Who are you?

Inquired the magistrate in a New Orleans court of a wild-looking fellow brought before him. "Your father, sir." "What?" exclaimed the astonished judge. "I said your father." "Why, I've not none." "Are you sure?" "Quite certain." "Then I reckon I'm mistaken; but your ears deceive me." "My ears! Why, how could that be?" "All my ears are very long ears, sir; very long ears; there are but three classes of this species, sir; my children, the rabbits and the donkeys. You are not a rabbit." The outraged judge could endure no more, but shouted at the top of his voice to the officers to take him down. "Oh, sir, I hear you say!" and the poor fellow was sent to the asylum.

A Mercer paper relates this of one of the citizens of that county: Being a gentleman of means and taste, last fall he built quite a fine barn on his farm, near his dwelling house, and finished it off with a fancy observatory. A few days since an old lady in the vicinity was passing his residence and observing the barn took it for a church. After viewing it with much satisfaction she lit up her countenance and she exclaimed: "What a fine religious young man this Squire Hydrick is. Faith and he's builded an elegant main house; and just as near his residence too. A cupula on it, all just ready for the bell, and the whole elegantly plated up. May the good Lord reward him."

A voyage round the globe has recently been made by the American clipper ship Swallow, in the unprecedented short time of ten months and seven days. The Swallow sailed from New York, round Cape Horn, to San Francisco; thence round the Cape of Good Hope to Liverpool, and hence to New York. The time required for discharging and taking in cargo at San Francisco and Liverpool is included in the ten months and seven days.
