St. Patrick's Day.

To-day is the anniversary of the birthday of Ireland's patron Saint. Much of his life is obscured by tradition; even his birth-place and the year of his birth are matters of dispute...

Singing is a great "institution." It is the wheels of care, supplies the place of sunshine. A man who sings has a good heart under his shirt front.

The older we grow how short the time seems. The days, weeks and months roll rapidly round, and looking back over the past it appears like a beautiful dream.

Some of the boys had evidently been blown to Oshkosh having a little fun, last evening, judging from the unearthly noises heard at a late hour.

The Farewell Hop, at the Opera House, last evening, was a pleasant affair. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves, and the dancing was kept up to a late hour.

A velocipede school is about being established in this place. We shall probably hear of sundry bruised legs, arms, &c., in consequence thereof.

The New Orleans papers complain that the rates of insurance fixed by the Board of Underwriters for Red River are enormous enough to prevent navigation on the river.

THE STANDING TOPIC WITH THE LADIES.

The kitchen is always one of the most fertile hunting grounds for the chatter and gossip of women; and so far from servants being "the greatest plague of life," half the women in England would be "blue moulted" for want of them as the pieces to do resistance in the centre of their frothy talk.

Fancy a man peeping and prying behind the blinds to see whether John ogled the pretty milk woman, or squeezed the hand of the comely laundress! Yet how many women are there not who can tell you Jane stands and talks with that bold butcher boy; and how Jane blushed when she saw the baker's man at the gate yesterday; and how that artful little hussy, Sarah, always puts on her most becoming cap when gentlemen are doing at the house; and, "Did you see the way in which she looked at Mr. Blank when she handed him the bread? You did not? Ah! you are not as well acquainted with Miss Sarah's ways as I am! You should live with her, and then, perhaps, you would understand her artfulness."

Col. GOWAN, the American who recovered the English man-of-war sunk by the Russians before Sebastopol, after all the English engineers failed, has connected himself with a new and promising enterprise. This is neither more nor less than the recovery of the eleven or twelve Spanish galleons sunk in action in Vigo Bay in the reign of Queen Anne, during the war between Britain and Holland on one side, and France and Spain on the other.

According to the results of late recent deep sea soundings, it is announced that the bottom of the sea, at great depths, is covered by a continuous mass, extending over miles in extent, of what may be considered as one single animal. It is thought to form the lowest stage of animal life on the globe, and is supposed to derive its nourishment directly from the mineral world, as in the case of plants. The new animal has been baptised by the euphonious name of Bathylus.

The Memphis Avalanche's Little Rock special of Monday night says: The House to-day unanimously passed the Senate joint resolution ratifying the 15th amendment. There was a terrible hail storm last night, doing great damage. There is scarcely a pane of glass left in the city. The shrubbery and fences were demolished. A negro man was found dead this morning. He had been caught in the storm while drunk, and killed by the hail stones, which were as large as hen eggs.

New York is terrified at the discovery that the number of marriages in that city is decreasing, and asks, "What's up?" Were it Chicago, now we should not wonder, but moral New York, it is, indeed, astounding. By-the-by, of Chicago, there is a new story. One of the journals of that city remarked in a notice of a marriage that the couple were "united for life," whereupon a newspaper in a near city says that it was the first time anything of the kind had ever occurred in Chicago.

The Merchants' and Commercial Travelers Associations of Chicago have secured the repeal of the city ordinance which requires commercial travelers to pay a license for the privilege of soliciting trade or selling goods by sample.

A New York cotemporary thinks it remarkable that the authorities there cannot arrest for gambling any one of more mature age than boys ten to twelve years of age.

Two thousand citizens of Indianapolis signed the pledge at the beginning of the year, and eleven of them are believed to have kept it thus far.

The new well on the Widow Pierson Farm, struck a day or two since, is doing about forty barrels per day.

One or two new advertisements are necessarily crowded out to-day. They will appear to-morrow.

The Spanish Legation, it is said, have represented to our government that the Cuban insurrection has been kept alive by expeditions sent from New Orleans, New York and Boston, and request our government not to recognize the revolutionists till after having heard from Mr. Roberts, the special envoy, now en route to Washington, to confer with our government.

The stockholders of the St. Louis Bridge Company, held a meeting on Saturday, and voted to increase the capital stock of the Company to $4,000,000. Work on the bridge will be energetically and rapidly pushed forward.

The Cashier of the First National Bank of Rockford, Illinois, is reported to have absconded with the funds of the depositors. The bank will probably fail. The people of Rockford and vicinity are much excited by this unexpected development. The cash has hitherto been regarded as an honorable man.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Dubuque and Sioux City Railroad Company held at Dubuque last Monday, the lease of said road to the Illinois Central Railroad Company was unanimously confirmed.

The N. Y. Post says: The New York Central Railroad having neglected to pay the government tax of five per cent. on its net earnings, the questions will come up before the internal revenue department. The amount involved is $1,200,000. It is presumed that the road will have to pay it if the case goes to the courts.

On Saturday night a difficulty occurred at Delmonico's, New York, between Jas. Gordon Bennett, Jr., and a Mr. Stokes, over yachting matters. From words they came to blows. The fight was adjourned to the street. Both parties were covered with blood before they were separated by the police.

Tennessee planters complain of the great scarcity of labor. They are offering twenty-five per cent. better wages than last year, but the negroes seem unwilling to make contracts.

James N. Dunham, who recently arrived in St. Louis from Gen. Hazen's camp, near Wichita Mountains, reports that some three thousand Indians, comprising all or portions of the Comanches, Kiowas, Watchias, Kadoos, Tawocconies, Kocies, Wagoes, and Arapahoos, are setting on the reservations. Gen. Hazen is dividing them into bands or colonies, with a view to learning them the arts of husbandry. To this end he has already appointed a farmer to each band to instruct them in farming. Implements and seeds will be furnished by the government. The Indians have great confidence in Gen. Hazen, and enter into his plans for their improvement as rapidly and with as good a grace as could be expected.

There was a fire at No. 47 Murray street, New York, last night. Loss $15,000; insured.

DIED.

On Tuesday morning, March 2, 1895, aged three months, NANCY EDNA, only daughter of Daniel B. and Augusta E. Perkins, of Petroleum Centre.

A voice from Heaven speaks; and He who said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and I will receive them," calls another angel cherub to His arms.

As the morning flower or the early dew, it came; we looked, we loved, we looked again—but, lo! 'twas gone. Yet, seen no longer here, in Heaven above, 't will wait for us. Weep not then, stricken ones, your babe shall be yours again,—beyond the river, to dwell forever on the shining shore, you shall meet, to part no more.

"'Tis hard to give her up. This little one was very dear to you; you loved her so. That now 'tis hard to say, 'God's will be done.' And how with patience to the crushing blow.

"She was a darling babe; her cherub face, Her bright and laughing eyes I call to mind; And wonder now, that all this instant grace, Had round your loving hearts so closely twined.

"But now your babe is safe; she rests secure From all temptation, on her infant brow No cloud has fallen; innocent and pure She lived and died; no harm can reach her now."

"ALASKA."—It is not often that we have the time to spare, or the inclination to notice any of the thousand and one preparations sold throughout the country, such as it is claimed, being a sovereign cure for one or more of the ills that flesh is heir to. Indeed, we have frequently wondered that people ever died at all, or grew old even, when, by a small outlay they could furnish themselves with something which would keep disease at bay, and defy the assaults of time! Concerning the efficacy of one of these remedial preparations—and one which has become celebrated of late—we can speak from personal experience, and conscientiously say it is good. We refer to "Alaska," an article for restoring and preserving the hair, manufactured by Messrs. Sewell & Beatty, Chemists and Druggists, No. 189, Main Street, Buffalo.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, Buffalo, N. Y., March 1, 1895.
