Analyzing a Woman. A celebrated Parisian belle, who had acquired the habit of whitewashing herself—so to speak—from the soles of her feet to the roots of her hair with chemically prepared cosmetics, one day took a medicated bath, and on emerging from it was horrified at finding herself as black as an Ethiopian. The transformation was complete. Not a vestige of the Caucasian race was left. Her physician was sent for in alarm and haste. On his arrival he laughed immoderately, and said: "Madame, you are not ill; you are no longer a woman, but a sulphuret. It is not now a question of medical treatment but of simple chemical action. I shall analyze you. Come, I shall submit you to a bath of sulphuric acid diluted with water. The acid will have the honor of combining with you; it will take up the sulphur, the metal will produce a sulphate and we shall find as a precipitate, a very pretty woman." The good natured physician went through with his analysis, and the bell was restored to her membership with the white race. Young ladies who are ambitious of snowy complexions should remember this, and be careful what powders and cosmetics they use—if they use any at all.
