Millard Fillmore and Thurlow Weed.

Millard Fillmore and Thurlow Weed have been reconciled after an estrangement of twenty years. The reconciliation was brought about beneath the groves of Saratoga and by its healing waters. To progressive politicians of to-day this event can have no significance. As politicians, both these men having survived their usefulness. They can form no new combination which will be a power in the busy present. Their triumphs are of the past, as are also their errors, and it may happily be added their quarrels.

Unimportant as the reconciliation is affecting any one outside of their individual selves, we are heartily glad the old quarrel has been healed, and that these veteran politicians stop this side of the grave to hail each other with peaceful signs, and pledge each other in memory of "suld lang syne." There is something touching in the light. It will recall to the minds of our older politicians the days when these two worked together in the interest of that historic party, once so powerful and vigorous in the land. It will recall the eloquence of Webster and the inspiration of "Harry" Clay. It will recall the times that were before the fugitive slave law and Castle Garden meetings, and the later din and clash of armed hosts.

Memory may dwell complacently in the less disturbed, even if the less happy days. We shall expect that the pens of the older scribes will furnish us much that is interesting, evoked by the friendly greetings at Saratoga. We, who are of a younger generation, although we may not have personal knowledge of the politics which moved the country twenty years ago, cannot help being affected at this beautiful tribute which these olden enemies pay to that hereafter which their time-worn slopes stand ready to tread. Each has filled the scriptural allotment of days; and their animosities are hushed in the shadow of the change which they feel shortly awaits them. The scene has its lesson of pathos and of love, which should not be lost upon any of us.

Rainey's Benefit To-Night.

Everybody will be present this evening at Akin's Hall, on the occasion of a benefit to T. T. Rainey, the comic actor and highly esteemed gentleman, who has so often caused "sides to split," and forced the most ardent to shake themselves nearly to pieces. The "young lion" will receive the ample support of Little Nellie's troupe, and one of the best programmes ever presented to our citizens will be that of this evening. Mr. Rainey is well and favorably known here, both as an actor and citizen, and those who look upon the theatrical calling with some prejudice, cannot fail to admit that the departure of Mr. R. is such as to win him friends wherever he may be. This favorite comedian will appear this evening in the "Widow's Victim" as Poige, and in the "Irish Emigrant" as Tim O'Brien. He will be assisted in these two plays by Little Nellie, Robert Johnston, W. M. Ward, and the entire troupe. The grand old play of "Charles III," will also be introduced. Remember and be present to-night.

The Greenfield, Wright & Whitman well, on the McClintockville Petroleum Co.'s farm, is reported as doing fifty barrels.

When a Scotch minister told his neighbor that he had preached two hours and a half the day before, the neighbor said to him: "Why, minister, are you not tired to death?" "Aw nae," said he, "I was fresh as a rose; but it would have done your heart good to see how tired the congregation was!"

The Great Yosemite Bitters.

All hail! Great benefactor. Who to cure us of our ills. Give life to the discouraged. Without noxious drugs or pills. Drives disease from out the system. Fills the heart with life and light. With the best of all the tonics. Downer—Great Yosemite!

With root from out the valleys. Where California's sun doth shine. Giving wealth to us poor mortals. Beyond the riches of her mines. Wealth of health and happiness. Its blessings none should slight. Do you want it? Would you have it? Use Downer's Great Yosemite!

Come ye sick, diseased, discouraged. Why should you pine and die? Ye feeble, faint and languishing. Come, these glorious Bitters try. See how these quacks and nostrums. Flee from the land in flight. Giving place to this pure tonic. Downer's Great Yosemite!

National Orphans' Homestead.

This institution, located at Gettysburg, Pa., is a home for the orphans of soldiers and sailors, who gave their lives for the country during the late war. It commends itself to every patriot. Yesterday in the churches, the citizens of this place were favored with the presence of Rev. Thomas Atkinson, soliciting agent, who forcibly set forth the claims of the institution upon every lover of humanity. He will be in the place during this week to solicit pecuniary aid for this christian and patriotic enterprise. Let it be remembered that to-day additional accommodations are needed for at least five hundred of the children of the men who died in defence of our homes.

Any one whom the agent may not call upon, can have the privilege of handing whatever they wish to Rev. Mr. Oxtoby, local treasurer for this place. The Superintendents of Sunday Schools will please get in the amounts collected by the children and pay it in to the local treasurer who will duly forward all to the General Treasurer.

George Francis Train declares that "Woman is a Coming Man."

The Charley Run Ogden Well is now doing about fifteen barrels.

Mr. Lyman Stewart struck a new well on the Talman Farm, Cherrytree Run, on Thursday, and at last reports the product was 25 barrels.

A fifty barrel well has been struck on the widow Gorman farm, near Tidoute in the second sand, at a depth of 260 feet.

Miss Anthony says she "speaks best when half asleep and on her pillow." Susan, this information will damage your chances of obtaining a husband.

Hot Boston brown bread every Tuesday and Friday mornings at A. M. Shalt's Variety Bakery.

RETURNED.—We notice on the streets the familiar face of our townsman, Samuel Reynolds, who has been sojourning in the New England States for a month or so. He and his lady returned on Saturday last.

The Model Engine and derricks, which were to be drawn on Saturday last, will not be disposed until Saturday next, on account of the absence of quite a number of the ticket holders. It will positively be disposed of on that day.

CONSECRATION OF THE NEW BELL YESTERDAY.—The consecration of the new bell in St. Peter and Paul's Church in this place, yesterday, was a very interesting ceremony, and largely attended by our citizens.

The new wells on Cherrytree Run, owned one by Phillips & Boyle, and the other by Dwight & Baum, according to last reports, are doing splendidly. The first is a fifty barrel well.

Considerable excitement has arisen over a new well struck at Shaffer Run, on Thursday last, which at last reports was doing 300 barrels, which, no doubt, is slightly exaggerated. It is owned by Hesson, Cornwall & Co.

A brother editor has discovered that his own and A. T. Stewart's income for 1868, together, amounts to $3,019,212, and thinks of proposing to Stewart to divide even, or toss a copper for the whole; if he refuses, the editor will have to be content with the last three figures for his share.

WHAT OLD WELLS WILL DO.—An old well on the Clapp Farm, which had been abandoned, was resurrected by an Oil City party, about two weeks ago, and for some time it produced largely, but at last reports was doing thirty barrels, which is good enough. How about old territory now? This well is located on the bank of the creek.

The new ten-cent postal currency is making its appearance among us. The handsome girl of the period, with Phrygian cap and flowing curls, whose picture ornaments one end of the note, is as good an emblem of Liberty as the most enthusiastic supporters of woman's rights could wish. The general effect is much less crowded than in the last issue, and the letter-work on the back, with the small open lettering in the centre, will prove a puzzle to counterfeiters.

NIAGARA FALLS.

Several of the scientific men who have visited and examined nature's great curiosity at Niagara Falls this year, are now positive that the wear and tear of centuries has been preparing the way for a grand "caving in" of the falls one of these days. An exchange. In speaking of this subject says: "Considerable comment has been going the rounds of the papers for a few weeks with relation to the changed appearance of the falls from that of last year. The Horse Shoe, it is stated, has evidently given way some thirty feet in that part of the cone where the "green water" is seen, so that the horse shoe appearance is metamorphosed to that of a triangular shape. It is thought that about one hundred and fifty tons of rock must have fallen in on the Horse Shoe alone and old habits here are taking land marks, to notice the recession that may take place before another year. The American Fall, also has evidently given way at points to a considerable extent. There is no doubt but that Niagara is crumbling away and falling back, but the present recession is probably the greatest ever witnessed by any one generation. The heavy ice fields which pass over in the Spring, the strong currents and ceaseless wear and tear of time and the mighty, thundering cataract must inevitably tell heavily upon the rocky crest of the grand old shrine, but, of course, its falling away must be so slow as not to be observable to the naked eye."

President Grant and family, on Thursday evening, attended the hop at the Station House, Long Branch. Friday was passed in riding, attending a clam bake, etc. The arrangements are made for a complimentary ball this evening.

ACCIDENT TO A GYMNAST.—Madame Saucy, the flying trapeze performer who travels with Yankee Robinson's Circus, while making her "flying leap" at Kent, Ohio, a few days since, missed her balance and fell thirty feet, striking on her head and shoulders, injuring her severely.

"Adam was the first man (said a learned colored brother), and God make him ob wet clay, and set him up agin de palins to dry." Questioned a sharp hearer: "If dat am de case, who made de palins? "Go away, darkey, such questions as dat would destroy any system of theology."

The Corry Republican enumerates eleven cases of small-pox and seven cases of varioloid which have recently occurred in that city. In only two instances have they proved fatal, and the remainder are convalescent. It is asserted that the disease "has had its run, and all danger is over."

The Hornellsville Times says: An American eagle passed through this place a few days since, by express, and Consignee to Horace Greeley. On the box containing his eagleship was written the injunction: "Messenger, if you love your country, feed this bird."

Senator Fenton and daughter, Miss Josephine Fenton, of Jamestown, N. Y., sailed for Europe from New York on Saturday. They will be absent for two or three months, and will spend much of that period in London, Paris and Berlin.

The N. Y. Sun, usually well informed on all political subjects, confounds Hon. Asa Packer, just nominated for Governor by the Democracy, with ex-Gov. Packer, the last Democratic Governor of the State.

A Quaker in Bloomington, Ind., who observed his wife looking in at the kitchen door while he was embracing the servant girl, thus addressed her: "Betsey, thou had better quit pecking, or thee will cause a disturbance in the family."

A LIBERAL BRIDEGROOM.—A greenhorn lately took a notion to get married. After the ceremony was concluded, the happy husband took a twenty-five cent stamp from his pocket, deliberately walked up to the parson and handed it to him, saying, "parson, keep the whole."

A WALL PAPER NUISANCE.—The filthy custom of pasting one wall paper over another till a thickness of an inch or more is accumulated is too common and is attended with worse consequences. This, as ascertained by the Lancet, was the cause of a puzzling offensive smell at Knightsbridge Barracks, England, that recently threatened the whole establishment with fever. The examination of the drains and taking up of the floors revealed nothing, while the introduction of increased means of ventilation left the evil as it was. At last an examination of the wall papering, when it was found that one paper was pasted over the other till a thickness was accumulated amounting in one case to fourteen layers; there was rotten paste, in which fungi and even maggots germinated; while the wall being hollow, the stench spread into the passages and over the establishment.
