HON, JOHN COVODE'S REPORT. Mr. Cowan's resolution as amended by Southern explorations. Gen. Schenck's mission by the Secretary of War. He made three Reports. One on Freedmens' Affairs. A second relative to Military Affairs, which was filed with the Secretary of War. A third on Political Affairs, a portion of which, especially the conclusions arrived at, were read to the President, and by his directions filed with the Secretary of War. These Reports doubtless contain important information. Will these Reports be sent to

For four long years we have been engagever waged. Wicked men, to perpetuate tempted to overthrow the government, and thousand men and have involved the nation in a debt of three billions of dollars; heir pirates have swept our seas, their bactarous prison keepers have starved and torfured our prisoners, their incendiaries have fired our dwellings, and from a "neutral" province they have sought to smuggle contagious, loathsome and fatal diseases into our cities. Every cruelty has been practiced, and every possible means resorted to to diamember our nation and bring degradation and ruin upon us. By vigorous and long continued efforts and the smiles of Him who regardeth the right and hatcth opppression, they have been thwarted in their plans, and defeat and forcible submission to the government they they have hated, is theirs.

While the war was raging furlously, and good and oraye men were falling thickly, and our men suffering the unparalleled horrors of Southern prisons, and tears were flowing freely from all parts of the North talked much, and to us it seemed sensibly, harring forever from any office under the United States any one who voluntarily took any part sgainst the nation's life.

Even later we have been told again and again "treason must be made odious." Many months have passed since the taking of Richmond, the surrender of LEE and the capture of the prince of traitors, and is ireason less "odious" now than it war? On the contrary, if we can credit the multiplied testimony which comes to us from various sources, from rebels themselves directly, from many officers of our army who have been long at the South, from reliable witnesses who are at the South, from the action of Presbyteries, Synods, and Clerical Conventions, from the actual rebels whom they insultingly, have elected to represent them in our Congress, are we not compelled to believe that, though they have necessarily submitted to the "arbitra. ment of the sword," yet they have the same hostile spirit, and that the pageantry of treason no longer lingers in the sunny portion of our land, but that treason itself is cd. The jory, after being in deliberation for less unpopular, less odious now than it was forty-eight hours, came late court and express at the close of the war? It is not necessary that we should go to the South in order to observe this state of feeling We have tes. timony in abundance, similar to that on Which we rely for facts which are unquestioned. Neither arc we shut up to two witnesses, one of whom made a trip of a few days to the South. Shall we not take all the evidence on all sides, and carefully examine it and form our own opinions, o shall we take the opinions of others blindly, or like a certain lawyer and senater, apparently conclous of a bad cause, reject without examination the great mass of evidence which was against him, and "coarsely," not in a poliched and scholary dwell on the evidence of two whose views correspond with his own .-They have boasted in this very city, that they will have a way to dispose of all who shall go South to interiere with their plans they speak of their "plans when they secure 'equal' rights to all sections;" and while they pass the constitutional amendment, as Gen. Schurz says, the emancipation of the slave is submitted to only so far as chattel slavery in the old form could not be kept up. But although the freedman is no longer considered the property of the in-dividual master, he is considered the slave of society, and all independent State Legislation will show the tendency to make hm such. The ordinances abolishing slavery passed by the conventions under pressure of circumstances will not be look d upon as barring the establishment of a new form of servitude. We well remember the bold and defiant air, and venomous spirit of the aiders and abettors of treason. who defended the South in the iste General Assembly in this city. > MILLIAN from the throne of Mexica. The unre serve with which these famous commanders talked gave plausibility to the conjecture that the Administration was so lously contemplating the experiment of trying to heal our own do mestic troubles by a forcible participation in the troubles of our neighbor. The latest accounts, on this point, from Washington, represent that the President has entered into an arrangemen whereby the French Emperor is to withdraw his rceps from Mexico upon condition that the Unlied States shall neither attempt the ejection of MAXIMILIAN nor allow expeditions to that end be fitted out from our soil.

This is a solution that will be cordially approved by thoughtful men. Some politicians whose consequence depends on unhealthy exchements among the people, may object to a but it will secure the favor and co operation of statesmen and of the masses of reflecting and foresteing business men. So far, at least, we give the pelicy of the President a warm support

LIEUT, GEN. JUBAL EARLY, at Havana, on his way to find a home in Mexico, wrote a letter reviewing Gen. GRANT's account of Gen. Sunnt DAN'S campaign in the Shenandoah Valley. The substance of this missive is that he thinks hi own soldiership disparaged, and that of his antagonist unduly extolled. This is a common int. The world is not yet done canvasing the rival claims of Narotron and WEL-Lington to superior captainship at Waterloo. French and English writers are not likely to unite in their judgments for a century yet, if at all. So, the intrinsic and relative abilities of the ommanders on both sides during our late rebe ion are now judged from partizan stand-points and under the inspiration of strong passions and prejudices. Some generations must clapse before all the facts will be gathered and so cise niche to be occupied by the different con have to wait. THE N. Y. Times explains that Presiden JOHNSON did not insist, as a condition precedent to reconstruction, upon the acknowledgement of the right of the blacks to vote, because the authority to determine the qualifications for the dective franchise was reserved by the Constitu ion to the respective States. That being the case, we should like to be told by what authori twihe President interroyed to exclude large bolies of white citizens from the polls at all the ecent Southern elections. If the President dld not usurp authority in issuing his resceipt foroldding white traitors to vote, why had he no authority to order that black loyalists should have the right of suffrage? If he was excluded

he Constitution, why did he interfere? THE STRONG divorce case was finally brought to its termination in New York, but in a man per rather unsatisfactory to the parties concern ed the opinion upar impusly that it was impa sible for them to agree. They were therefore discharged by Judge Garvin. The point of disegreement was on the question relative to the dultery charged against Mr. STRONG, ten of the members being in favor of rendering a verdic declaring his innocence, and the other two re using their assent thereto. All of them agreed on a verdict in favor of Mr. Strong on the leans relating to the charges of adultery against Mrs. Stnone. Some Northern papers are sirculating int that, in vir ue of some understanding the Tennessee members elect are to be im mediately (and those of the other Southern States shortly after the re-spening of the season) admitted to seats in the House of Representatives. The National Intelligen cer which sympathises with the South, says it is constrained to say, after due inquiry that the assurances thus conveyed are pre mature, and that the information which they are said to have been grounded was misapprehended. No material change has occurred touching this matter since the ad

A Fearful Story of Hydrophobia. A Feariul Story of Hydrophobia.

Mr. Henry Drew, Assistant Superintendent of Public Property, has related to us the particulars of a case of hydrophobia at the "vilage of Waterloo, which surpasses in tragic interest almost any story of the kind we ever read.

Some six or seven years ago a mad dog went through the village of Waterloo, Jefferson county, and bit a number of animals. Among others it snapped at the leg of a cow belonging of Mr. Baboock. The animal was examined, but no mark was found, and it was supposed that it escaped being bitter. The animal was afterwards sold to a man naumed Garrison who used her milk very freely, as did two of his children, Some of the neighbors, including Mr. Drow's family, were also supplied with the milk of this cow. family, were also supplied with the mink of this cow.

At different times during the time since the cow was bitten there has been inexplicable and fatal elektress among those using the milk, and two othidren of Mr. Gärrison's, two of Mr. Drew's and two others; have been attacked with spasms and died in great agony. Mr. Garrison has also been attacked at times with spasms. The mystery of this sickness was solved by the death, with overy symptom of hydrophobia, a short lune ago, of the cow so elightly bitten seven years ego, and in whose system madness had been latent sever since.

The case is a sirgular one, and worthy the strention of scientific men.— Waccowin Journal ters, rendering them tyrannical unfeeling and selfish, are still there; the hatred to wards the North still exists, and they wil he ready to engage in any measure which will tend to undo all the good that has been done. We are told on the very best authority that loyal men will not be able to live in certain Southern States if the Union Two white men undertook to whip a returned negro scidier at Hanover, Indiana, because he would not play the fiddle at a dance. The magro drew a pistol and shot and killed one of the men. He surrendered limself to the authorities at Madison, Indiana. troops are withdrawn. legislation of the Commonwealth is not involved in the Irjustice of taxing lone portion of the National Banks and exempting another portion, while there is in fact no difference wheterer between the two portions as they now exist. I am, therefore, of opinion that the section of the set of Soith April, 1659, embraces all the National Banks within the Commonwealth. tional Banks within the Commonwealth.

I am quite aware that grave (and perhaps sowand difficult) questions may be raised under the Constitution of the United States, on the subject to which this opialon relates. I express an opinion on them, because I conceive that the Additor General would in no event be justifiable in deciding them peremptorily and finally against the Commonwealth, by refusing to execute the act of Assembly spon which they may arise.

The Annual School Report or this year, which is now ready, is a volume of $73 pages, very substantially bound in cloth. The Superintendent has Incorporated a new fea-ture in his present report. Besides the usus chool statistics of the State, and abstracts from the reports of courty superintendents, there is an apendix containing extracts from ensures of cunty superintendents on various topics consected with the common school system ccunty suprintendents on various topics connected with the common school system.

The State Euperintendent, referring to our colleges, seminaries and academies, says that it would promote the cause of general education in our flate to have all of our chartered institutions blaced, "to a certain exicut," within the control of the School Department. He urgas, further, the propriety of lessening the number of our bigher institutions, and thereby increasing the sudowments and income of those that rands. By their multiplicity they are crippled in their labors, many of them, for the waht of apparatus, furniture, libraries and cabinets, and also for a lack of sufficient, autooage. He wants them made liable to official visitations by some State officer.

The great call is for better teachers. It is very strongly recommended that where the lead can be purchased, more ground should be allotted to schools, affording room for healthful exercise and play, and that the scenery should be such as to stiract the eye and rultivate a taste for the beautiful. There is a fine frontispiece, presenting a perspective view of a model achool house, outboildings and grounds, for rural districts.

Every loyal man has been discharged from office in this city, and loyal men who were here during the ward are opposed on all sides. They cannot even get any business to do. The rebels make their boasts os a the street that they will make this place so hot that loyalists cannot stay here. They march through the streets, in bands, at night, sloging robel songs. Unless a change takes place soon, loyal met cannot stay here. A great many of the old Union citizens are leaving already,
