A Dog Sacrificed Himself to Save his Drunken Master.

From the Milwaukee Wisconsin.

A gentleman living in Wauwatosa relates to us to day the following incident, for the truth of which he vouches: One day last week a man went to a saloon, as was his daily custom, to drink, and meet boon companions, remained with them till late at night, when he started to go home. Overcome by the liquor he had drunk, the man laid down on the railroad track and went to sleep. A faithful dog, who had followed the man, stood and watched over him, until the whistle of a locomotive in the distance showed that a freight train was approaching. The dog, fully aware of the danger imminent to his master, tried to arouse the drunken man, and tore his clothes badly in the attempt. Unable to awake the sleeper, the dog took the man by the shoulder and fairly dragged him from the track just as the train came on. The man was saved, but the poor dog who had so faithfully protected the master he loved, was struck by the cow-catcher and smashed to pieces. When the man recovered senses it was found that his flesh was bitten in several places by the dog, in the strong efforts made by the animal to save his life. The man the next day gathered up the pieces of the faithful animal and buried them. He was so fully impressed by the remarkably narrow escape from death that he has resolved not to get drunk again.

STEAM FERRY AT PARKER'S LANDING.

There is some trouble about a bill now pending in the Senate granting a charter for a steam ferry at Parker's Landing, at the same place where there is now a chartered ferry. The Clarion Democrat says the present company claim that having at great expense, made roads, bought boats, put up wires, &c., they should not be interfered with. They also claim to have authority to run a steam ferry, and propose doing so. On the other hand, it is asserted that the present ferry company has forfeited its charter, by charging higher rates than authorized by law, and that they cannot, or do not accommodate the public. Many letters have been received on both sides of the question. It is to be hoped that the agitation of the subject will enable the public to be accommodated in the best manner possible. A charter for a bridge, at the same point, is asked by a company, and it will no doubt be granted.

"G. W. B.," the Youngville correspondent of the Erie Dispatch, in his last letter to that paper says:

The "Centre" is a gay place. At a ball lately given at the Exchange Hotel a premium was offered to the gentleman who would bring the greatest number of ladies. One fellow brought 32, another 34 and another 34. I would advise the last mentioned to take the first train for Salt Lake. The above will be news to Mr. Reynolds, proprietor of the Oil Exchange Hotel, as nothing of the kind occurred at the last dance, or at any previous one.

There are now five new wells in various stages of completion on the Brown farm, Cherrytree Run. On the Lake farm, same run, three new wells are going down. On the Metropolitan tract, two or three new wells are to be put down at once.

One of the most lively of our exchanges is the Jamestown Daily Journal, published at Jamestown, N. Y. It is neatly and handsomely printed, and the columns are replete with good things. Long life to the Journal.

A new well was struck at Allemaogetum City, last week. It is known as the "Posy" well, and is doing about six barrels per day. Allemaogetum is looking up.

We would call attention to the fact that Mr. C. H. Williams, coal dealer, at the end of Boyd Farm bridge, is selling all kinds of coal, either for the stove, furnace or forge, at an exceedingly low rate for cash. Mr. W. is the oldest coal dealer in town, and will not be undersold. Give him a call and examine his prices.
