NEW WELL.—A new well was struck on Callaboose Run, on lands owned by Messrs. Evans and Gardner, on Saturday last. The well is owned by Mr. R. W. Evans of this place, and is yielding from 8 to 10 barrels per day. Callaboose Run territory is looking up.

By reference to the advertisement it will be seen that Sherry's New York Theatre will be here on Thursday, April 14th, for three nights only. On Thursday evening will be presented the great drama by Dion Boucicault, entitled, "After Dark; or, London by Night," in which Mr. Jas. F. Sherry will appear as Old Tom, a boatman, and Mrs. Julia Blake as Eliza, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Creese make their first appearance before a Petroleum Centre audience.—They are well known artists and will be well received here. The performance will conclude with the laughable farce of "Jenny Lind," in which Mrs. Creese will appear as Jenny Leatherlungs, with songs. No doubt they will be greeted with full houses.

Herald's monthly oil report we estimate at 151 barrels per day. The production of the J. Pier has been 107 barrels. The tract or Mallory farm is estimated to produce 100 barrels. They are probably 175.

A large number of people in the streets. So many that it has become a nuisance. Means should be taken to rid the town of a portion of them. A few murders might be committed and no harm done.

A new well struck on the Brown farm, Cherrytree Run, on Friday last. It is owned by Mr. I. J. Paluter, and is yielding from 8 to 10 barrels per day. There are now several good producing wells on the Brown farm, and quite a number of new ones going down.

The Justice of the Peace, Mr. Reynolds, has got into his new office over the lock-up, and is prepared to administer justice to all requiring the commodity.

Travel over the O. C. & A. R. R. is on the increase.

By a recent decision of Internal Revenue Commissioner Dolans, it has been decided that the expense of sinking oil wells, for the production of oil for sale, is a necessary expense of conducting the business, and that deductions falling within this category are allowable. Heretofore, by the ruling of the Internal Revenue department, all deductions from annual returns of income for the amounts expended in sinking oil wells have been disallowed. A just decision.

It is rumored that the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad is to be turned over to the management of the Pennsylvania Central R. R.

Col. Alfred L. Tyler has resigned the general Superintendency of the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad. He intends to go south and take charge of a railroad in South Carolina.

Highway Robbery in Pithole.

On Saturday a farmer by the name of Cotton, who resides near Pithole, visited that place to make his usual purchases.—While so doing he formed the acquaintance of a man named Griffin, who to show his friendship for Cotton, borrowed a dollar from him, at the same time observing that Cotton had some ten dollar bills in his pocket book. Cotton, after imbibing considerable alcohol, and enjoying some of the innocent pleasures of Pithole, started for home about 9 o'clock p. m., followed by Griffin, who had no difficulty in keeping up with Cotton's team. Upon reaching within about a mile of home, Cotton was disagreeably surprised by some one jumping into the rear of his wagon and seizing him by the shoulder with one hand, while with the other he abstracted his pocket book, containing ten ten dollar greenbacks, besides some "postal" currency. Cotton immediately dropped the reins, and a basket of eggs that he was carrying, and "put" for his assailant, but on account of the brush or "benzine," his legs became "tangled" and the robber escaped for the time being. Nothing daunted by his fall, as soon as he could disentangle his legs, Cotton started to Pithole determined to have his money or "wring" Griffin's neck, who the bright moonlight had enabled Cotton to see was the man. Applying to Justice Keenan for a warrant, it was immediately issued, although late at night, and placed in the hands of Constable Austin for execution.—Passing down Hotmden street, looking for "his man," Austin met Councilman George Thompson, who, upon being informed of the business in hand, joined the officer, and assisted in the arrest of Griffin, who was found quietly enjoying his supper at a restaurant, having made somewhat better time than Cotton in returning to Pithole. After being placed in the lock up by Austin and Thompson, Griffin was perfectly willing to be searched, throwing open his pockets and declaring that all the money he had in his possession was some scrip amounting to about three dollars, but the experience of Austin and Thompson was too much for him. After closely examining his pockets, and finding nothing but scrip, Austin quietly removed Griffin's hat, and passing his fingers around under the lining, the two tens were exhumed and the robber stood revealed. The prompt and efficient action of Austin had convicted him. Had he waited till morning before acting he would have probably lost a "Hundred" for some years as the money would have been changed, and its identification rendered impossible. Justice Keenan committed Griffin to jail at Franklin.

A new well was struck on the Foster farm above Pioneer, one day last week. It is known as the McDonough well, and is yielding about 25 barrels per day. Oil matters are looking up somewhat in that vicinity.

The following lumber items we clip from the Forest Press, the raftman's friend of Forest county:

The largest Allegheny fleet that ever left the Tionata Creek, one of Tim. Jackson's Coon Creek lumber 565,000 feet, was swung out and piloted thro' the Islands by Judge Proper Thursday morning.

Our landlords and merchants are reaping a rich harvest while the lumber floats.

Mr. George Morgan, of Bear Creek, ran 110,000 shing'es to Franklin for the Stoneboro market Wednesday.

The steamer Jamestown, running on Chautauqua Lake, has been entirely refitted throughout. New upper cabins, fore and aft, have been added, and other improvements made. The steamer will be under the command of Capt. C. G. Maples the coming season. A trip on Chautauqua Lake is one of the pleasantest that can be made, and the steamer Jamestown is the boat to make the excursion on.

A man named Robert H. Burdick, committed suicide at Erie, on Sunday afternoon, by taking laudanum. Cause—disappointment in love and poverty.

The death of Bishop Kingsley of the Methodist Church, which occurred at Beyrout, Syria, a few days since, is received with universal sorrow by the church.

In the theories which have been entertained in regard to the probability or possibility of the safety of the missing steamer City of Boston, an impression seems to have prevailed that there has been an unusual absence, the present season, of danger from icebergs. We perceive, however, that an arrival at Liverpool, from Callao, reports having met with icebergs of extraordinary size. Several were seen at a time which were 400 feet high, and as many as 200 of large dimensions were seen in a single day, great numbers of which were connected with field ice, so as to form an impassable barrier of several miles in length.

Beam life, springing the weather

Petroleum Items from all Sources

A new well owned by W. H. Baldwin on the east side of the South farm is pumping 35 barrels per day, by actual measurement. The Holbrook wells on the Holbrook farm are again increasing in their yield. The well near the Humphry well, on the Dawson farm is going down in season of another sand.

The old Rock well near the Dawson farm is to be deepened. Capt. Goodrich's wells on the R. Foot farm, are doing, No. 1, 20 bbls, No. 2, 70 bbls, No. 3, rig up.

Corwin's well yielding 40 bbls. Fisher's well have a well down 700 feet. The West Liberty Oil Company wells, are doing respectively, 12 and 3 barrels.

Cole Brothers two wells are doing 24 bbls Irvington Oil Company's well is pumping 10 barrels; they have another well now going down.

The Hoffman well is yielding 6 bbls, and the Wyo Awake 8. The Armental well has increased from six to 12 bbls within a week.

The big well on the Henderson farm is yielding about 40 barrels which is obtained from a full pipe of salt water.

The Davenport has an exhibition in Denver, and let an old minor shake hands with the spirit that put its hand out of the hole in the cabinet. He snatched one of the Davenport Brothers out of the cabinet and mashed the door down, and the performance broke up in a regular row.

They appear to have had a hot time at Australia during the past winter. On the 27th of December the mercury stood at 110° in a verandah, and all outdoor life was forbidden by intense heat. There have been fearful hot winds, doing great damage in some places. In the botanic gardens they succeeded in keeping the temperature down between 80 and 90°, with much labor. A terrible hail storm occurred near the same time, in a near section.

Davy Crockett's last surviving son, Robert, lives in Hood county, Texas.

The reportorial staff of the New York Revolution are known as "Bohemian Girls."

George Francis Train has had a head dedicated to him. It is the Omaha Directory.

"Why did he marry her?" is the title of a new love story. We are pretty good on comedians, and will hazard the opinion that he was afraid if he didn't marry her she would sue him for a breach of promise.

It appears that dilettos have been at fault in dating the opening of the Anthracite coal trade in 1820. Col. Hendrick B. Wright, of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, furnishes conclusive evidence to the interesting fact that the trade is several years older, shipments having been made from Plymouth, Pennsylvania, to New York as early as the summer of 1812.

The Lake Shore Railroad for the year just closed earned over 10 per cent. net on the capital stock, after deducting working expenses and debt charges.

The Oil Exchange Hotel has changed hands. Mrs. L. Loveland is the new landlady. The house is being thoroughly renovated and will be the pleasantest hotel in town the coming season. A few more boarders can be accommodated. Good accommodations for all at reasonable rates, $12.50
