WANTED.—A girl to do general house work. Apply at this office.

Egbert Farm hens are using the school house for a hen roost. The back of the desks make nice perches.

Bishop Stevens, of Pennsylvania, has married Miss Anna Conyngham.

John Morrissey is said to have cleared $200,000 during the gold panic last week.

In Philadelphia, recently, a man over one hundred years old was married to a woman aged sixty-eight.

CLAM CHOWDER.—Neise serves up Clam Chowder every night at 41 Washington street, opposite American House.

THE MATCH GAME OF BASE BALL.—The return game of base ball between the Seneca's of Oil City, and the Shamburg Club, is now in progress upon the Boyd Farm ball grounds. A large amount of money is being bet, and the excitement is intense.

SOCIAL PARTY TO-NIGHT.—There is to be a social hop at Sobel's Opera House this evening. The committee having the matter in charge have put forth every effort to make this one of the most interesting parties of the season, and a grand good time is expected. Don't fail to attend. Tickets for sale at the door.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON HESS FARM.—A serious if not fatal accident occurred on the Hess Farm this morning. The unfortunate man's name is James Brawley, brother of Clinton Brawley, who is connected with Joseph Overy in some wells on the above named farm. By some means he was caught by the fly-wheel of an engine, and his whole body drawn through a space of a very few inches. The extent of his injuries are not yet known, but, judging from the character of the accident, it is feared they may prove fatal.

BONNER ON THE PROPOSED TROT.—Mr. Bonner has sent to the editor of the New York Tribune the following: The statement published that I have consented to let Dexter trot in a race, is wholly erroneous. I have never let any one of my horses trot in a race, and have never thought of letting one of them trot a race under any circumstances. Fortunately, I am not obliged to resort to this means, even for the purpose of contributing what I think proper to a deserving benevolent object. While I will not trot Dexter against any horse, even for the most worthy purpose, I will pay $100,000 in cash, for another horse—from any part of the world, if the world can produce one—that will trot, as he trotted last week, a mile in 2:21 1/4 to a road wagon—and carrying the same weight which he carried.

Attempted Suicide at Tidoute.

Sensations are now all the rage, and Tidoute, not to be behind, has just had a real lively one. The particulars as far as we have been able to learn are as follows: A man from that place visited the Warren County Fair at Youngsville, accompanied by his wife, who appeared to be a "gay and festive" lady. Arriving at the Fair Grounds they made their way to the building where the youthful portion of those present were passing away their pleasant hours in the harmless pastime of dancing. The lady looked on, till she could no longer restrain herself, and on being asked by a gay Lothario to "dance the next set" with him, she at once consented. They took their places on the floor, the music struck up, and away they went, "threading the mazes of the giddy dance" trim full of joy and merriment. The indignant husband stood agast with horror, biting his lips with vexation; the "green-eyed monster" having taken a firm grip on his soul. He could stand it no longer, and doubtless thinking that "Fidelity thy name is woman," he left the house and grounds, made for the station as fast as possible, where he took the train for Tidoute. He could find no peace there, however, and consequently left, taking a trip down the river. He returned on Tuesday, fully determined to "shuffle off this mortal coil." He accordingly repaired to a drug store and purchased a vial of laudanum, and started for home, preferring to die under the gaze of his wife than elsewhere. He rushed into the room, and in the presence of her whom he supposed had destroyed his "domestic happiness" swallowed the fatal draught. She ran down stairs, frantically screaming for help, and alarmed several of the neighbors, to whom she made known the cause of her lamentations. A physician was at once sent for, who came and administered an emetic to the would be suicide, thereby saving his precious life. After recovering from the effects of the poisonous drug, he resolved to do so no more, and at last accounts the "old sore" was healed, and the parties were once more living in peace and harmony.

A GIRL BURNED TO DEATH.—Mr. A. W. Merroch, postmaster at Shamburg, sends us the particulars of a sad accident which occurred at the house of Mr. F. S. Andrews, of that place, at half past eight o'clock on Monday evening, and resulted in the death of Miss Bridget Markham. Rising from her workstand, she accidentally upset the lamp, which was broken and set the carpet on fire. In attempting to pick up the lamp, the flames communicated to her clothing. Mr. O'Dell, the brother of Mrs. Andrews, cautioned the unfortunate girl to remain in the room, while he ran up stairs for a bed quilt to smother the flames. But in his absence, she rushed out of doors, and around the house, screaming for help, and before Mr. O'Dell could come to her relief and envelop her with blankets, her garments were almost burned off her body. The flames were speedily extinguished in the houses by the assembled neighbors, and every medical aid was tendered by Dr. Johnson and others to the sufferer, but her injuries, internal and external, were so severe as to preclude her recovery. She lingered in great distress through the night, and died at eight o'clock Tuesday morning. Her remains will be taken to Buffalo for interment. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were not at home at the time of the accident.—Herald.

Anna Bishop, who is now rusticated up the Hudson, declares that she will sing no more in public. In her professional capacity she has traveled quite around the globe, and at one time, after a shipwreck in the Indian Ocean, journeyed fourteen hundred miles in an open boat.

Quite a number of small lawyers in New York having advertised that they can procure divorces without publicity, for a small sum of money, one of the firms has been summoned before the Supreme Court to show cause why they should not be compelled to refund money thus obtained.

The Trustees of the Avondale Relief Fund, met yesterday, at Plymouth, Pa. and adopted a plan for the distribution of the funds that reach them. The plan of distribution for the first year is as follows: Each widow will be paid the sum of $200 in equal monthly payments; each male orphan child under fourteen years and each female orphan child under sixteen years shall be paid for the same period $100 in the same manner. Children over the ages mentioned will be paid in full a sum not exceeding $300. Five thousand dollars was voted to meet special cases not embraced in the foregoing. These provisions are made for relief till the first day of October, 1870, and will absorb all but $40,000. The remainder of the fund is to be carefully invested in good securities, that can be converted into cash when required, and to constitute a permanent fund divisible upon the following basis: One third to constitute a widows' fund, and the remaining two thirds an orphan's fund. From these funds the widows and orphans are to receive quarterly payments until the whole is exhausted.

Salt Lake, says a gentleman speaking from observation, is dead, so far as the Gentiles are concerned. The "co-operative" establishments do all the business, to the exclusion of everything else. There are numbers of Gentiles there with $50,000 worth of goods each, who do not sell seventy-five dollars' worth a day. The co-operative system is a complete success, and Mormonism is a complete rider in Salt Lake. It is Brigham's determination that none but Mormons shall prosper in his dominions. In a sermon delivered only a day or so before our informant left, he advised his people not to sell a pound of grain or any other produce to Gentiles, but keep it to themselves. Excursionists visiting Salt Lake look more like mourners attending a funeral than parties in search of pleasure. They arrive in the city at night and leave disgusted in the morning.

Lammers & Alden are selling off present stock at cost.

A man on the day he became one hundred years old, went to have a pair of shoes made, remarking that he wanted them built substantial, with plenty of hobnails. The shoemaker suggested that he might not live to wear such a pair of shoes out, when the old gentleman retorted that he commenced this one hundred years a good deal stronger than he had the last one. It is a comfort to find some wit in one of these pestiferous old prodigies who have broken out like a rash all over the whole country lately.

A RARE CHANCE.—Mr. Barker, having engaged the services of Mr. E. Howard, whose reputation as a colorist ranks with the first artists of the country, is prepared to furnish photographs beautifully colored or finished in India ink. Those desiring such work, either from life or copied from small pictures, should embrace the opportunity at once, and call at Barker's photographic gallery, on Washington street, Petroleum Centre. aug25-1m

Two persons of the female persuasion, who yearned for an enlargement of woman's sphere, and who did not propose to be dependent on the tyrant man for what they wanted, indulged in a neat little prize fight in Storrs township, near Cincinnati, on Wednesday. They fought five rounds in rather irregular style. At the end of that time, finding that there was no more capillary or cuticle to be destroyed, they quit.
