JAMES DUNN, Pastor.

Dr. Evans, of Michigan University, disputes the statements of Dr. Holland in regard to wine drinking and drunkenness in Switzerland. "I suppose," says be, "that every time Dr. Holland sees a Swiss laughing, singing, gesticulating, or capering about, he sets him down as drunk, for the very same reason that he chacterizes as sail sorts of insane jabber' the foreign languages which he very imperfectly understands."-A short tour in Valais or the Bernese Highlands would have shown him his mistake His statements on the subject of wine drinking and on the existence of costames are of equal worth. If it were not irreverant we might enlarge upon his topic, and show that in Burgundy, where the whole country is devoted to the grape, drunkenness is rarely seen, wife-beating (the disgrace of working communities in England) is wholly maknown, and the licentiqueness of many English, Scotch and American manufacturing towns is unbeard of. The attempt to prove that the cultivation of the grape corrupts and demoralizes the inhabitants of a country is the sheerest nonsense.

There are very few actors at present that can equal him in the performance of the leading characters, numbers of cattle were dying. of Stukspeare's plays, and as to night is positively the last night of their stay here our citizens should avail themselves of the opportunity presented to witness his acting. Miss Henrietta Irving as Queen Riizabeth, in the same drama, is deserving of special mention, her acting being of a highly meritorious character.

To-night Mr. Eddy appears in six different characters in the dramas of "Nick of the Woods" and "Black-Eyed Susan." Miss Irving also appears in leading characters .-As a benefit has been tendered to Mr. Eddy on this occasion we hope to see the Opera-House will fi led.

C. A. H. asks the New York Ledger if it is proper "to kiss a young lady upon seeing come to want, her home from a place of entertainment. and is answered thus: "Kissing goes by favor, it is said, and there are no rules to govera it. If the young lady permits you to hiss her, do so, and hold your tongue about it."

RICHIE RUN. -Just before going to press, we were favored with a letter from Emlen ton. Not having room for the whole of it, we give the following extract relating to oil prospects on Richie Run;

"It is thought that this run for miles up. will rival any locality in the oil regions -Already two wells are down, and have got oil in paying quantities. The third sand rock is here, twenty-five feet thick. Quite a number of derricks are going up and boles are going down. Already have the lands been largely bought up by the actual oil seekers. One acre was sold at the mouth of the run for two thousand dollars. There seems to be but one opinion among leading oil men about this locality, and that is that it is on the great oil belt, running from Oil Creek to Parkers. This conclusion is arrived at from actual survey, and the geologion character of the slate rock, together with the fact of its close proximity to the two objective points, namely Oll Creek and Parker's landing. There is no doubt Petroleum is here, and all that is wanted is the mighty dollar, nerve and muscle to bring it to the surface."
