Arrested—S. Levi, a peddler, was arrested this morning and lodged in the lock-up, on a warrant issued by the U. S. District Court at Pittsburg, for passing counterfeit money. The arrest was made by Deputy U. S. Marshal J. C. Bump.

New Well—A new well was struck on the Central Petroleum Co.'s farm, last evening. It started up at the rate of ten barrels per day, and is now yielding a good fifteen barrels, which will undoubtedly be the daily production. Mr. Henry Derousse is the fortunate owner.

A dispatch from Shamburg, dated April 7th, says: About eight o'clock this evening a fire originated from igniting of gas from a lantern at tanks of No. 3 well, on the Boyer lease, Walter Scott tract, owned by Messrs. Hatten, Cole & Co., consuming about three hundred and fifty barrels of oil; also engine house and derrick. The well at the time was producing about fifty barrels per day. Two men who were about to measure the oil to run off by Allegheny Transportation Co., made a very narrow escape. Loss quite heavy for Messrs. Hatten, Cole & Co.

The new Court House will be dedicated on Monday April 25th. Col. Jas. S. Myers, Hon. R. S. McCormick and R. L. Cochran, Esq., of Franklin, were appointed a Committee to report a programme and make other necessary arrangements for the dedication.—Franklin Citizen.

New Well—A new well was struck on Calabasoo Run, last evening. It is owned by Wm. G. Fox, of Shamburg, and is yielding twenty barrels per day. The striking of this well will cause renewed interest to be manifested in the oil territory on that Run.

The Cleveland Leader calls attention to resolution of Congress approved July 28th, 1866, exempting from the income tax all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served during the late war. These veterans have already paid their tax in victories that were worth more than money. Not many of them have incomes of taxable size, for the days of rapid money making were passed while they were marching and fighting for thirteen dollars a month. Here and there, however, is one who earns a few hundred dollars above the exemptive limit.

If there is any law since 1865 which neutralizes the one to which we refer, will some one who knows point it out and quote its provisions? Meanwhile, let every soldier and sailor honorably discharged from the army or navy, ask his assessor to explain this point before paying his income tax. If the resolution has not been repealed, the veterans should have the benefit of it. If it has, it will be easy for our assessors to point out the exact state of the case.—Herald.

This department is under the charge of Mrs. S. Auerhain, who is well known to the ladies of Petroleum Centre. Those of our lady friends who desire to purchase the latest spring fashions in that line will do well to call at the store of S. The Accident to the Tow Boat Oil Valley.

The accident to this boat was caused by her stern striking the timbers of the Emlenton bridge, whereby she careened, and dropped her boilers overboard. The boat righted again. When the boat careened Henry Gibson took hold of his son, and in his fight threw him overboard and then jumped in after him. The father never rose above the surface, but the boy floated some distance. Capt. Wm. Jackson jumped into the water to rescue him, but was unsuccessful and narrowly escaped himself. The boat floated down to Stump Creek Island, six miles below Emlenton, where she now lies.—The steamer Larimer took hold of the barge of the Oil Valley and towed them up the river. Henry Gibson leaves a wife and three children, residing in this city. It is thought that the boat can be saved, with the loss of her boilers.—Pittsburg Commercial.

A boy in Wapuan, Wisconsin, recently entered a saloon, drank a glass of beer wiped his mouth, and deliberately walked off without offering to pay for what he drank. The saloon keeper rushed to the door and called him back, and demanded his pay. The boy informed the beer-seller that if he made him pay he would complain on him for selling liquor to a minor.
