back. There he stood with a prisoner who want-ed to speak to a member. Finally he went. After leaving the hall there arose a surge of agi some half dozen members are on their feet, "some half dozen members are on their rest, one crying in the most agonizing tones, 'We have been insulted' another, 'It was intended' while another was for preserving the dignity of the House,'". Explanation by the unfortunate recipient of the aforesaid prisoner's writ to the effect that the coldier was there in the ample performance of his duty, and by the request of the prisoner himself, was of no avail. The Speaker declared upon his word of honor, and by the high position he occupied, that this House shall not again suffer such an indignity particularly from a United States Soldier? Speaker stilled the storm. He gave his word of honor that neither Cuffee, nor Sambo nor Pom pey, should ever again come to disturb their reporte. But why should such things bo? These report. But way shown such things ho? These negroes mainlested a most bloodthirsty disposition at Port Hudson and Fort Wagner, and Tarloughther places, and no wonder their appearance among these. "Conventions" excites agitation and agony. Where is this to stop! When shall we know what we should know! If things continue we shall be reconstructedless, and then let us see how we can make the national pot to boll."

The "Republican" Party. Commenting on a remark in the Springueld (Mass.) Republican that "the Republican party shall hereafter bear its true and honorable par The Republican party called itself the "Union and was the exponent of the fact was the condition party during the war, because it in fact was the condition party in the contry. It represented and was the exponent of the frue, carnest and unwavering sentiment of loyalty at a time when idedity to that sentiment was a political test and a particule duty. It was therefore truly future and proper that that party should be called the Union party, thus expressing its true character. the Union party, thus expressing its true character.

But now that the war is over, the Republican party having carried the country safely through lis peril, it is fitting and, proper that we should return to the good old name of 'Republican party,' which is also expressive of its real character. Nobody is so ignorant as not to know what the term republican means, and so long as we prove faithful to the meanling of that term we prove faithful to the principles that should ever lie at the foundation of our institutions, and that should ever lead the foundation of our institutions, and that should ever lead to cell government and the freedom of mankind. national doctrine of soil-government and the freedom of mankind.

We therefore heartily say amin to the proposition that "heceforth let the Republican party bear its true and honorable name," and demonstrate its worthless thereof by its practical influence, in the Government and throughout the whole country, in favor of the true principles of republicanism.

The Pirate Shenandoah—History of H. Carrer.

The pirate Shenandoah has at last arrived foring which time ahe has been around the world, sinking, burning, destroying and bonding American vessels. Among her last acts was the destruction of our North-Western Coasts whaling feet. Some months ago sho was outlawed, and now has the audacity to seek an asylum under the protection of the flag which alded, supported and gnarded her in ander ty until she could place herself beyond the reach of Federal cruisers.

What the next move of three phrates will be or what disposition will be made of the vessel, is a question which naturall yarises in the public mind. The conduct of the British Government is no criterion by which to judge of the future. It is generally believed that this Government will make a formal demand for the vessel, her officers and crew, but we do not see how that can be dope, as she is a Brilish vessel in every hing, from her keel to her truck.

The Soa King was built at Glasgow in October, 1863, and was registered as the property of William Wallace, banker, of London, and other work from with wood planking. On the 20th of Selvember, 1864, she was transferred by bill of Selvember, 1864, she was true of the

A party of tourists, on reaching the hotel after a labor from six entire to a snown atmosphere, and worn out with humper, coil and farigue, were brutally refused admittance although his royal highness had not yet arrived, and were only saved from starvation by the kndress of the porter of the hotel, who took the party, consisting of a lady and four gruthemen, to the stables and provided them with some refr. shments, until the arrival of their carriage.

A Good natured ex-rebel soldler writes to the editor of a paper in North Carolina: "Like you, I am a Southerner—inly home was in the South, my kindred, my friends, my interests, were all here, and being assured that I was right, I entered the army. The logic of cold iron, condused into ten inch shells and other convenient forms for administering, has proved the contrary; having nothing more persuasive than they, I acquiesce, have taken the oath and (sudden change or not) intend to keep it."

The strong-minded women of Germany, numbering one hundred and thirty, recently held a convention in Liepsic, to consider the evils under which the sex labor in that country, and to devise remedies. A few got excited, but the majority entered into the discussion with coolings and ability. A pretty fraulein suggested that the best remedy would be a wholesale female emigration to Afferica, Lord Paimerston was not married until he was fifty-fey eyears of age. It is chosen wife was fifty-fey eyears of age at the time of their marriage. She had four children by her first husband, the Earl of Cowper, all of whom were married at the time of her second marriage. One of the daughters was married to Lord Ashier, heir to the earldon of Shaffeshu y, and the other to the Viscount Joecejm. Her eldest son by Earl Cowper is the present peer of that name. Lady Paimerston was an accomplished and fascinating woman, after her second marriage attaining a celebrity in the sot cial life of the metropolis acarcely inferior to that of the political ability and active genins of the late brilliant premier. She was, like her husband, a great diplomatist. I was through her efforts that the great reconciliants of the second marriage attains of the part of the control of the late brilliant premier.

husband, a great diplomatist. It was through her efforts that the great reconciliation took place between her husband and Lord John Russell, which resulted in the formation of the cabinet now dissolved by Palmerston's death. She was an early fame of Palmerston's when she was Lady Emily Pennison, and he faithfully waited for her many years, gladly taking her at an uncertain age, and with her feur incumbrances. When Mr. Buchanawas Minister to England, he met and was introduced to Lady Palmerston and her children by Lord Palmerston, who alluded to his stepsons and daughters as if they were his own children. The old functionary was better acquainted with Calhour's rullification theories than with the mysteries of Burk's peerage, and the old viscount was rather-taken aback by Mr. Buchanan's reference to the remarkable resom-
