THE DOCTRINE OF PROTECTION. While there are not a few advocates of Free Trade in this country who exhibit considerable intellectual acuteness, there is not one among them, so far as we know, who will state either the facts or the argument on any point of that policy with fullness or fairness. Before us is a brochure arguing the expediency of simplifying the existing impost system by abolishing du on all except a few commodities, such as stigar, tobacco, tea, wine spirits, coffee, and the like; mainly articles of luxury, and if not of laxury, at least more of laxury than

The advantages derivable from this change are expaniated upon; as the larger by concentrating taxation on a small number of things rather than diffusing it over almost all things; the diminution of the expenses of assessing and collecting the reveaue by the smal er number of persons re sufred in that service; and the cheapening of the things left untaxed. It is difficult to conceive how a more partial and misleading statement of the case could be de-

The revenue of the United States is not wholly or mainly derived fom imposts, According to the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury for the last fiscal year, the sources of income were as follows :

The greater part of the income, is derive from excise duties. It needs, consequently. author has left facts out of his presentation correct understanding of it.

If the imposts should be dismissed from all but a score or half score of commodiand receivable from excise duties? Clear ly it would be lessened, if not altoge, her ut off. The foreign manufacturer, having cheaper Labor and no impost to pay, would producer, who was compelled to pay larger $84,000,000 might be more economically where would the $209,000 000 come from? Such a pertion of it as is derived against their cause, are puzzled to devise a from the sale of agriculural products plausible answer. fall back upon the soil of a livelihood, thus increasing the number of producers welled an appearance of producers welled to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republican government as president to the soil of a livelihood and republicant to t ors. the production of the-e articles, within their respective boundaries, equal to that laid in the United States, there would be no need of contiluing the impost here. But, impost duties have been laid by own people. In this way the revenue obtained at the custom-houses is lessened, while that received through the collectors of Internal Revenue is aucmen ed.

"Tels a fair question to what degree and for how long a period this kind of discrimination thall be continued. It is possible to pay in texts more for the establishment . of a particular incustry than it is warth when established. Napoleon I, made a costly expresent in this way for founding the manufacture of buet sugar in France. He succeeded, against no small amount of Trade cornuy; and the nation through all coming time will reap the benefits of his perseverance. Perhaps no other experiment of this sort was more costly; iew have succeeded better. That a revision of the whole system of revenue is desirable every praetical man knows. That it will be attempted curing the present session of Congress is most probable. It would have been marvelous if a system extemporised to meet a sudden emergency had not proved defective in many essential respects. The defects of this system are felt and acknowledged. But the Free Traders cannot be gratified in their efforts to make these imperfections the occasion for relinquishing that system of thorough Protection which has been successfully inaugurated. While the Free Trade organs, subsidized by foreign manufactur-ers, and their agents and factors who live in this country but have no interest in it except to make out of its citizens as much money a possible—are conspiring to break down that system, and so imperil the national credit and prosperity, the Protectionists ought not to be silent and inactive. A day or two ago we chronicled the formation of a NATIONAL PROTECTION LEAGUE. The ides is a good one. Such an organization, ing all the interests of Labor and Capital involved in the doctrine of Protection, cannot fail of rendering most important service.

NEW BAILROAD CONTROVERSY. The Pennsylvania Rallroad Company is before the Supreme Court, it seems, practically saking that body to decide that there la but one railroad in Pennsylvania that has any rights, and that that road has the right o do sa it pleases.

It appears from its plea before the Court that the Catawissa road, on the 31st day of October, 1860, entered into a contract wi h the Philadelphia and Krie road for mutual traffic, the Catawissa connecting with the other at Milton; that the Catawissa road hasaince been leased to the Atlantic and Hreat Western road, as a linkin a new and independent line from the west to the east; and that the latter claims that, in leasing the Catawissa road, it comes into possess orall in franchises, including the right to mutual traffic over the Philadelphia and Eric road under the Dontract of October,

The court is asked to decide that the Atlantic and Great Western road had no authority to enterilate its contract with the Datawissa: that the Catawissa road had no Power to transfer to the Atlantic and Great:
The whole number of deaths by cholers in Western its contract with the Philadelphia
Prace is 1620.

The Bittsburgh Enzette. | and Eric road that the latter contract the therefore at an end; and that the lease of the Catawissa road to the Atlantic and Great Western is invalid and void.

This plea is urged upon various grounds, but the main one is that the lease of the Catawissa road to the British capitalists who own the Atlantic and Great Western, was entered into "with a view to the formation of a line of railroad which shall be a great through line to deflect the trade from Phildelphia to the City of New York." That is the great crime which the Supreme Court is asked to punish. Any through time that loes not lead to Philadelphia, or that comes into competition with the Pennsylvania road, must be stopped. Philadelphia is the State; and the attempt of any part of the ate to develop its resources that does not render it tributary to Philadelphia, is flat

The counties in this State through which this proposed new through line passes are Vorthampton, Lehigh, Carbon, Schuylkill, Northumberland, Union, Columbia, Montour, Center, Clearfield, Jefferson, Clarion, Vensugo and Mercer; all of these are deep ly interested in its construction, and it will argely benefit, in addition to these, all the countles on either side of them, throughout its entire length, from one end of the State to the other. Have the people of these counies no rights? Are they to be cast off from ailroad facilities, unless every railroad constructed through them shall lead to Pails. delphia, and Philadelphia only?

We want to see Philadelphia prosper, and we prefer her prosperity to that of New York; but she, like all other cities, must win what she gets by competition, and not by monopoly. The proposed new through line is crossed at various points by roads leading to Philadelphia, and she will have, therefore, if the line is ever completed full opportunity to compete with New York for

We believe in free trade in railroads. We network of railways, leading to all points f the compass; and we resent, therefore all these pleas egainst railway enterprise that do not lead in a particular direction.

PARLIAMENTARY REFORM. The suppression of the rebellion in this country is giving the Coaservatives in England trouble at home. The masses of the people are raising, louder than ever, the cry for Parliamentary Reform. Bearing their full share of the burdens of goverament they demand, not as a privilege br t as a right, their due proportion of representation in the popular branch of the national Legislature. No man who really pecan reasonably dispute the plain rule that a citizen's obligation in supporting government is the exact measure of his right to be heard in it. So obvious is this principle producer, who was compelled to pay larger that even Conservatives, who are common-tyages and impost outles besides. The sort of folk, in feeling the edge of an argument, or recognizing the appropriateness of an inevitable inference, when working

All the evils inherent in society here, and common to magnified to the utmost limits of probability, and held up warningly to deter the masses of the English population from aspiring to participate in the making of the laws to which they are required to yield obedience. POLYGAMY is not very fruitful of revenue, whatever it may be in other respects. Utah, with 100 000 inhabitants, only pays $37,000 into the United States Treasury this year, whilst Colorado, with 50,000 inhabitants, contributes $100,000. $100,000.

Boustits to Soldiers.

The bill introduced into the House of Representatives by Mr. Ward, of New York, granting beauty laid and money to all soldiers who enlisted prior to June 25, 1863, and were honorably dicherged by reason of wounds or expiration of terms of service, will, doubtless, receive the cost sideration from our Representatives that it deserves. The object of the bill is to make the bounty of this chas of soldiers equal to that of those who subsequently enlisted, during impending crafts, and who, for short enlistments, received large bounties. It is claimed by the supporters of this measure that the volunteers who rushed to the defence of the Government, and sacrificed busicess and profit, should be partially relimbured for their losses, and that a general recognition of their services by Congress would meet with the hearty endorsement of the people.

A Brigutian Advantishment.—A late number of the Charleston (S. C.) Courier contains the advertisement of the King's Mountain Military School. The "sad" states that the school will be open in January, and that "the usual instructions in tactics and drill will be omitted until the State is definitely restored to her political status."
