Under the proper heading to day, will be found the announcement of Thomas Donaghy of Petroleum Centre, as a candidate for Prothonotary, subject to the usages of the Democratic party.

This morning two oil cars ran off the track at Oleopolis, and in consequence the passenger train from Irwin, due here at 10:30, was delayed one hour.

The best way to get sympathy is to yawn at a tiresome evening party. Four-fifths of the company will sympathetically extend their jaws to the widest possible extent.

THE Parkersburg (Va.) Times says: The well recently struck at White Oak, formerly known as the "Barber Well," is now flowing sixty barrels of oil per day. The first fifteen days after it was tested, it flowed twelve hundred barrels, being eighty barrels per day; but it has since dropped off a trifle.

SPRING—It has come. All have felt its touch on cheek and brow. After the long, dreary, weary winter, it makes the heart leap with pleasurable emotions to experience the change to the approaching summer. The happiness thus given is a partial compensation for the rigors of northern winter.

FOURTH OF JULY.—One day over two months remains when we enter in the 33d anniversary of our National Independence. Ninety-three years ago since the county threw off the yoke of English oppression.—Let us join hands in patriotic firing of crackers, eating bonbons, whistling of yankee doodle, and having a good time generally on the next day, which, coming on Sunday, Saturday the 3d, or Monday the 5th, can be substituted for, and observed as the great National Day.

To raise a crowd—fill up a plank in the sidewalk, put a barrier in the hole, and make believe you are having rats. The destructive element is so strong in man and "purps," that you will draw a crowd in a few minutes big enough to fill an ordinary meeting house. How to disperse them—take up a collection, or try to, for the benefit of a church, or for any charitable purpose whatever.

A SHARON SENSATION.—The Meadville Republican of the 30th ult. says: "On Wednesday evening, April 28th, the good people of Sharon, Mercer county, had a sensation in a marriage in high life. S. Perkins, Esq., a banker, and Miss Laura P. Norton, were united in matrimony by Rev. R. Craighead, of this city. The wedding took place at the residence of Gen. Curtis, —the bride being his adopted daughter,—and was celebrated in a style never before witnessed in this section of the State. The party was large and select, and included many of the wealthy and fashionable leaders of society from Cleveland and elsewhere.

GETTING READY.—A French woman, recently dead at East English, who had resided with her brother, who is a Libido in the world, for many years. About two days before she died the effeminate brother called at the neighbor's house to borrow some joiner's tools, being a mechanic. "For," said he, "the girl can't possibly live over half an hour, and as I can't leave the house, I might as well be working on her coffin in the meantime." When she died, two days after, her coffin was ready for her.

The Roberts Torpedo Case.

The Roberts torpedo company brought suits against different parties to enjoy the use of the Reed torpedo, and a fund was raised by contribution to defend the cases. It has been decided against the Roberts Torpedo Company at the U. S. Patent Office, and accordingly Reed is entitled to the patent that Roberts claims. This is an important decision to all men, as in each instance where an injunction was served upon parties using the torpedo, a bond was required, and there being many such cases, the bond given foots up sixty or seventy thousand dollars. It now being decided that Roberts is not the patentee, his bondsmen are somewhat interested, as the parties enjoined will now look to Roberts or his bondsmen for damages.

THE ARLETONS.—This popular minstrel troupe will appear at the Opera House, in this place this (Monday) evening. The Fort Wayne (Ind.) Gazette says: "Arletons Minstrels proved themselves all our fancy painted them. Yes, and more too. We haven't had any such music, vocally or instrumentally considered, for a period whereof the memory of man, &c., &c. The query is, where did they get all their new jokes, puns and comicities generally? All they do is new—all well done—no leeches no sticks—no waits, all smooth, funny, splendid. We cannot conceive of a better arranged, better executed negro minstrel troupe. Arletons is undoubtedly the best met in the profession."

Franklin vs. Petroleum Centre.

We alluded on Saturday to an affray which occurred on Friday night last in this place, on the occasion of an attempted arrest of a woman in a disorderly house, by Petroleum Centre, and related to the fact that one of our officers was compelled to flee the affair. We had supposed that legal proceedings would ensue, but we were soon led to believe that no further steps would be taken in the matter, we have taken some pains to get at the particulars in reference to the interference of officer Kinney in the matter, and find he is not so much at fault as some suppose. He was sent for by the party whose arrest was attempted, and arriving at the scene, was refused admittance by the purported Franklin officer. He demanded his authority, and the reply was made to him that the Sheriff was in the station below, and the deputy had received orders not to admit any one but the Sheriff, or Kinney, having passed through the station, saw no Sheriff there, and so remained, at the same time attempting to gain, when he (Kinney) received a blow from the deputy, and the deputy, pulling a revolver, Kinney snatched the deputy's weapon from him. At about the same time some ruffians in the station below attacked the man who held the warrant, he being louder than was becoming in an officer who had the task to perform that he did. A warrant was issued for the woman in Franklin, and given to the Sheriff of Venango county, who did not deem it necessary to come on here and arrest the prisoner as he thought a telegram would bring her to Franklin, and accordingly would not deputize any person to perform the duty. These Franklin "sprouts," anxious for a spree, prevailed upon a certain Justice of the Peace of their town to deputize them, and he did so. They came on here, and the result of their visit is well known. Officer Kinney saw the warrant and respected it. In our opinion, whiskey caused the disturbance, as all parties, it is quite evident, had an ample supply of it. We do not uphold the course pursued by the parties who assaulted the purported officers from Franklin. The attack was cowardly, unjust, inconsiderate; but the dignity of the Franklin officials was not in keeping with the dignity of law, thus provoking an assault. More could be said of their actions while coming and after arriving here, which would lead a person of sound mind to believe their authority was void, whether it was or not.

NAVIGATION on the lakes is resumed. The Chicago Tribune says: "The vast quantities of grain which have been accumulating in our elevators during the winter months will now be hurried forward to the seaboard. The movement of the grain stored here will liberate thousands of dollars of capital which have been locked up during the past five months, and direct it into those other channels of industry which surely felt the monetary stringency of which every one has been complaining for fully two months past."

THE LIGHT AT HOME.

The light at home, how bright it beams, When evening shades around us fall, And from the broken far-off gleams, "O love, and rest, and comfort all; When wearied with the cares of day, And strive for glory, gold, or fame, How sweet to seek the quiet way, Where loving lips will kiss our name, Around the light at home!"

The light at home—how still and sweet It creeps from yonder cottage door, The weary laborer to greet, When the rough toils of day are o'er; Sad is the soul that does not know The blessings that its beams impart, The cheerful hopes and joys that flow, And lighten up the heaviest heart Around the light at home.

BLIND TOM.—The negro boy pianist, who astenishes the whole world by his wonderful musical powers, will appear at the Opera House, Petroleum Centre, to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, the 4th inst. The Rochester Chronicle thus speaks of him: "The great faculties he possesses are but three—memory, imitation and hearing—and it would seem if all the other faculties were concentrated in these three. He stands as a marvelous exhibition of one of the fanciful freaks of nature. He hears nothing that he cannot reproduce accurately and his memory serves him in reproducing a succession of sounds with absolute correctness. The performance last evening consisted of an exhibition of these remarkable powers, the crowning feat being the playing of two separate tunes—"Yankee Doodle," and "Fisher's Hornpipe"—and singing of "Tramp, Tramp" all at the same time. No one should miss an opportunity of seeing this wonderful phenomena."

The Pierson Farm Seduction Case—The Girl's Own Statement.

[We published a few days since the details as given to us, of a seduction case, the parties residing on the Pierson Farm, and we have been requested to publish the following letter, signed by the young girl, seduced, which details the facts, throwing a somewhat different light on the matter.]

Francis Park, May 1, 1893. My father, Mr. Pierson, in your issue of April 29th, published a recollection and description of the Pierson Farm. I deem it necessary to make my statement, as some assertions contain those most cruelly who were friends in my misfortune. It is true I was at Alan Fisher's house during my confinement, but was not compelled to leave it, but went of my own accord. I was going to the Centre with my child, but Mr. and Mrs. Fisher told me that I could not go so far at that time. Mrs. Fisher went to a near neighbor to see if she would not take me in, but as near as I can find out, they said no. Mrs. Fisher offered to pay this neighbor anything that she might ask, but she said no.

As far as being put out of Mr. Fisher's house, I was not, but when they saw I was not going, Mr. Fisher told me that I had better go to his sleeping apartment a few rods from his engine house, the building being a dwelling house that a family I could name lived in all winter; when I went to the house I found a good, comfortable, warm place, furnished with a good bed, stove, and all the fuel I needed, furnished by Mr. Fisher, and also they hired a lady from the Centre to take care of me; as for my child bleeding at the nostrils, it is easily accounted for, as I had a very heavy fall some five weeks before the birth, and when I told Dr. Christy of it, he said that he thought it a wonder it did not kill myself and child. Miss A. C. NICHOLSON. (Witness) JOHN F. CRAM.

A novelty has been introduced at social parties in Paris. At the entrance of the saloon is placed a large covered basket containing small bouquets of flowers, and presided over by a modern Flora. Each guest plunges his or her hand into the basket and takes a posy which the women attach to their dress or put in their hair, and the gentlemen place in their buttonhole. The latter promenade through the saloons, each in search of a lady wearing a similar bouquet to his own; and when she is found he has a right to take possession of her and retain her as a partner.

The first thing done on the Long Island Railroad after the Jamaica accident, was to burn the remnants of the broken car, relay the track at that point, and destroy all evidence of the nature of the disaster. After that a rigid investigation into the causes of the catastrophe was, of necessity, a very innocent formality.

Mary McMughlin, aged nineteen, attempted to drown herself in the East River, New York on Sunday, but a bystander plunged in and saved her.
