Since the Newsboys' Lodging House was established in New York City, more than a quarter of a million of lodgings have been furnished, and it is estimated that at least 25,000 boys have been benefited by it.

The expense of the House, says a correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, is about $10,000 a year, of which a little over $3,000 is contributed by the boys. Many of them have made subscriptions to the general fund apart from what they pay for food and lodgings, and the directors think that when they have a house of their own they can make it self-sustaining, or nearly so. In connection with this charity is the one of sending boys to the country, and finding homes for them, where they will be removed from the pernicious influence of city life. Emigration was instituted very early in the history of the establishment, and proved to be an excellent feature. The lodgers are sent West from time to time, in small companies, under the charge of a superintendent and put out with farmers and others in the rural districts, where they can make their living and be properly cared for. About 15,000 boys have been sent West since the founding of the establishment, and in the past year 1,331 boys emigrated at the expense of the house. The companies vary in number from twenty to 150, and the intention is to send off a company every two weeks.

By an extra issued from the office of the Nunda, N. Y., News, March 8th, we learn that the boiler in the Steam Flouring and Saw Mill of Van Riper, Ainsworth & Gilbert, at Nunda Station, exploded with terrific force, instantly killing three men, and severely wounding several others. The News says: "Among the killed was Mr. John B. Paino, who lives at Petroleum Centre, and was on his way there. His body was thrown upwards of thirty feet in the air; the clothing all torn from it; both legs broken, and altogether presented a terrible aspect."

Mr. Paino was quite well known in this vicinity, having been engaged in running engine for Mr. David Yanney for some time past.

CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.—Receipts to cure one of an appetite for liquor are constantly going the rounds of the papers. A friend who has tried it gives us the following receipt: Have steady employment, and give it attention ten hours each day, except Sundays, and then attend church service regularly. When your day's work is completed, go home to spend your leisure hours. If your home is not pleasant, set yourself about the agreeable task of making it so. When you go out to public amusements take some portion of pure mind and steady habits with you.

The above receipt is more effectual than a dozen temperance pledges.

The total production of the Pierson Farm up to March 1st has been 45,912 bbls. Of this amount the Vera & Blake well alone has yielded 22,699 bbls. The balance, 23,213 bbls., has been produced by all the other wells together. The Vera & Blake well was struck, we believe, on the 22d of Sept. last, and the sales of oil from it have amounted to $98,500. The above figures are reliable, as they are gathered from the land interest.

A LADY in Detroit lately took arsenic to make her complexion white. She succeeded and now sleeps in a northeast corner of a graveyard.

Death of an Eccentric Woman.

Celeste Lenoir, an old French woman, died recently at her residence near the Barracks. For a long time she has lived in a hovel, not far distant from the river, with no other companion than a colored woman almost as old as herself. The two women have subsisted partly by charity and partly by the sale of a little drift wood which they could occasionally collect from the river bank. "Old Ceely" had a history, though few who had noticed the old woman tottering along the water's edge under her load of fuel, suspected it. She was born in the southern part of France, and when a young girl served as a bar maid in a country tavern. While there, she betrothed herself to a young blacksmith. Before their marriage, however, her lover was drafted into the Republican army, of which the great Napoleon had but recently assumed command. Determined not to be separated from her husband, she entered the same Regiment as a vivandier. In the second action her lover was killed. The girl, however, remained in the regiment, determined to avenge his death. She participated in the campaign in Africa, and in the heat of one of the engagements fell into the ranks and fought like a soldier. She often boasted that at the close of the battle the Emperor, who had noticed her, rode up, and patting her on the head, said, "Ah, my pretty girl, if you were not a woman I would make a Colonel of you."

She remained with her regiment until Napoleon was exiled to Elba; but she took no part in the eventful scenes of the "hundred days." Why she would never tell the reason of her coming to this country, and her after-life until she appeared, in this locality, will ever remain a sealed book, as the knowledge of it died with her.—New Orleans Republican.

PETER'S MUSICAL MONTHLY.—The March number of Peter's Musical Monthly is at hand, and contains some twenty-four pages of choice new music, giving selections from the most popular writers, and variety enough to suit the most fastidious. Among the ballads is one entitled "Coraline," by the nation's song writer, Will S. Hays, the chorus of which runs as follows: "Oh! she was fair and gentle as a child had ever been, And the fairest of the angels is our darling Coraline."

There are also "Left all Alone," by J. S. Cox; "The Young Widow," by T. Brigham Bishop; "The Lord will Provide," by Geo. Leach, and several instrumental pieces. In addition to the above, Mr. Peters gives fifteen pages of choice family reading, and all for the moderate sum of 30 cents, or $3 per year—over $3 worth of New Music appearing in each number. It is undoubtedly the best musical monthly published, and our musical friends should subscribe for it by all means. Issued by J. L. Peters, Music Publisher, P. O. Box 5421, New York.—Simple copies, 30 cents.

LATE East Indian papers give accounts of the violent earthquake which shook various parts of Bengal between Jan. 10th and 11th. It was most severely felt in Cachar and Assam. The earthquake was felt as far West of Calcutta as Dinapore. Cachar, where it was most severe, is on the line of volcanic action, which stretching from the Eastern Himalayas, runs down the coast of Burma, where there are several extinct volcanoes, to the eastern Archipelago, where volcanic phenomena on a large scale are of frequent occurrence. At the latter place the earth seemed agitated by a great wave, rising in a swell twenty feet high, tossing trees and buildings about, and making the hills reel as the convulsion passed. The river changed its course and ran upwards for an hour, tossing the water 50 feet into the air, and forming numerous water spouts. The earth opened in hundreds of places, vomiting up volumes of blue sand and water and engulfing houses, cattle and men, in some cases closing over what it had swallowed, and in others remaining in yawning abysses, showing the roofs of houses twenty feet below the surface. The convulsion was felt over all of Lower Bengal at the same time, and continued with slight shocks for several days.

The experiment of providing a restaurant for the working girls of Boston has proved a success. The best meats are furnished at from ten to fifteen cents a meal; a meal of bread, crackers, fried cakes, etc., is furnished for eight cents, and other articles of food in proportion. The lodging house system has not proved so successful, and does not meet with general favor.

The election for township officers, in Cherrytree Township, takes place on the 3d Friday of this month. Several tickets are already in the field.

The next colonial sensation will be in June, when Wineck's comet is announced to show its narrative.

The weather is quite cheerless to-day.

ALBANA!

It is not often that we have the time to spare, or the inclination to notice any of the thousand and one preparations sold throughout the country, such as it is claimed, being a sovereign cure for one or more of the ills that flesh is heir to. Indeed, we have frequently wondered that people ever died at all, on a raw old even, when, by a small outlay they could furnish themselves with something which would keep disease at bay, and defy the assaults of time! Concerning the efficacy of one of these remedial preparations—and one which has become celebrated of late—we can speak from personal experience, and conscientiously say it is good. We refer to "ALBANA," an article for restoring and preserving the hair, manufactured by Messrs. Searl & Bentley, Chemists and Druggists, No. 179 Main Street, Buffalo.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser. Also for sale at A. D. MILLER & CO., Wholesale & Retail Druggists, Agents for Petroleum Centre, Pa. Feb 11.
