Fire at Oil City.

A fire occurred at Oil City in Munhall's yard, at 11 o'clock to-day, which destroyed six cars partially loaded with oil, the receiving tank and platform. The cars were being unloaded at the receiving tank 100 barrels of oil was burned. A large tank containing several thousand barrels of oil was not burned although in great danger for a time. The loss falls on Mr. J. Munhall.

Our old friend, Pete Conner, editor of the Forest Press, celebrated his fiftieth anniversary on Saturday last. He says: About one-third of our natural life, we suppose, has been passed, and we have had a right good time of it on an average, with a fair prospect of still brighter days to come. We hope he may realize many happy days, and the Press live to a green old age. How is your chance for the presidency now, Pete?

The pleasant weather to-day has a tendency to give people the "spring fever."

The opening of Spring will witness renewed activity in developing the oil territory in this vicinity. We hear of many new wells going down.

The social dance held at the Danforth House, Pitohole, last evening, was a grand success. 104 tickets were sold. This does not look as if Pitohole was playing out.

Quite a number of parties are talking of taking up leases on the Wm. McCray farm, and putting down wells.

The friends of the Rev. Mr. Stocker, pastor of the M. E. Church at Rousseville, presented him with a purse containing $550.

It is estimated that there are at present 1,000,000,000 dogs running loose in the streets of Petroleum Centre. A rare chance is offered to "sassage" makers.

To-night the celebrated Bohemian Glass Blowers appear at Sobel's Opera House.—A sight of the glass steam engine is alone worth the price of admission.

A daring robbery occurred at Birmingham, opposite Pittsburg, yesterday afternoon. Three men in a buggy drove up to the Farmers and Mechanics Bank; two of the men entered the bank, one of whom knocked down the cashier, and the other went behind the counter and seized all the money on the desk, amounting to $20,000. Two of the men were arrested and the money recovered.

The Wallace Sisters are performing to crowded houses at Rousseville.

The colored people are to celebrate the passage of the 15th amendment, at Corry.

The song of that beautiful bird, the crow, can be heard every morning about daylight.

Teaching and irresistible was that invitation of the rustic maiden to her swain: "Come over and see me, we have a new lamp at our house, that we can turn down, down, down, until there isn't scarcely a bit of light in the room."

An act has passed the Pennsylvania Legislature exempting sewing machines in use in families from levy and sale for debt.

In the three days that Jefferson Davis was at Huntsville, Ala., he took over five hundred life insurance policies.

THE ONEIDA DISASTER.

The Tribune publishes Yokohama correspondence on the Oneida disaster. The writer says the whistle of the Oneida was blown and three guns fired still, the captain of the Bombay says he neither saw nor heard a signal, yet the steward of the Bombay on arrival at Yokohama asserted the Oneida had been run into and to the water's edge. But the worst of the story is the evidence of the British Lieutenant, that Capt. Eyre told him he had cut the whole quarter off a damned Yankee frigate, and served her bloody well right. Capt. Eyre's own evidence is to the effect that the collision was too slight to be much regarded, and his pilot told him a spit of land was near and there was no danger, and that he was a good fifteen minutes looking after the fated ship. The statements of the captain's clerk, Crownsfield, and Master Yates, agree that the Oneida's whistle was blown fiercely, and that if the Bombay had stopped or sent boats, nearly every man would have been saved. Yates says as the ship was fast sinking, Capt. Williams, who was on the bridge, was asked to get on board but he refused, saying: "No, I shall stay in my ship if she goes down." Lieut. Commander Maidour walked up and said: "Sir, the ship is going down." "I know it," said the Captain, but what can I do? I have repeatedly asked for boats, but could not get them." At this moment the ship settled, the smoke stack came over and forced the cutter from the ships side, and she went down stern first. I hauled the captain's clerk, Wm. F. Crownsfield, on board, and made great efforts to save Lieut. Commander Stewart, but he sunk just before I reached him, saying as he went down: "For God's sake save me!" He was quite ill at the time.

Reynolds, the New York murderer, under sentence of death, who boasted that "hanging was played out," at last realizes his condition, and about his first sane statement is that liquor was the cause of his crime. His real name is Breen, and a brother who had heard of his situation only a few days ago, visited him on Friday. He is sentenced to be hung on the eight of April.

The Scientific Bohemian Troupe of Fancy Glass Blowers will give one entertainment, at Sobel's Opera House, on Friday afternoon and evening, March 11th. The celebrated Glass Steam Engine Monitor, made of 5,000 pieces of glass, will be on exhibition. Don't fail to attend.

John La Mountain, the famous aeronaut died at South Bend, Indiana, on the 14th of February. La Mountain's life was full of daring adventures and of incidents, which were frequently more interesting than agreeable. He was among the most fearless aeronauts in this or any country, and pursued his chosen profession with a higher object than to merely make money by exhibiting himself.

The Meadville Republican begins its "City and neighborhood" column with an item concerning the number of colored children in the South Carolina schools, and locates the succeeding paragraph at Denver. We don't wonder that Titusville wants to move over into Venango when Meadville claims two-thirds of the United States as its suburbs.

Salt Lake, in Utah, is seven feet higher than it was ten years ago, and is constantly rising. It had been urged by those who have paid attention to the subject that the rise of water there would produce a solution of the Mormon question before Congress would act upon it.

Daniel McFarland's case was before the New York courts on Monday, when Mr. Graham, one of his counsel, complained of the delays occasioned by the dilatory action of the District Attorney, and gave notice that if the trial was not immediately fixed, he would apply to have his client released on bail. The prisoner's health is suffering, said he, and as it cannot be that his trial will result in anything but his triumphal acquittal, why should he lie in a prison?

A Rochester typist, J. C. Coon, sat 18,000 ems in eight hours, Saturday. His ninth in thousand he set 45 minutes, and his 15th, in 52 minutes. These two show the shortest and longest time made.

Some people are great, while others have greatness thrust upon them. Of the latter class N. B. Greeley, who has achieved newspaper notoriety by cutting saw legs this winter out in Wayne township, Erie county. Now, if N. B. hadn't been a brother of Horace he might have cut saw legs in that "neck of the woods" from new till doomsday and the newspapers would never have found it out.

A wretch named Wood of Madison, Indiana, was on Monday sentenced to one year in the work-house at Louisville, for having placed his wife in a house of prostitution.—She was but sixteen years of age, and they had been married but four weeks.

A Flash in the Pan.

The Lima (Ohio) Gazette relates this story: A young gentleman well known in polite circles has long entertained a feeling of fierce jealousy, which culminated a night or two since in a determination to enact a bloody and fearful tragedy—i. e., he would shoot the object of his heart's adoration and then try the experiment on himself. Armed with this grim resolution and a revolver in his pocket, he started for the residence of his intended victim. He rang the bell and was ushered with a smiling welcome into the drawing room. Advancing sternly to the center of the apartment, he assumed an unmistakable tragic attitude, and in sepulchral tones began to tell of his purpose. The lady listened, first amused, then perplexed, and finally thoroughly alarmed, supposing her lover to have gone mad. The latter closed with an invocation of mercy upon both of their souls, and frantically plunged his hand into his pocket for his pistol. It was not there! He had lost it on the way thither, and realizing what a display of asinine qualities he had made, bolted from the house and has not been near there since.

Latest Story from Paris.

M. Blanc, a millionaire, was returning from Burgundy by a night train. A lady, young and pretty, occupied the same compartment. Now M. Blanc, who, in spite of his naturally small feet, tries to make them naturally smaller still, was suffering terribly from tight boots. All at once he noticed that the lady was asleep and he could just as well take off his boots, which he did. Suddenly the station lights began to appear in sight. One boot is quickly put on, but the other, alas! does not go on so easily.—He pulls and pushes, finally the foot goes in, but is terribly pinched. Once at the station, M. Blanc hides himself in a cab and thinks his troubles at an end. When he reaches the house, imagine his surprise at finding his right foot in a lady's boot.—Madame Blanc refuses to believe a word of his story; she cries, goes into hysterics, and finally returns to her father, refusing to hold any communications with her unfortunate husband.

A Female Justice of the Peace

J. W. Anthony writes from Atlantic City, Wyoming Territory, of date February 14th, as follows: I had the honor to preside at a meeting of the County Commissioners of Hotwater county, to-day, when a petition for application were presented by Esther Morris, wife of John Morris, for the office of Justice of the Peace for said county. There being a vacancy, and after filing the proper bonds, and our Democratic Legislature giving equal rights to women as to the franchise and holding office with men, the question was proper. One of the Board, David, voted for it; John Swigie voted against it, and it was left to me, as chairman, to decide it put me to my trumps. The law is every way qualified, and considering everything, I voted for it, and ordered her to file her bonds and be sworn into office, and the clerk to telegraph to the world that Wyoming, the youngest and one of the richest Territories in the United States, gave equal rights to women in action as well as words. The consequence we do not know, but hope and trust for the best. You can make this public or not, as you feel inclined. I don't think it will hurt us if the world knows it.
