THE BIRES HAND-BOOK AD Introduction to the study of the Sacred scripture. By Joseph Angue, D. D. Philisdelphia: James B. Claxton, successor to Wm. S. & Altred Martien. For also by J. L. Head, 7s Fourh street, Pitts-Jurya. This is a revised edition of an excellent work. Tails is a revised equiton of an excellent work. It is intended as an introduction to the Study of the Holy Scriptures, and although it displays vast research, profound learning, and great critical actimen, it is nevertheless so written, that all classes of Biblical students can easily avail themselves of its teachings. Th Science is classified under the following heads :

streets, alleys and gutters, and that, he thought, was within the scope of the street commissioners.

The question being called for upon the first resolution was put, and carried.

A debate now ensued in regard to the Sanitary system. Mr. Riddle thought that new ordinances were not so necessary as the enforcement of the old ones, and read several from the code regarding the statement of anisances. The point of the debate was the appointment of a health officer. Mr. Hanna said that he had had some experience in the matter, and that he slifficulty was that it appeared to be enbody's basiness to attend to it. Mr. Marshall thought that if the city officers were galvanized into life and activity there would be no necessity for the appointment of Committees or health officers. The great difficulty in the debate appeared to be that although every one thought there had been ordinances enough passed, there was no one to carry them out.

The question upon the second resolution was then put, and lost,
Mr. English effered a resolution to appoint Dr. Liewitt a health officer, he having offered his services for nothing.

Mr. Riddle offered the following resolution:

Ricaled, That the matter of appointing a health officer be referred to the committee provided for in the first resolution, and that the Presidents of Councils be added to that Committee.

Common Council in session appointed Messra.

Erglish, Terrence and Hall as their Committee.

Mr. English the moved that the presmible and resolution be adopted. Carried.

S. C. concurred in the action of C. C. and appointed Messra.

E. Common Council in the action of C. C. and sponition and the services of the council of the Exegetical, Historical, Systematic and Pastoral. These topics are all discussed with more or less In the first chapter the genuineness and inspiration of the Scriptures are defined and proved. And, besides a dissertation on the original ianguages of Scripture—Hebrew and the Shemitish languages generally—Dr. Angus gives a catalogue of the manuscripts.

The second chapter is devoted to the authoritisty and authority of the Scriptures. In theremaining chapter is to devote to the authoritisty and authority of the Scriptures. A committee, consisting of Dr. Preston, Dr. Passe, and Rev. Mr. White. was appointed to wait upon Bishop Sierems, and notify him of the desire of the convention that he should preside over their deliberations, and act as temporary Bishop of the diocese.

The committee waited upon the Bishop, who was conducted to the chair and cordially welcomed by aDr. Killekelly, in a few commerchair. The Bishop responded in appropriate terms, and then took his seat as Chairman of the convention.

The Unairman then declared that the nomina-tion of randidates would be in order. Rev. Mr. Swopa nominated Rev. J. Barrett Kerfoot, D. D., President of Trinity College, Hartford. Kerfoot, D. D., President of Trinity College, Hartford.
Dr. Page nominated Rev. F. D. Huntington, D. D., Rector of Emanuel church, Roston.
Rev. Mr. Pets remarked that it had been the intention of a number of the members of the intention of a number of the members of the convention, to present the name of a distinguished clergyman of Falladelphia, (Dr. Howe) but in order that harmony might be promoted they had concluded not to present his name.
There being no other candidates, the chairman appointed Tellera to receive the ballots.
The vote of the Clerical Delegates was then taken, and announced as follows:

Mr. Swope then amended his motion, and requested the Bishop to furnish the remarks, as nearly as he could recollect them—which motion was adopted.

A paper was then presented, eulogistic of the life and character of the lamented predecessor of Bishop Sievens, and was accompanied with a resolution requesting the Bishop to deliver his sermon, as preached at the opening of the late triennial Convention, on the occasion of the consecration of the Bishop-lect.
