ALWAYS THE ROSE.

BY PROF. J. K. STAYMAN.

Now I am young, and spring is my song -
Spring with its warmth and the bud of the rose;
When I grow older, when I grow colder,
Then I may sing of the frosts and the snows.

Now, it is May-day, life's in its hey-day,
Everything buds and blossoms and glows;
When 'tis December, shall I remember
To tell in my songs how the wintery wind blows.

Nay, nay, even then, the songlet again
Shall sing in old age, amidst the winter's repose,
Of the seed and the blossom held close in his bosom.
Awaiting the spring - 'twill be still of the roses.

Washington must be very dull. One of the correspondents is giving personal recollections of Thomas Jefferson; whilst several others confine their attention entirely to whisky.

That all who see this notice may send their address, and test the business we make this unparalleled offer: To such as are not well satisfied, we will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing. Full particulars, a valuable sample which will do to commence work on, and a copy of the People's Literary Companion - one of the largest and best family magazines published - all sent free of cost.
