Two brothers named Burke, just over from the "old sod," after getting pretty well "benzined up," Saturday evening, undertook to run the town but instead ran in to officer McHugh, who arrested one of them and started for the lock-up.

The new well on the Omega Oil Co.'s farm, recently struck, is on the increase. Since being struck it has yielded a good 50 barrels daily, until one day last week when it suddenly increased nearly ten barrels per day.

ROBBERY.—Mr. E. T. Goodrich, one of the actors connected with France & Lanners theatre, while performing on the stage Saturday evening, had his vest in one pocket of which was a valuable gold watch, stolen.

We notice that a drain is being dug along First street, from the flats in rear of Washington street to the Creek, for the purpose of draining off the filthy water which has settled in the low marshy tract at that point.

TAKE NOTICE.

A grand assortment of fresh fruits and vegetables at A. M. Shull's Grocery and Bakery.

From the Pittsburgh Commercial's account of the recent visit of the Southern officials through this section, we copy the following which will be found of great interest:

ON THE OIL CREEK RAILROAD.

After dinner the train sped over the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railroad, the excursion party having been joined by Captain May, Traveling Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Mr. John Pitcairn, Jr., Superintendent of the railroad named; his assistant Mr. Hepburn, and Mr. Phillips, Treasurer of the road.

Mr. Phillips pointed out the various oil farms on the route between Oil City and Corry, the visitors getting a glimpse of the Tarr, Blood, Rynd, Reno and many other valuable oil tracts.

AT COLUMBIA FARM.

The train halted, and the Cornet Band of the farm met the excursionists at the depot and serenaded them. The band comprised fifteen pieces and was made up of the firemen of the place. The serenade concluded, the visitors, preceded by the band, which discoursed music meanwhile, started up the hill to witness the pumping of oil and drilling of new wells. It is what is known as the Story farm, and is operated by the Columbia Company—by the way, one of the most prosperous companies in existence.

The band played all the while the train was moving out of the town, and the excursionists gave vent to their feelings in cheers and waving of handkerchiefs. They were very much delighted with the simple contrivance for pumping oil, and also the arrangements for drilling, both of which they had the pleasure of seeing.

DALZELL FARM.

The Dalzell farm was next passed, and a large flag floating in the breeze, from a tall derrick on the hill side, pointed to the largest well in the oil region, which has been in operation about a month, and produces two hundred and seventy barrels daily. No stop was made here, however.

PETROLEUM CENTRE.

At this point the train halted, but want of time prevented the passengers from alighting, and they contented themselves with viewing the "oil" scenery, which can be had on every hand in this vicinity. Innumerable derricks spread themselves over the village, and ever and anon the rustic structures stand away above the trees on the hillside, solitary and alone, and perhaps in an other instant the eye will catch a multitude of these same unique monuments grouped remarkably close together.

MILLER FARM.

The great central loading point. By this is meant the store house of the oil produced in the Shauburg, Pleasantville and Pitohole region, each of which are of a sufficient elevation to throw the oil, which passes through iron pipes, into large tanks on the Miller farm, from whence subsequently it is barreled and shipped. Some of the oil thus stored on the Miller farm is carried a distance of two miles. The total amount of pipe laid is sixty-four miles, and the storage capacity of the tank already mentioned is 300,000 barrels. About 100,000 barrels are handled every month. Mr. Warmoastle, Superintendent of the farm, conducted the visitors over it.

THE OILDOX WALL STREET.

The next object of interest was the "Wall street" of oildom—Titusville. Train stopped here a moment, but not long enough to permit the passengers to make a tour of the place, considerable time having been spent at the Miller farm, and which was not marked down at all on the original programme. The visitors contented themselves with the explanations of Mr. Phillips, Treasurer of the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railroad, in reference to the town, its inhabitants, oil production, &c., after which the train moved off.

An explosion of gas occurred at one of the wells on the Egbert farm, about 10 o'clock Saturday night. Fortunately no damage was done, although for a time it appeared as if the engine house and derrick would be destroyed.

A Western paper implores two gentlemen to give up their projected duel, as the coroner is ill, and it would be unfeeling to impose the duty of an inquest upon him.

CRUDE AND REFINED.

What is the matter with the ministers? A Pittsburgh ex-clergyman is to be brought before the presbytery for the driving of his wife from beneath his roof by cruel treatment, and forcing her to seek the shelter of her father's house.

The latest news from Fort Garry is that Rbiel can muster three hundred fighting men, which could be swelled to three times that number, provided there would be no fighting but plenty of plunder. The prevalent opinion as to a settlement is that Rbiel will not make any determined opposition to the British and Canadian forces.

Three Chicago boys, named Frank and Charles Tuttle, and Robert Skinkle, aged from thirteen to fifteen years, started on Sunday last for Sunday school, in the Second Baptist Church, since which time they have not been heard from. The police are investigating the case.

The Dayton Journal maliciously says: "While in Sandusky, the other day, it was so very dead that a wag who belonged to the excursion attempted to get up a funeral to bury the place. If visitors would see Sandusky lively, they must go there during the fishing season."

The New Orleans Times asserts that some sad news received recently "dropped like a great stone into the well of a world's heart, and splashed the waters into its eyes."

Speaking of Weston's proposed trip to Europe, the Albany Argus maliciously remarks: "He is one of the few men in this country who ought to have started to Europe in the City of Boston."

"Root up" is now a slang way of telling one to drink a certain kind of beer, in which roots are used.

A Columbus preacher "utterly accuses" Dickens of ignoring the gospel.

A woman in New York saved up a child's nostrils because it wouldn't use a handkerchief.

A Providence undertaker has a pleasant habit of sending his card to all the sick persons he can hear of.

HE HAD A STATE-ROOM.—Some years ago, a sailor, at the close of "the season" on the lakes, found himself with a pocket full of money, the wages of his labor. His aged mother, residing in Detroit, had "experienced religion," as the Methodists say, during his absence; and on Jack's return, persuaded him to hire a pew in her favorite church. The next Sabbath she persuaded Jack to attend the service with her. As a "revival" was then in progress, after awhile the very individual of whom Jack had hired the pew, came to his seat and began to talk to him about his spiritual welfare. Presently he asked, "Are you a professing Christian?" "Wha-a-!" returned Jack, his temper rising. "Are you a professing Christian?" "Am I a Christian?" retorted the indignant sailor, in a tone loud enough to attract general attention, "why, blast your eyes! didn't I buy a state-room in this very church yesterday; and haven't I got your own receipt for it in my pocket this minute?" the incipient "muss" was explained away with some diffidence; but Jack could not be coaxed a second time to enter a building where, as he said, "the blasted lubber of a bird mate imitated him!"

From the East Bndy Independent we we copy the following oil items:

PARKER OIL FIELD.

The Chance shot while drawing rods to-day, was flowing at the rate of 40 bbls per day through the casing. There seems to be considerable mud in her which clogs up the tubing.

Manifold, owned by Brown, Jennings and Finlay will be cased and tubed to-day. It presents good indications.

The seed bag bursted in the new well on the Connelly reserve, yesterday. She was pumping between 40 and 50 barrels. There will be a new seed bag put in to-day.

The twin well, on the Robinson farm, which had gone down to 20 barrels, was torpedoed on the 4th inst., and after being tubed, pumped 240 barrels the first day and then receded to 135, at which yield it has remained ever since.

The Chance Shot well is doing 50 barrels daily.

EAST SIDE.

The Ivanhoe, on Anchors (bill) farm, owned by Churchill & Kip, struck on last Saturday, is doing 25 barrels daily.

LARGE BID FOR OIL LANDS.—At the Treasurer's sale of unseated lands for unpaid taxes in Forest County, on Tuesday last, Mr. Jo. H. Simonds of this city, bid in a tract of 411 acres for fifty five and a half million dollars, and another tract of 290 acres for fifty three and a half million dollars. The territory is in Kingsley township. The price was carried up to these enormous figures through a contest for its purchase. Quite an excitement prevailed, and the announcement that it was knocked down to Mr. Simonds was received with loud cheers. The taxes due on the land amounted to $55.—Spectator.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE TREASURER'S SALES.—The Venango county sales of seated and unseated lands, for taxes due, commenced on Monday. On Tuesday the sales were adjourned until Monday, June 27th.—The Spectator says all the unseated list found ready purchasers. On the seated list the sales were confined; to Allegheny township, a portion of which was sold.

Infringement Notice.

The subscriber has learned that a certain firm in Titusville, known as "Bryan, Dillingham & Co.," have commenced the manufacture of Sucker Rods with Socket Joints. This is a Direct Infringement on his rights, as his claim is "connecting two sections of rod by means of wedges, wedging sockets, and double coupling bolt." He does not specify any particular shaped wedge, nor of what material it shall be made. All rods made as above described outside of his manufactory, are direct infringements. This, therefore is to

CAUTION OIL OPERATORS, and all others, against buying or using any rods so made, except those of his manufacture, as by so doing they will lay themselves liable, and will be dealt with according to law.
