I would not excite unnecessary alarm, yet, in view of the stern necessity which now tangibly presents itself to me, I would be derelict in duty did I not warn my fellow citizens of the imminent danger at hand, and admonish them of the necessity of using every precaution against the visitation of this dreadful scourge. Amongst us, I therefore enjoin upon all good citizens of Pittsburgh that proper sanitary measures be peremptorily necessary and should be immediately taken to avert this threatened calamity. Let the streets and gutters be thoroughly cleansed, and all offensive matter be removed from cellars and alleys; and I further request that every citizen will deem it an incumbent duty to report to this office all infractions of the sanitary law, in order that those laws may be generally enforced and the health of our city preserved.
