This is a beautiful day. The coal trade is lively.

There is to be a grand celebration of St. Patrick's Day, at Franklin.

All kinds of job printing executed with neatness and dispatch at this office.

To-morrow we shall present a report of the production of the several farms in this vicinity.

The Rev. Dr. Eaton, of Franklin, will preach in the Presbyterian Church, this evening. The public are cordially invited.

We return thanks to Messrs. Wellington & Bronner and their excellent brass band, for a complimentary rounds, this afternoon.

The following toast was given at the late Typographical Union Banquet, at Harrisburg:

Woman.—A volume so full of beauties that she must be a cool corrector who can detect her errors. She is beautiful in all binding, but not the less esteemed in sheets.

The Court House at Franklin, is finished and will probably be dedicated in April next.

This evening Wellington & Bronner's celebrated Minstrel Troupe and Brass Band are to appear at Sobel's Hall. Connected with this troupe are several old favorites, besides a number of new performers. The programme which they will present consists of new songs, dances, jokes, negro eccentricities, &c. Those who enjoy fun with-out vulgarity will be sure to attend. To-morrow evening they appear at Roseville.

Fisher, Norris & Co.'s Machine Shop.—Among the many institutions deserving of special mention, which Petroleum Centre boasts of, in the line of machine shops, that of Fisher, Norris & Co. takes the lead. Their large and extensive machine shop, located on Main street, is kept running to its fullest capacity. They have seven lathes in the machine shop besides other necessary machinery. In connection with the machine shop is a blacksmith and general repair shop, in which five fire irons kept in full blast. The solid cast steel lathes manufactured by this firm are known throughout the entire oil region as being the most durable in use. They also make a specialty of Drilling Tools, Fishing Tools, Reamers, &c. The gentlemen composing the firm, Messrs. J. H. Norris, J. F. Fisher and J. C. Snay, are well known as being men of sterling integrity and rare business qualifications. We take pleasure in recommending the oil well tools manufactured by them for strength and durability we have never seen them excelled. Oil operators and others will consult their own interests by purchasing of this firm. That good fellow and first-class machinist, Ed. Spencer, is foreman of the machine shop.

Travel to the oil region is on the increase

The Killing of "Buffalo Bill" by the "Flying Dutchman."

Levi Maize, alias Buffalo Bill, was shot and instantly killed, at Eureka, on Thursday evening, by a teamster known as the "Flying Dutchman." The story goes that while Bill was operating on the Gibson road, last summer, he became the owner of an old wagon. He left the road in debt to Gibson and left the wagon to liquidate. Dutch John, as he was sometimes known, was working for Gibson at the time and thereby came in possession of the wagon which he recently took to Eureka. Recognizing its Bill claimed the wagon, but John refused to surrender it. Bill sued. The trial came off on Tuesday morning and the teamster was allowed to retain possession. In the afternoon John was driving by a saloon when Bill came out and claimed one of the mules in his team, and insisted on taking the mule out of the harness, to which the driver objected. A man named Fox was tending by. Bill started for the mule, when John started for the back end of his wagon where he had a six-shooter hanging. At that Bill said "Shoot, you son of a b—!" and a shot was instantly fired. Fox being unable to tell which of the men fired it. At that a crowd rushed from the saloon and caught Joan, who said: "Turn me loose, he has shot me through the arm!" The man released him and fell back a step or two, the wounded man instantly raised his pistol and fired, when Bill leaped into the air, clasped one hand on his side and fell heavily to the ground—a corpse. Deceased has a brother, Bartholomew Maize, in the Idaho Penitentiary, and was himself a notorious scoundrel. Ned Bantline can now write the sequel to his last sensational story, "Buffalo Bill, the King of the Border Men."—White Pine (Nev.) News Feb. 17

Fight between Edwards and Collyer.

Mystic, Conn., March 2. The fight between Billy Edwards and Sam Collyer for the light weight championship of America and $1,000 a side came off this morning on Mystic Island, about seven miles from New London, and resulted in a victory for Edwards after 41 rounds, the combat lasting 47 minutes. Edwards gave Collyer the first blow, which sounded over the ring and drew forth loud cheers. In the second round Edwards struck Collyer a terrific blow on the forehead, drawing first blood and knocking Collyer off his feet. Edwards had the best of the fight from the beginning, punishing Collyer and frequently knocking him down. In the forty first round Collyer came up looking distressed, but fought gamely. Edwards, however, struck him three times in succession, every blow sounding over the ring, and the third knocking him down as if dead, when his seconds threw up the sponge. Edwards was loudly cheered. Collyer was carried to a hotel where he vomited and remained insensible a considerable time. Both going to, during and returning from the fight, the fight, the crowd, comprising adherents of both sides in nearly equal numbers, behaved in an irreproachable manner.

The Schoeppe case was again before the Supreme Court, in Philadelphia, on Saturday. His counsel, Mr. Northrop, asked the court if they would pass upon a motion to bring back the case of Dr. Paul Schoeppe to be reviewed upon the law and evidence as provided by the recent statute enacted with special reference to this case. Justice Reed, presiding, said that since the writ of error had been heard and passed, and the record had been remitted to the court below before the application had been made, he did not see how the case could again be brought into this court unless by a new writ. Mr. Northrop said he was not aware of the condition in which the record stood, but would see if steps could not be taken in accordance with the suggestion of the court.

Speak Kindly to Him.

A farmer once saved a very poor boy from drowning. After his restoration he said to him: "What can I do for you, my boy?" "Speak a kind word to me sometimes," replied the boy, as the tears gushed from his eyes. "I ain't got a mother like some of them." A kind word? Think of it. That farmer had it in his power to give that boy money, clothes, playthings, but the poor fellow craved nothing so much as a kind word now and then. If the farmer had ever so little heart for he must certainly have had the wish gratified. A kind word? You have many of them spoken to you daily, and you don't think much of their value; but that poor boy in your village, at whom everybody laughs, would think that he had found a treasure if some one would speak a kind word to him. Suppose you speak it the next time you meet him. Instead of laughing at him, then watch him and see how he looks. See if his eyes do not brighten and his lips smile. Kind words! They are the best things.—Speak them every day. Scatter them like sunbeams everywhere. They please others, and then return to bless your own heart. Kind words forever.

The coal covers an area of nearly 2.0 square miles, already explored, and has thirty feet above the water. The mining will, therefore, be cheap, and no expense will be needed for pumping. Arrangements have already been made for sending 220 tons daily to Cairo, and they will improve until the supply is 500 tons per day.
