A Romantic story.

We have just heard of a rather romantic story which has transpired in this city, the truth of which we can vouch for, notwithstanding its sensational proclivities. A few years since, a girl living as a domestic in an aristocratic and wealthy family of Liverpool, England, won the affections of the son of that family. The young man became smitten of his innamorata, and resolved upon marrying her. When he made his intentions known to his parents, serious opposition was manifested. The girl, although a good one, virtuous and honest, was not in keeping with the family's standing in society. To marry such a one was considered a disgrace in England, especially when the family of the young man was of the highest blood. Notwithstanding all this, the young man cast aside all family ties, and married the poor girl of his affection, who was only a servant in his father's house. The result was that the boy was driven from the paternal roof, and took up a humble abode with his wife. They lived together in peace and happiness a long while. A son was born out of this wedlock. Finally, the husband of the girl was taken sick with that terrible disease, consumption, and died, leaving the girl a widow with her child. During the illness of her husband, the latter received kind considerations at the hands of his parents, although they never, in person, visited his bedside. Soon after the death of her husband, the widow and her child came to this country with her father and mother. They settled in this city. The father and mother took up a home for themselves, while the widow went out to service in a well-known family living on Washington avenue. She has been there for a long time, and was honored and respected by her employers. Last week she received a letter announcing the fact that the whole of the estate of her husband's father, amounting to $500,000, had been bequeathed to her son. Arrangements were at once perfected, and on Wednesday last the servant girl, accompanied by her father, sailed from New York for Liverpool, to look after the fortune coming to them. What a windfall! Such is life on this great American continent.—Albany Knickerbocker.

WANTS TO SEE THEM.—Stebbins, of the Cuba (N. Y.) True Patriot, is after the fair sex, we should judge, by the following:
"Girls, come—come one and all! From 'sweet sixteen' to twenty-five. Bring your crochets, tatting, or any other small work you may have handy, and spend an afternoon with us. We love you all, and love to have you call for an afternoon visit. We are still susceptible, and we'll let our irrepresible 'devil' entertain you."

Prof. C. D. Cleveland, son of Father Cleveland, of Boston, and during Mr. Lincoln's administration Consul at Cardiff, died at Philadelphia on Wednesday. He was known in literature as the editor of several classical text books.

Another Atlantic cable, to unite the United States with Prussia, is projected. The terms of concession from the Prussian government are published. It is to be begun by September, and must be finished within two years.

Fifty cases Cluquot Mumm Holsack, and other brands, genuine wines, just received at aug 25-1w GAFFNEY'S.

Miss Anthony said in an explanatory speech after the adjournment of the Philadelphia Labor Convention, from which she was excluded as a delegate, that her mission was "to help women out of the kitchen and sewing room." If she will help to make them skillful and efficient in both those places she will do a vast deal more good.

Ten years ago George W. Viles committed forgeries in Maine to the amount of $15,000 and then absconded, leaving behind him a wife and five children. A few weeks since he was traced to Mount Pleasant, Michigan, where he had married again, and had two children. Attempt was made to arrest him in his bed, but he proved too slippery, and escaped.
