Petroleum Centre Daily Record.

Pet. Centre, Thursday, March 18.

The earth-practice in cases of wounds and sores is making great headway. M. L. Holbrook, M. D., New York, writes: "I have many times treated purulent contagious ophthalmia with dressings or poultices made only of wet clay dug from cold springs. By binding it on the eyes at night in as large quantity as a pint, it often acts like a charm. Its first effects are to reduce the inflammation, but it soon becomes dry and hard, and then absorbs, like dry earth, any poisonous matter that is secreted by the inflamed parts, preventing it from doing further injury. This remedy was suggested to me years ago by an old man who never knew anything about the regular practice of medicine, and I have seen it work so well that I believe it to be worth careful trial."

At Key West, Florida, there is a lad who is a notable snake charmer. How he came to be possessed of the wonderful power is thus described: Before his birth his mother dreamed that her next child should be possessed of the power of a witch, and hence he was born with the figure of a tropical scorpion marked upon his side. One day, while sitting with a bed of ants about him, a voice came to him, saying: "Go to a certain tree, there you will find a certain milk, drink it, and you shall have power to charm." He did as commanded, and was forthwith invested with the spirit of enchantment.

Three colored men have been arrested in New Jersey for stealing large quantities of valuable furniture, books, &c., belonging to their employer, Vincent Collier, the well-known philanthropist. Collier is now absent on a mission to the Indians. The property was taken from his residence in Darian Connecticut, and carried to New Jersey. The prisoners will be sent to Connecticut for trial.
